The Sydney Morning Herald says:—"The brilliant comedy with which the London Comedy Company initiated their most successful career in Australia, was revived at the Theatre Royal last night, and pleased a very large audience. The drama was acted as well as it was when it was originally produced here. In some of the parts there was a decided improvement."
The Daily Telegraph says:—"In writing a play the aim of which is avowedly to show the hollowness of so-called friendships, all the trenchant sarcasm and bitter cynicism has been bestowed on the subject which characterises the brilliant genius of the author. The piece is capitally mounted, and Friends, as a whole, will take a high place amongst the productions of the Royal Dramatic Company."

GAS COOKING STOVES.
RALEIGH'S "PARAGON" and "VICTORY."
The following testimonials from the highest authorities on gas cooking in the colonies should convince the Sydney public of the superiority of Raleigh's Gas Stoves over the old crude ideas of 20 years ago:—
"The Australian Gas Light Company,
"Sydney, February 17.
"Sir,—I hereby certify that I was present during the cooking test of your 'Victory' Gas Stove, and saw a joint roasting and six vessels boiling at the same time, with one burner only, the consumption of gas being 12 feet per hour at a cost of one penny.
"(Signed) G. EDWARDS, Inspector.
"To Mr. Raleigh."
"The Sydney Coffee Palace Hotel Company, Limited,
"George-street, Sydney.
"Mr. M. Raleigh.
"Sir,—Having seen and carefully examined your Gas Cooking Stove 'Paragon' while in operation, I have great pleasure in testifying to its excellent cooking powers.
"I have had a large experience in the utilisation of gas for cooking purposes, notably at the Criterion and Hanover-square Clubs, London. I am quite of opinion that for really good work and economy your stove excels anything I have yet seen.
"Yours truly,
"J. D. BAZZARD."
"To Mr. Raleigh.
"Ivy Lodge, Redfern.
"Dear Sir,—The gas stove I purchased from you has proved a great success.
"I had an English gas stove in use, which was constantly out of order, and did not cook well. I replaced it with yours, which I have now been using some time, and my cook tells me it roasts, bakes, grills, toasts, &c., to perfection, and is to my entire satisfaction.
"Yours, &c., F. LEE,
"Hudson Brothers, Redfern Works."
"To Mr. Raleigh.
"Having purchased, as you are aware, an English gas stove with tiled sides, which was strongly recommended to me, and given it a fair trial, I found it did not answer for either roasting or baking. I sent the stove to you to be altered into a Raleigh Stove, and I have now had it some months in use in my kitchen in its altered state, and I think it only fair to tell you that whilst in its original condition it was almost useless to me, it now answers admirably for all purposes—viz., roasting, baking, grilling, toasting, and boiling.
"Yours truly,
"JOHN J. WOOD."

PROSPECTUS of the CITY and COUNTY INVESTMENT, LAND, and BUILDING COMPANY, Limited.

To be Registered under the Companies Act.

CAPITAL, £100,000, in 100,000 shares of £1 each. One shilling per share on application, two shillings per share on allotment, and the balance in calls of not more than one shilling per share per month, as the directors shall think fit.

Thomas Lockwood, Esq. | Charles F. Wymer, Esq.
John C. Hamilton, Esq.

SOLICITOR: Edgar Lucas, Esq.

MANAGER, pro tem.: Mr. F. W. Middleton.

TEMPORARY OFFICES: No. 16, Royal Arcade.

The objects for which the Company is established are:—
The acquisition by purchase, lease, or otherwise of houses, lands, and property in New South Wales.
The erection of houses and buildings on any lands of the Company, the enlargement, alteration, and improvement of any building existing thereon, the converting and appropriating of any such lands into and for roads, streets, gardens, reserves, building allotments, and the general improvement of the lands of the Company.
The selling, leasing, mortgaging, or otherwise disposing of all or any part of the houses, lands, and other property of the Company.
The borrowing or raising of money by the issue of or upon bonds, debentures, bills of exchange, promissory notes, or other obligations or securities of the Company, or by mortgage or charge of all or any part of the property of the Company or of its uncalled capital, or in such other manner as the Company shall think fit.
The receiving money on loan or deposit at interest, or on such other terms as the Company may determine.
To negotiate loans of all descriptions upon any terms as to profit or remuneration, and to lend money upon any description of property, real or personal.
To buy, sell, exchange, or otherwise deal with negotiable securities, and all or any kinds of property real or personal, and to grant letters of credit on agents or connections of the Company or other persons.
To undertake as agents or trustees for a commission or any other kind of remuneration, the collection, receipt, and remittance of rents, dividends, interest, or other incomes, the investment of money, and the general or partial management of any estates or property.
To transact any other kind of banking agency or financial business of any description.
To do all or any of the abovementioned things where the same may lawfully be done respectively, and either singly or in connection with any other corporations, companies, firms, or persons.

The dividends paid by similar companies to the one now proposed have been so satisfactory, and the security so assured, that they have for years past been favourite investments with the public of the British Dominions.

Nowhere, however, have they been so successful to both shareholders and customers as in the colony of New South Wales. The fact that no shares can be obtained in any established institution of this kind in Sydney, except by the payment of a heavy premium, is alone a guarantee of the success which can be confidently expected for the present undertaking. The SHARES are fixed at £1 each, and are therefore as much within the reach of the working man as of the capitalist.

The proposed Company will LEND for BUILDING PURPOSES on far more liberal terms than Building Societies.

INTEREST will be charged only on the amounts actually advanced from the date of such advance till the date of paying off, NO PROSPECTIVE INTEREST WHATEVER BEING CHARGED.

To DEPOSITORS the highest current rate of interest will be paid.

Interest will be paid to Depositors from date of deposit to date of withdrawal, on daily balance.

Depositors will be allowed to withdraw their deposits at any time, and without notice.

By having diligent regard to the interests both of shareholders and customers, and a very economical management, it is expected that within a short time from its formation this will be the favourite Investment and Building Company of the city.

The liability of members will be limited.

A large number of shares having already been taken up, early application is necessary to

ANOTHER "RED LETTER DAY" FOR NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE OPENING OF THE LIVERPOOL TEA COMPANY.

In addressing ourselves to our friends and large consumers of Tea generally we would beg to point out the principles on which our business will be modelled and conducted. The object we have in view, and to which we will ever adhere, is to establish between ourselves and the public a confidence that will exist, not merely for a first or second purchase, but go on increasing with every succeeding transaction. It must be obvious to every reflecting person that the outcry made about LOW PRICES and CHEAP TEAS, SELLING OFF, PUBLIC AUCTION, &c., is a mere delusion, calculated not only to mislead, but deceive the unguarded. We would entirely steer clear of this system, being convinced that though for a time it might be productive of pecuniary advantage to the Dealer, yet eventually it must end in a deservedly merited distrust on the part of the public. We may from time to time consider it necessary to refer to prices, but we will never have recourse to it as a means of deception. We wish to establish a character upon a basis that will endure, and will endeavour not only to win but deserve the confidence of those who may honour us with their support, and by exercising our experience, employing our capital, together with the many unusual commercial facilities we possess, we trust that we shall be able to place before the public such Teas as will not only reflect credit upon the LIVERPOOL TEA COMPANY but ensure the most perfect and unqualified satisfaction. Implicit confidence between the buyer is probably more indispensable in the TEA TRADE than in any other branch of commerce, it being an admitted fact that comparatively few persons are judges of the article but by actual use. They are, consequently, more likely to be influenced by the recommendation of the retailer than in any other article of domestic consumption. Strict principles will therefore actuate the Company in their suggestions as to what they consider the best and cheapest qualities, their object being to base the LIVERPOOL TEA COMPANY upon a respectable, honourable, and trustworthy foundation, avoiding on the one hand those enormous profits realised by some dealers, on the other those TRASHY TEAS, which are as unprofitable and unsatisfactory to the buyer as they are discreditable to the seller. The usual merchants' price allowed to purchasers of large quantities, and orders from the country per post, accompanied by a remittance, will be promptly executed, addressed to

E. T. GILBERT, Manager, Liverpool Tea Company, 285, Pitt-street, Sydney.

FOR PRIVATE SALE (owing to the death of the late proprietor), That truly lucrative investment in busy and opulent part of the city, known as THE SYDNEY TATTERSALL'S, occupying an important corner position, at the junction of Hunter-street, Bligh-street, Castlereagh-street.
The edifice, which is of massive proportions, presents an imposing appearance, and the exterior decorating and cementing has been finished with the greatest care in every detail, ensuring a capital architectural effect.
The locality is unrivalled for respectability, while the improvements that are now following, and those in the immediate prospective, will tend to create this corner one of the most important in the metropolis.
The surveyed line of the city railway extension is close to the property.
The land upon which this noble structure is erected possesses the following frontages:—
98 feet to HUNTER-STREET
70 feet to CASTLEREAGH-STREET, with an adjoining block at the rear, say, 50 feet square.
This block of property is really divided into two buildings, viz.:—
Block 1.—That portion opening on to the corner of Hunter and Castlereagh streets, comprising a range of commercial offices and stores; and Block 2.—That approached by a broad right-of-way, flagged with blue metal, including the whole of the premises occupied and used as THE LIVERY AND BAIT STABLES, the main entrance to which is in Castlereagh-street. The accommodation is immense, both for horses and carriages, while the aggregate rentals now received from offices at present let (a few being unoccupied) represent £2500 (about) per annum. The livery business is conducted by the owner of the establishment.
An inspection alone can convey to the intending purchaser an idea of the conveniences and appliances throughout the whole premises for the comfort of the tenants of the offices and the conduct of the LIVERY and LET-OUT BUSINESS.
The whole comprises one of the best regulated concerns of the kind in Australia, if not equal to any in the world.

CABRAMATTA.
This well-known district, situate on the main line between Sydney and Melbourne, is not only adaptable for agricultural purposes, as the surroundings and prolific pastoral exuberance indicate, but is fast becoming a centre for suburban residences, fully apparent from the number of business men who now travel daily between Liverpool and Sydney, and inasmuch as the new St. Peters line (surveyed to join issue with the main Southern line, the Sydney side of Cabramatta) will reduce the running distance to about 14 miles; a fact of vast interest to those who now live in the crowded city and pay large rents for little or no accommodation. With fast trains on this main line, residents can have the advantage of COUNTRY AIR, GRAND VIEWS, and a railway service far more expeditious and comfortable than the tram or 'bus route.
Statistics show that agriculture is essentially successful in this district, the grazing and farming area being: Land in cultivation, 8960 acres; land enclosed, 79,660 acres; while live stock reaches the huge proportions of 13,542.
Immediately opposite the Cabramatta Suburban Lots is the extensive estate and residence of N. G. Bull, Esq., and beyond is presented a most picturesque view of the RACECOURSE, so that lovers of the noble sport can view the equine contests from a coign of vantage.
Various estates have been placed on the market at the price for which this is now offering, and inasmuch as all these have sold out with remarkable rapidity, notwithstanding the fact that all of them have been so far from Sydney that they have been useless to families whose business calls the breadwinners to the metropolis daily, requiring land for RESIDENCE; but here it is not only practicable to travel through daily, but the distance will be reduced nearly half in a very short time, and therefore it is only reasonable to suppose that there will be a rapid sale for the Cabramatta Suburban Lots.
Among the many important features prominently distinguishing this property, the following must not be overlooked:—
Land on a Main Line of Rail always more valuable than on a Branch.
Land on a main line junction is more valuable that either.
The Railway Transit enables business men to build and live at Cabramatta.
The proposed New Line will reduce the journey to about 25 minutes.
The land is elevated, and commands extensive views—not of wild and uncultivated bush, but prolific culture, extensive manufacturing towns, and the racecourse.
The land is situated on the main Cabramatta-road.
The soil is ripe for cultivation or building, as the surroundings indicate.
The Estate is laid out with symmetrical regularity.
The undulation is sufficient for good natural drainage.
There are no rocks or gullies.
The streets are 66 feet wide.
There is a 20-foot lane in the rear of every allotment.
St. George's-square, in the centre of the Estate, is reserved for the erection of a place of worship.
THE ALTITUDE OF THIS LAND renders it one of THE HEALTHIEST SPOTS IN THE COUNTRY.
As only a limited number of allotments will be disposed of at £5 each, early application should be made, as it is one of those exceptional opportunities enabling persons of limited means to secure
A FREEHOLD BLOCK OF LAND FOR £5.
The Auctioneers are particularly desirous that buyers should inspect this Land, and, to make this practicable, special arrangements are made
TO HAVE AN AGENT ON THE GROUND on SATURDAY NEXT.
The train leaves Redfern for Cabramatta at 9.5 a.m. and 1.55 p.m.
FURTHER PARTICULARS CAN BE OBTAINED OF THE AUCTIONEERS.
N.B.—Liberal advances made to enable purchasers to build.

Business Announcements.

NOTICE.

As I am Retiring from the HAY, GRAIN, and PRODUCE AGENCY BUSINESS for a time, I would intimate that I have transferred the same and all its future liabilities over to my long-serving and faithful employees, Messrs. JOSEPH NEVILLE and JOHN BAKER AIRD, who intend carrying it on in my name, and at the same address, entirely on their own responsibility, and for whom I would respectfully and confidently bespeak a continuance of the many favours bestowed upon me in the past.

While thanking all for all honourable and generous favours of the past 16 years, I beg to intimate that outstanding ACCOUNTS owing me, and unpaid by the 11th April ensuing, must be—however reluctantly it may be so—placed in the hands of my solicitors for immediate recovery, as I purpose leaving the colony for a time.

The CLOUGH and WARREN ORGANS did not compete at either the Sydney or Melbourne Exhibitions, consequently they did not get a prize medal. A greater piece of humbug does not exist than this exhibition medal business, because an attempt is made to mislead the public by fulsome advertising that such an organ received a prize above all others, whereas the best makers, as a rule, do not show at exhibitions.

We are content to allow the Constable John Timbs suddenly came upon the crowd, and rushing into the middle of it he seized one of the birds, and took off the steels. There was blood upon the head of the bird. The constable also got there a pair of scales and weights. The moment the constable put in an appearance the crowd of cockfighters ran away. Ah Ping, for cruelly ill-treating a horse at Homebush, on the 14th instant, was fined 7s. 6d., and 4s. 10d., or four days. George Arnold, for using indecent language at Kogarah, on 7th instant, was fined 20s., and costs 4s. 10d., or seven days. William Short, for furiously riding a horse on Cook's River-road, Tempe, on the 2nd instant, was ordered to pay 20s., and 2s. 6d. costs. Charles Williams, John Postal, and John Kelly, for playing at "pitch and-toss," in Church-street, Canterbury, on Sunday, the 15th, were each fined 30s., with 2s. 6d. costs, or 14 days' gaol. George Paternoster, for behaving in a riotous manner in Park-street, Camperdown, on the 11th, was fined 20s. and 2s. 6d. costs, or four days. Mrs. Paternoster, for a like offence, at the same time and place, was mulcted in a similar penalty. Benjamin Jarratt, for not having his name painted on his cart in accordance with the Act, had to pay 5s., and 2s. 6d. costs. Robert Jones, alias Smith, was committed for trial at ensuing Quarter Sessions, for breaking and entering the dwelling of Mary Ann Burt, widow, of May-street, St. Peters, and stealing therefrom a gold watch, a purse containing 3s., a brooch and a coat, value £17; and Francisco Valvassor, alias Spierri, alias Attera, was also committed for trial at the same sessions for stealing a watch, value £6, the property of William Rogers, of Hoppington-street, Newtown. It appeared that on the 31st of October last, Mr. Rogers missed the watch from his bedroom, and that on the same day prisoner pawned it for 30s. with Henry Benjamin, pawnbroker, of Newtown.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

On Thursday the City Coroner, Mr. H. Shiell, J.P., held an inquest at the Railway Terminus Hotel, Regent-street, on the body of Margaret Burns, aged two months, daughter of Michael and Margaret Burns, of Gold-street. The child was found dead in her bed at 7 a.m. on Wednesday. The jury, after hearing evidence, returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased was suffocated; but there was not sufficient evidence to show how it was occasioned.

Yesterday, the City Coroner, Mr. H. Shiell, J. P., held an inquest at the White Hart Hotel, George-street North, on the body of Harry Morris, a labourer, who, whilst engaged with others in discharging cargo from the steamship Ghazee, lying at the Central Wharf on Thursday, fell down the hatchway, and received injuries from which he expired. After hearing the evidence a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Also at the same time and place the Coroner held an inquest on the body of John M'Guite who was killed on Thursday night through falling from the maintopsail-yard on to the deck of the ship Ingleside, a ship lying at Cowper Wharf, Woolloomooloo Bay. Deceased was recently in the employ of Mr. Daniel White, bottle dealer, of Barnett-lane, Woolloomooloo. After hearing the testimony of several witnesses, a verdict of accidental death was recorded.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MARCH 27.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT and a jury of four.)

KELLETT V. SABER AND ANOTHER (PART HEARD).

Mr. Rogers, instructed by Mr. Proctor, for plaintiff; and Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Messrs. Shepherd and Crossman, for defendants.

In this action—which was brought by plaintiff to recover the sum of £396 16s. 1d., being balance of account for work and labour and material supplied in the erection of six houses near Waterloo—further evidence was given to-day on behalf of defendants, tending to show that plaintiff was a partner with them in the erection of the houses, and that when the Beaconsfield Estate Company was subsequently formed plaintiff received 800 shares in lieu of cash payment for his services. Plaintiff's contention, however, was that the shares in question were given to him as a reward for the trouble he had taken in obtaining a suitable site for the erection of the houses and superintending the clearing of the land for building.

After counsel had addressed the jury,

His HONOR summed up, and said that the question the jury had to determine was whether the defendants were personally liable, or whether the work was done by plaintiff for defendants as partners with himself. If the houses were built for the two defendants, and plaintiff as one of the three partners, and simply with a view of carrying out a covenant, then they ought to find for the defendants, because it was a rule of law that a man could not sue himself and partners for a breach of contract. It was an unfortunate state of the law, and it would be well if in some matters of that kind the Court had power to settle them. Undoubtedly if a partner did work for the entire partnership he could not recover, but there were cases in which a partner might do work for the other partners if it was expressly agreed that the work should be done by him; and plaintiff said that was exactly his case, but it would be for the jury to determine whether it was so or not.

The jury, after about half-an-hour's consideration, found in favour of plaintiff, damages £396 16s. 1d. as the amount due to him for the superintendence of the building of the houses for defendants.

KEAN AND ANOTHER V. CRIPPS.

Mr. Coghlan, instructed by Mr. George Rofe, appeared for the plaintiff. Defendant did not appear, but paid £35 16s. 4d., and pleaded never indebted and set-off as to the remainder. The plaintiffs, Kean and Sager, sued to recover the sum of £62 16s. 4d. for work and labour done on behalf of plaintiff, John F. Cripps, in painting and repairing the Coffee Palace of which defendant was the proprietor.

The jury returned a verdict for £27 in addition to the money paid into court.

WALKER V. BLOMFIELD.

Mr. Gordon, jun., instructed by Messrs. Dibbs and Gibson, appeared for the plaintiff, who claimed £165 6s. alleged to be due for a quantity of lime supplied to defendant. The latter did not appear, but a letter was read from his solicitor acknowledging his indebtedness to the extent of £165 6s., which plaintiff consented to accept.

The jury returned a verdict for £165 6s.

HART V. HILL.

Mr. Heydon, instructed by Messrs. Bradley and Son, for plaintiff; and Mr. Want, instructed by Messrs. Gannon and M'Laughlin, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Thomas Hart, a coachman, against Peter Hill, to recover compensation for injuries received owing to the negligence of defendant, a van-driver. According to the plaintiff's statement, it appeared that at about 5 o'clock on the evening of the 31st May last year he was standing at the corner of King and Forbes streets, near the White Horse Hotel, Newtown, waiting for a tram. When the tram came up he stepped off the kerb, and just at that moment plaintiff came up in his vehicle, on the wrong side, going at great speed, without giving any warning of his approach, and ran over plaintiff, breaking one of his legs, and inflicting other injuries. He was confined to the hospital for six months, and was permanently injured, the leg which was broken being shorter than the other.

The defendant pleaded not guilty, and stated that on the evening in question he was driving along the Newtown-road at the rate of about 3½ miles an hour, and when he came up to where the tram stopped, at the corner of King and Forbes streets, he noticed a number of people stepping off the kerb. The tram was just then approaching, and in order to avoid the people he pulled close into the kerb and called out; but plaintiff, instead of proceeding towards the tram, suddenly stepped back, tried to seize the reins of the horse, and was run over. This evidence was corroborated by a witness who was with defendant when the accident occurred, and who stated that if the plaintiff had not stepped back he would easily have cleared the vehicle.

Counsel addressed the jury, and his HONOR briefly summed up, and, after pointing out the law of the case, said that he knew nothing in law to prevent a person who was driving where a tram had stopped in the middle of the street, from going on whatever side was most convenient for him. In the present case, it would be for the jury to say whether the defendant had been negligent in his driving, or had driven carefully, with a due regard to the safety of the persons who were getting in and out of the tram. They would also have to consider whether or not plaintiff had been guilty of such contributory negligence as would disentitle him to a verdict.

The jury returned a verdict in favour of the plaintiff, with £100 damages.

STUART AND OTHERS V. WATSON AND OTHERS.

Mr. Rogers and Mr. M'Culloch, instructed by Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, junior, appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. G. B. Simpson, instructed by Mr. Sly, for the defendants. This was an action brought by Alexander Stuart, Charles Frederick Stokes, Henry E. Stokes, and William E. Wilson, trading as Towns and Company, to recover the sum of £50 from defendants, James Watson and James Ewan, trading as John Frazer and Company, for alleged short delivery of "Ribbon" slates to the extent of 6000. The case stated on behalf of the plaintiffs was to the effect that in November, 1882, a shipment of slates ex Samaria, amounting to 72,787, arrived in Sydney and were landed on the Grafton Wharf, where the stores of the defendants, who were agents of the vessel, are situated. The sizes of the slates, which were what is known as "Ribbon" slates, were 18 x 9, 20 x 10, 22 x 11, and 24 x 12. As it was the custom to allow a large percentage on slates for breakage, the quantity which the plaintiffs agreed to receive amounted to 57,763, for which entry was passed. The slates were originally consigned to a man named Waddington, and were subsequently purchased by plaintiffs, who sold them in various lots from time to time up to November, 1883, at which date 51,000 slates had been delivered, leaving a balance of 6000 unaccounted for. As there were some thousands of "Ribbon" slates on defendants' wharf, plaintiffs made application on several occasions for the balance to which they were entitled, but were informed that the whole of the slates by the Samaria had been delivered, and that the other slates on the wharf belonged to another vessel. Evidence was also given that on one occasion when a purchaser of slates from plaintiffs went to the wharf to get them, he was informed by the wharfinger that a mistake had been made, and that a quantity of "Ribbon" slates by the Samaria had been delivered to a person instead of Bangor slates.

For the defence, William Johnstone, the wharfinger for defendants, stated that at the time in question slates, ex Sams, Samaria, Millwall, and Sheenan, were landed and stored at their wharf. "Ribbon" slates came by the Samaria and Millwall, and those by the former vessel were stacked under the window of the office, while the slates ex Millwall were placed in a different position, fully 30 or 40 yards from the Samaria's slates, which were never moved until they were delivered. He also denied the statement made by a witness called by plaintiffs that "Ribbon" slates had been delivered to anybody in mistake for Bangor slates. William Fowler, wharf manager for defendants, stated that there were at present 8000 "Ribbon" slates on the wharf, but they were part of the Millwall shipment, and were held by the defendants, in order to recoup themselves for a quantity of slates wrongly delivered to Harrison Waddington, and for which they had to pay £288 to the Anglo-Australian Land and Investment Company, who held the certificate. He had not the slightest doubt that all the slates by the Samaria had been delivered to plaintiffs' order, and that orders representing the slates could be produced.

The case was not concluded when the Court rose, and the hearing will be resumed on Monday.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor the PRIMARY JUDGE.)

YULE V. CHARD.

Mr. Simpson moved for permission to invest sums of money arising out of this suit which are lying in court.

His HONOR authorised the investment of the money as fixed deposits in the name of Mr. Allen, the interest to be paid to Mr. Allen as attorney for the tenants for life.

IN RE HAMILTON HUME'S WILL.

Dr. Donovan appeared to move that one-fifth of the money in court be paid to the solicitor of the petitioner, John J. Barber.

His HONOR made the order as prayed, with liberty to the Master to sell one of the debentures to pay the cost of the application out of petitioner's share.

DEMBERKIE V. TUCKER.

On the motion of Mr. Lingen, the injunction against the defendant restraining him from dealing with a mine at Sebastopol, in which it is alleged the parties are alleged to be partners, was extended for one month. Substituted service of the claim was permitted on Mr. A. J. Brady, who, it appears, is acting as defendant's solicitor. Further permission was given to telegraph notice of the extension of the injunction to the mining registrar at Temora.

COKER V. HARDY AND OTHERS.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Messrs. Lawrence and Rice, for the plaintiff; Mr. Walker, instructed by Messrs. Holdsworth and Evans, for the defendants.

Mr. Darley moved for an injunction restraining the defendants, John Hardy, J. R. Holding, and Richard Holdsworth, the trustees of the estate of the plaintiff's father, Felix Wilson, from employing Caleb Felix Wilson as bailiff and manager of the property in which the plaintiff, Mary Caroline Stuart Coker, takes a life interest, with remainder to her children.

Mr. W. G. Walker appeared for the trustees as to the injunction, and also for the trustees and C. F. Wilson, to move that certain paragraphs in the claim referring to C. F. Wilson, who is not a party to the suit, be expunged, on the ground that they are scandalous and irrelevant.

The statement of claim, and certain affidavits, were read, which alleged that C. F. Wilson, the person objected to, was a son of the testator, and a brother of the plaintiff. It was stated that the testator did not trust C. F. Wilson and that he was of unsteady and careless habits. Charges were made that the trustees left the conduct of the property to Wilson, and he had granted leases for terms longer than those authorised by the will, and had accepted inadequate rentals. The plaintiff charges that Wilson has been enriching himself out of the estate, and had several times threatened to do all he could to lessen plaintiff's income from the property. It was, moreover, asserted that Wilson had attempted to make a division between plaintiff and her husband.

The affidavit of C. F. Wilson denied the charges made unreservedly. He stated that his father had trusted him to collect the rents of the estate, and after his decease the trustees asked him to continue this duty. He asserted that he was the only member of the family who had been left an absolute interest. He explained that the rent of the principal property in question, the Maitland and Morpeth Hotel, had been fixed at the sum accepted on condition that the lessee should erect three stores, which are now bringing in a considerable income to the estate. After defending the outlay, and stating that he always acted under the directions of the acting trustee for time being—now Mr. Holdsworth—he declared that the plaintiff had come to her after having taken proceedings against her husband in the police court. Letters were produced from the plaintiff to deponent which bore out this statement; also, an agreement for the repayment of an advance to enable plaintiff to return to England, with directions as to what should be done with the children should Mr. Coker neglect to maintain them. The deponent denied that he had ever encouraged any division between plaintiff and her husband. It appeared the plaintiff had expressly sanctioned the increase of Wilson's allowance for collecting rents.

Mr. Darley asked that the letters and agreements be lodged in court in order that plaintiff might be examined as to them. He asked for an adjournment to answer defendant's affidavits.

His HONOR directed both motions to stand over till that day three weeks, then to be heard together.

CHAMBERS V. GOODLET.

Mr. Lingen, instructed by Messrs. Jones and Jones, appeared to move for a dissolution of the injunction which had been obtained ex parte on Wednesday restraining the defendant from continuing the construction of a wharf in front of plaintiff's land at Darling Harbour. The injunction had been obtained on the ground that the continuance of the work would prejudice the sale of plaintiff's property by the mortgagee. That sale had taken place on Thursday, and plaintiff had no longer any interest in the property. He contended that the injunction never ought to have been asked for.

Mr. A. H. Simpson appeared for the plaintiff.

His HONOR said that if he had been aware of the intentions of the plaintiff he would never have granted the injunction. He dissolved the injunction with costs, and ordered an inquiry upon the undertaking given by plaintiff to abide damages should the injunction turn out to have been obtained wrongfully.

SHARP V. WOOLLEY.

Mr. Armstrong appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Walker for the defendant.

Mr. Walker moved to have the injunction dissolved. It appeared that the parties were partners in a business which had a branch in Sydney and another in Melbourne. There had been proceedings in the Supreme Court of Victoria, where it was agreed that the plaintiff should be general receiver, and acting under this agreement plaintiff had found security for £1000. The plaintiff had instituted a suit here, and had had the defendant restrained by interim injunction from dealing with the estate within this jurisdiction, and asked that he or some third person should be appointed receiver. He submitted that he had not been a party to the agreement before the Court in Melbourne, but it was shown that his solicitor had consented for him.

His HONOR dismissed the application with costs, without prejudice to the defendant coming in to dissolve should the order of the Court of Victoria be altered as to the appointment of a receiver in Sydney.

WALLER AND OTHERS V. GIBBS.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Bird, instructed by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Scarvell, for the plaintiffs; Mr. Owen, Q.C., and Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. Fitzhardinge, for the defendant.

This is a suit brought to have the defendant F. P. Gipps declared trustee for the plaintiffs, who number 21, for the sum of £500. It appeared that the defendant went to Kiandra on engineering business, and arranged with the plaintiffs that if he saw any desirable properties they should form a company to purchase them. He bought certain claims from one Mannus Strain, and received £2000 to pay for them. Sometime afterwards plaintiffs discovered that the price paid to Strain was £1500. The £500 difference is the subject of the suit. The matter is now being argued on demurrer on the point that the plaintiffs, being a partnership, comprising over 20 persons, and unregistered under the Companies Act, form an illegal company, and therefore the Court will not enforce rights which they might possibly possess if they were legally registered. The argument will be resumed on Monday.

Divorce Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

DENT V. DENT.

Mr. Ralston, instructed by Messrs. Gannon and M'Laughlin, appeared on behalf of the respondent, and applied for a postponement of the application to make the decree nisi absolute for the dissolution of marriage, on the ground that the respondent expected to be shortly in possession of material evidence from New Zealand which would prove that at the date of petitioner's marriage with respondent her former husband was still alive.

Mr. Browning, instructed by Mr. Castles, appeared on behalf of the petitioner, and opposed the application as unjustifiable, and only made to enable the respondent to escape from payment of permanent alimony.

His HONOR reserved his decision.

KNIGHT V. KNIGHT.

On the application of Mr. Ralston, instructed by Mr. James Greer, the decree nisi granted on the 17th December, 1881, for the dissolution of marriage of Thomas Knight, petitioner, with Cecilia Knight, respondent, was made absolute.

M'CORMACK V. M'CORMACK.

On the motion of Mr. Gordon, jun., instructed by Mr. J. M. Curtis, who appeared for the petitioner, John Campion M'Cormack, the decree nisi of 25th August last, for the dissolution of the marriage of petitioner with the respondent, Jane Ellen M'Cormack, on the ground of her adultery with Charles West and John R. Creagen, was made absolute, with costs against co-respondents.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY.

In the matter of J. L. Davies, the third meeting was adjourned to the 13th proximo.

In the matters of J. D. Smith and J. H. Lang, single meetings were taken and terminated.

In the matter of William Woodham, the second meeting was held and terminated.

SURRENDER.

George Gardiner, of Somerton, labourer. Liabilities, £56 15s.; assets, £8. Mr. Lloyd, official assignee.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING and a jury of four.)

GORDON V. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

This was a case in which a new trial had been granted, on the ground that the verdict was against evidence and that the damages were excessive. The case was tried in the District Court in December, 1884, before Mr. District Court Judge Wilkinson, when plaintiff recovered a verdict with damages £150, the action having been brought to recover £200 for wrongful dismissal. Mr. Want, instructed by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Co., appeared for plaintiff; and Mr. G. H. Simpson, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, for the defendants. Counsel having addressed the Court, his HONOR shortly summed up, and the jury, after a retirement of half an hour, found a verdict for the defendants. Notice of application for a new trial was given by the solicitor for plaintiff.

COOPER V. VON ARNHEIM.

Mr. Pilcher for plaintiff, and Mr. Field for defendant.

The parties in this action occupy adjoining houses at Darling Point. Defendant having erected a brick dividing wall for the purpose of shutting out plaintiff's view of her back premises, the wall, which it was contended was negligently built, collapsed during a high wind in December last, and it was alleged that plaintiff's property—to wit, the verandah of his house and portion of his garden—had been destroyed. Damages to the amount of £200 were claimed.

The case had not concluded when the Court rose.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice INNES.)

Mr. W. J. Foster and Mr. Gibson appeared to prosecute on behalf of the Crown.

SENTENCES.

Thomas Charles Edwards, guilty of forgery and uttering, was placed in the dock for sentence.

His HONOR, addressing the prisoner, said his (prisoner's) case was a very peculiar one. He had been convicted on previous occasions of a similar offence. In the present instance he had not made a very determined attempt to put off the forgery; and there was the fact, curious in itself, that the forgery had been committed on the very day he had been discharged from a lunatic asylum. He was in some doubt as to whether or not he should send the prisoner to Berrima.

Prisoner: Oh, your Honor, don't send me there! That place makes my blood run cold!

His HONOR, continuing his remarks, said: Considering the circumstances of the case, and the fact that a Judge had power to deal leniently with a prisoner if he thought fit to do so, he would give him one more chance. He looked upon the prisoner as one who had been unfortunate, as he had been an inmate of a lunatic asylum, and perhaps could scarcely be considered wholly responsible for his actions. Having regard to all the circumstances of the case, he would inflict a less term of imprisonment, and would not send prisoner to Berrima Gaol. The prisoner was then ordered to be imprisoned in Goulburn Gaol for a period of two years.

THE GLEBE ABORTION CASE.

The prisoners Thomas Meredith Sheridan and William Bell, who had been found guilty of supplying and administering a drug to Ellen Bell with intent to procure abortion, and also with having used an instrument for the same purpose, were placed in the dock for sentence. The prisoner Sheridan was the first called upon, and in reply to the usual question handed a number of certificates as to character to the Judge.

His HONOR, addressing the prisoner, said: Thomas Meredith Sheridan, you have been found guilty of a detestable crime. I know of no crime more pernicious, or in my opinion more calculated to undermine the foundations of all social well-being, and none more calculated to poison at their very source the fountains from which should flow all that which tends to make social and domestic life worth having. You have brought under my notice a number of testimonials with respect to your attainments and your character, but the only result that can have is to make your present position more deplorable. To think that a man should prostitute his learning and attainments to such an infamous practice is something perfectly shocking. I see no reason whatever to find fault with the verdict of the jury in the case which was tried before me; and I can also add, from my knowledge of the case wherein you were tried with the prisoner Bae before me, that there was abundant evidence to justify the jury in finding a verdict of guilty; and I am informed that in that case also, in the second trial before his Honor the Chief Justice, a verdict of guilty has been returned. Every point which could possibly be urged by you, you did urge; every latitude was allowed you during the case, and no consideration which could help you in your case was withheld by me or the jury. There were quite sufficient grounds for the verdict which has been returned. It is impossible to believe that a man in your profession, possessing your experience and knowledge of your particular branch of your profession, could have been misled in the case as you stated you had been. You must have been aware of the whole of the facts connected with the condition of the unfortunate woman Ellen Bell. I am told, and I fear that there is only too much reason for believing the statement, that the crime of which you have been guilty is not uncommon, and is possibly on the increase. Whatever the causes may be—whether it is that foolish people are led astray by the false notions of persons who call themselves philosophers,—the greatest prostitution of the term which could possibly be conceived,—or whether it is that wicked people are only too glad to think that in cases of this kind there are so many causes which will prevent crimes of this kind being discovered—one cause, no doubt, being the great difficulty of obtaining other than the evidence of persons whose characters are tainted—I know not. From some reason or other the perpetrators of such crimes manage to go on for some time, and there is reason to fear that the cases in which you have been convicted and the others with which you are charged, are by no means the first or only offences of the kind which you have committed against society. However, a conviction has been obtained in this case, and I should not be doing my duty if I did not let all society in this community understand clearly and without doubt, that so far as the strong arm of the law can repress these assassin-like attacks upon the well-being of society it will repress them—it will strike severely, but in your case not unmercifully—but with the truest mercy—to warn people against a repetition of crimes of this character—and to open the eyes of misguided women to see the terrible ruin which follows such foul practices. The other day, in opening the case, the learned Crown Prosecutor very properly said that if the law be—as there is reason to suppose it is—that where death ensues on the commission of a crime such as you have been guilty of that the offence is no longer under our law the crime of murder, I think it is so owing to some strange misapprehension or inadvertence on the part of the Legislature; for procuring abortion is unquestionably a felony, and, in my opinion, is one of the worst of crimes. Fortunately for you, the law which made such a felony murder no longer attains, but I trust that before long the law will be altered. The punishment which I am now about to award is unquestionably inadequate for the enormity of the offence. The death of this poor creature, Ellen Bell, lies at your door just as much as if you had committed the direct crime of murder, and the sentence I shall pass will be one of an exemplary character. The sentence of the Court is that you be held to penal servitude for a period of 10 years.

The prisoner, after sentence had been passed, said, "I might as well be sentenced to death."

The prisoner William Bell was then ordered to stand up in the dock, and, in reply to the usual question, said he was quite innocent of the charge upon which he had been found guilty.

His HONOR, addressing the prisoner, said he (prisoner) seemed to have been one of those unfortunate individuals who were easily led away by strange notions and ideas such as tended to the destruction of a well-ordered community. Prisoner had set forth the plea that he was a believer in the Malthusian doctrine; but he (his Honor) submitted that a grosser libel could not possibly be passed upon such a moral and enlightened philanthropist as Dr. Malthus than to suppose that he had promulgated any such ideas as those held by the prisoner. That writer spoke of such crimes by their proper names, and did all he could to put them down, as the outcome of vice and wickedness—not to be confused for a moment with that which unfortunately was not likely to obtain much faith from persons like the prisoner—that was, self-restraint and prudent control of animal passions. The prisoner's wife was a poor unfortunate creature, who had only just attained her 23rd or 24th year, and it would appear that she had previously submitted herself in the hands of the prisoner to evil practices, until at last her life was taken away in the earliest dawn of womanhood. He (his Honor) could not view the crime the prisoner had committed in the same light as he had viewed the crime committed by the prisoner Sheridan, and, therefore, should not pass upon him such a heavy sentence. The sentence of the Court was that the prisoner should be held to penal servitude for a period of eight years. The prisoner was then removed from the dock.

(Before his Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE.)

THE PETERSHAM ABORTION CASE.

Thomas Meridith Sheridan and Edward Dominic Bae, convicted of having used an instrument with intent to procure abortion in the case of the woman Sarah Hales, at Petersham, were sentenced.

The prisoner Sheridan was again called upon, and in reply to the usual question asked his Honor to look at the testimonials which he had handed in in connection with the last case.

His HONOR, addressing the prisoner, said it was not necessary for him to look at the testimonials referred to, as they would not affect the sentence he was about to pass. He agreed entirely with the verdict found by the jury, and could not doubt that the deceased woman, Sarah Hales, had met her death by the injuries inflicted by his (prisoner's) hand. Prisoner might before the commission of the crime have been a good citizen, and have borne an excellent character; but in his case, as in others, where persons bearing good characters committed a crime, they had to be punished—not for the purpose of revenge, but for the protection of the public, and in order to prevent others from doing a similar act. He was aware that the prisoner had already received a sentence of 10 years' penal servitude, and he (his Honor) should take that into consideration, and make a portion of the sentence he was about to pass concurrent with the previous sentence, although nominally he should pass the same sentence. The sentence of the Court was that the prisoner should be held to penal servitude for a period of 10 years, five years of the sentence to be concurrent with the sentence previously passed.

Prisoner: I scarcely understand the sentence, your Honor.

His HONOR, in reply to prisoner, explained to him that his sentence in the two cases made his term of penal servitude 15 years in all.

The prisoner was then removed from the dock.

Edward Dominic Bae was then ordered to stand up, and was sentenced by his Honor to penal servitude for five years. The prisoner, on hearing the sentence, burst into tears, and was weeping bitterly when removed from the dock.

THE BONDI RIOT.

The prisoners John Jones, James Kelly, and Michael Healy, who had been found guilty on the previous day of having maliciously wounded Robert Stove, a police-constable, at Bondi, on Boxing day, were called up for sentence.

His HONOR, addressing the prisoners, said:—John Jones, Michael Healy, and James Kelly,—you have, each of you, been found guilty of a crime the lowest punishment for which is penal servitude for seven years, unless the Judge should be of opinion and publicly state that under the circumstances a milder sentence would be sufficient. I have considered your case with every desire to diminish, as far as I could with propriety, the severity of your punishment; but I have been unable to find one mitigating circumstance in your favour. At a gathering of several hundred of people, composed to some extent of women and children, you and a number of other young men wantonly created a disturbance which three policemen endeavoured to suppress. You then proceeded to attack with stones and otherwise these officers thus engaged in the discharge of their duty, and, regardless of the safety of the bystanders, you took part in a riot of so violent a character that the policemen were compelled to run for their lives. Two of them escaped, but the third you overtook and thereupon you three prisoners, with many others not before the Court, attacked and brutally ill-treated him. By one or other of you he was struck down with repeated blows of stones, one at least of which weighed several pounds and was likely enough to have killed him on the spot. You then left him for dead, and went off boasting of what you had done. Fortunately, the man so maltreated did not die, but your attack upon him was of such a character as probably to end in his death. The jury have found you all guilty, and the question now is what is to be done with you. The interests of society require that an example should be made of you; in the first place, to reform you, if that be possible; and in the next place, to warn the large class of unruly young men whose acts of violence have become of late so numerous, of the danger which by these crimes they are incurring. All those who ignorantly think that their numbers and their organisation are sufficient to overcome the guardians of order must be taught that the law is strong enough to reach them, however large may be the bodies in which they assemble to set society at defiance. Severity on this occasion will be mercy to those numerous misguided young men who, without either manliness or courage, are prone to make brutal attacks on peaceful citizens either too weak or too few to protect themselves. The sentence of the Court is that each of you be held to penal servitude for the period of eight years.

ALLEGED MURDER.

James Alfred Chapman and his wife Sarah Ann Chapman were arraigned on a charge of having at Sydney on the 23rd November last, feloniously and maliciously murdered an old man named John Thomas. Both prisoners being undefended his Honor assigned Mr. O'Ryan to act as their counsel. The facts of the case will be fresh in memory, as having been connected with what was popularly known as the Sussex-street tragedy. A large number of female witnesses were examined, but nothing fresh was adduced in evidence to that which had been elicited by the coroner's jury prior to commitment. It appeared that the deceased and the male prisoner were both Corporation labourers, and resided near to one another, the deceased being a man somewhat given to strong drink; under the influence of which he was violent in temper, and accustomed to use bad language. About the date mentioned he had been drinking, and a quarrel arose through his having called the female prisoner improper names. What followed was best described by a young girl named Isabella Earp, a tweed factory hand, residing in Sussex-street. This witness deposed that on the date of the assault she was sitting in her back yard, and saw deceased; he asked Mrs. Chapman if she wanted a drink; she replied, "Not off you, you —— thing," upon which bad language and "jawing" ensued; Mrs. Chapman struck deceased in the face with her fist; he having taunted her that her husband kicked her and her child out, and that he had taken them in; she abused him, and denied this assertion with bad language, after which her husband ordered her into the house; she struck him again three or four times before her husband carried her inside; he remarked, "Leave him alone; I'll give him all he wants"; Mrs. Chapman struck him on the back with two half bricks, knocked him down, and kicked him; deceased sang out, "Bring out your man again;" on which Chapman rushed out, struck him on the face, knocked him down backwards, and kicked him, then pulled him up by the hair and punched him in the face; Mrs. Chapman also struck him across the chest with some spouting, and pelted stones through the window; saw his head bandaged up later on; after the row saw Mrs. Chapman washing blood from her hands and putting her head under a tap. Dr. Milford deposed to having made a post mortem examination of deceased's body, assisted by Dr. Apjohn; it had been some time dead; found extensive bruises on the external angle of the left side, on the left elbow, thigh, &c.; found a fracture right through the internal crevice of the skull, three quarters of an inch in length, which was linear in character; examined the membranes of the brain, and found between the dura mater and the inner membrane effused pus to the extent of two or three tablespoonfuls, denoting inflammatory action; removed the brain and found one or two ounces of similar effusion on its base; found in the left frontal sinus a recent effusion of blood, denoting of course recent injury, possibly five or six days old: the cause of death was miningitis, or inflammation of the membranes of the brain, originated by the fracture referred to. Catherine Yates, Jane Summersby, Elizabeth Smith, and others also gave evidence, in the course of which it was proved that Mrs. Chapman had boasted of having split the deceased's head open. Counsel having briefly spoken his Honor also briefly summed up. He directed the jury with regard to the most recent legal definitions of murder and manslaughter. Any person committing an assault which resulted in a fellow-creature's death was guilty of murder, under either of the three following conditions, viz.—if the act were committed with direct intent, with reckless indifference as to results, or thirdly, with intent only to inflict grievous bodily harm. Otherwise the charge of manslaughter would hold. His Honor expressed a view favourable to the male prisoner, and pointed also to a degree of provocation given by the deceased. At seven minutes to 4 p.m. the jury retired, and in nine minutes returned into Court with a verdict of not guilty against the male prisoner, who was accordingly set at liberty. The female prisoner was found guilty of manslaughter. His Honor quite concurred with the finding; and whilst willing to believe that there had been no intention whatever to cause death, pointed out that punishment must follow. Having ascertained that the accused had four children to support, and in view of previous convictions, a sentence of imprisonment for six calendar months, with hard labour, was recorded.

The Court then adjourned until Monday, at 10 a.m.

COMMERCIAL.

WOOL, PRODUCE, AND STOCK REPORT.

WOOL.—At the auction sales of the week, 1550 bales were catalogued. There was fairly good competition, despite the discouraging reports of the English market. From catalogues of last series of English sales now to hand, it appears that for certain wools with which this market was tested, higher prices were offered than have been obtained in the English market. That is not very surprising in a falling market on the other side, but it certainly indicates that growers did well to sell to an increasing extent in Sydney. With the ever enlarging number of buyers coming to operate in the colonies, the past three or four years' experience in England and the colonies, must tend to greatly enlarge the wool selling business in Australia. The sales at auction during the week comprised 967 bales, and about 900 bales were sold privately. Fleece sold at from 11d. to 14½d.; scoured, of good quality, 18d. to 19½d., medium, 13d. to 14d.; and faulty from 7d.; greasy, of fair quality, realised 8d. to 9½d.; low from 6d.

SHEEPSKINS.—The market was scarcely so firm at the sales of the week. Best skins sold at 6d. to 6½d.; medium, 4d. to 5d.; and pelts, from 1½d.

TALLOW.—265 packages were offered, and 130 sold at yesterday's auction. The market shows no improvement, but remains depressed, shipping lines being still dull at late rates. Trade lots were scarcely so firm. Quotations—Beef, £26 to £26 15s. per ton. Mutton, none offering, quoted up to £27 10s. Mixed and station, £22 to £25 per ton.

HIDES.—At yesterday's sales, 5550 were offered and 4788 sold. The market ruled firm at last week's rates, with the exception that medium weights were weaker. There was keen competition especially for well-conditioned heavies, whilst other sorts met with fair amount of animation. Quotations—Extra heavies, 4½d. to 5¼d. per lb.; a few exceptional lots realised up to 5¾d.; heavies, 4d. to 4½d.; medium, 3½d. to 4d.; light, 3½d. to 3¾d.; dry station, up to 5d. Kangaroo skins: The supply has fallen off; large realise 30s. to 44s. per dozen; medium, 16s. to 29s.; and small, from 6s. to 14s. Wallaby, 1s. to 3s.; bear, 2s. to 4s.; opossum, 1s. to 5s. Horsehides are scarce, and best line sells from 6s. to 8s. 6d. per head.; small to medium, 2s. 6d. to 5s. 6d.

HAIR.—Again, at the late sales, a small supply of hair was offered. The market ruled firm, and the demand was active. Quotations—Horse tail, 15d. to 18½d. per lb.; mane, 9d. to 11d.; washed cow, 10d. to 13½d.; cow stumps, 5d. to 8d.; mixed, 10d. to 14d.

HORNS AND BONES.—At the late sales, average supplies of both descriptions were offered, and late rates were well maintained. The market was firm, and there was a good demand. Quotations—Horns: Large, 25s. 6d. to 35s. per 100, a few up to 38s. Medium, 10s. to 24s.; tips, 2s. to 8s. Bones: Shanks, £4 to £12 per ton; common, £3 to £3 10s. per ton; hoofs, 3s. to 3s. 6d. per cwt.

LEATHER.—At Tuesday's sales there was a fair attendance of buyers. A slight improvement was noticeable in the demand for a good line of dressed leathers, but heavy goods were dull and difficult to quit. Sole was firm for good heavy, but mediums and shipping lines were unaltered. Saddlers' goods sold with a little more freedom. Quotations—Heavy, 11d. to 12d. per lb.; medium, 9½d. to 10d.; light, 7d. to 9d.; kips, 11d. to 16½d.; cow tweed, 14d. to 21d.; yearling tweed, 19d. to 24d.; calf tweed, 19d. to 27d.; waxed calf, 24d. to 30d.; harness, 10d. to 12d.; bag, 7s. to 10s. per side; bridle, 8s. to 11s. 6d. per side.

STORE CATTLE.—For good fattening bullocks there is an active demand, but the high prices asked tend to restrict business. Quotations—60s. to 85s.; cows, 40s. to 55s.

STORE SHEEP.—The further rains in the north-western country having freshened the vegetation, there is a brisk inquiry for sheep for stocking up. Wethers, 5s. to 7s. 6d.; ewes, 7s. to 15s.

STATION.—Although there is a fair inquiry for station properties, differences in views as to value prevents the completion of business. The only sale reported this week was that of the Fulham run in the Albert district, at a price which did not transpire.

HORSES.—The market has been fully supplied during the week, the majority of which came from country districts. A good supply also came from New Zealand. Prices are slightly reduced. Active draught and van horses suitable for cab work are in fair request. Heavy draught are less required. Quotations—Saddle and harness horses, from £8 to £35; active draught and van horses, £14 to £30; heavy draught, from £28 to £40. No carriage pairs offering; quoted at £80 to £120.

PRODUCE MARKET.—FRIDAY.

The sales at Darling Harbour this morning were fairly attended by the trade. Again good supplies of wood and forage were offered. The forage market shows no improvement, but remains excessively dull, buyers not operating with any freedom. The only feature of interest was that there was a fairly active demand for prime descriptions of hay and pumpkins. Hay and chaff were unaltered; but straw ruled a shade firmer. The wood market continues dull, owing to the late heavy arrivals and buyers being amply supplied. On the wharfs there was a fair supply of produce forward from Northern and Southern rivers and Victoria. Business was fairly active, operations being confined principally to potatoes, hay, and dairy produce. The market was devoid of any special feature of interest, with the exception that maize was a shade weaker. Trade in grain is quiet.

At Darling Harbour sales the following prices were realised:—

Wood.—Very large market. No improvement. Sluggish sales at per ton: Billetwood, 9s. to 12s. 6d.; bundle, 11s. to 15s.; foot, 9s. to 14s.; bakers', 12s. to 13s.

Hay.—Good supplies. Market excessively dull. Demand for prime descriptions of hay continues good. Oaten, in bundles, 2s. to 4s. 6d. per cwt.;—two extra prime lots at 4s. 8d. and 5s.; bales, 3s. 9d.; truss, 3s. 3d.; sheaves, 3s. 8d.; lucerne, in truss, 2s. to 4s. 3d.; bundles, 2s. 8d.; wheaten in bundle, 3s. to 3s. 7d.; oaten and wheaten in bundles, 3s. to 4s. 2d.; oaten sheaves and lucerne, in truss, 3s. 2d. to 4s. 5d.; oaten hay and oaten straw, 2s. 7d.

Straw.—Fair consignments forward. Market shade firmer. Fair competition at 2s. 6d. to 2s. 8d. per cwt. for clean in bundles.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION.

NOMINATION FOR ARGYLE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN REPORTERS.)

GOULBURN, FRIDAY.

The nomination in connection with the election of a member for Argyle, in the room of Mr. T. J. Garnon, took place at the Oddfellows' Hall, Marulan, at noon to-day. There was a large attendance of electors. Mr. A. G. Finlay was the returning officer, and, having read the writ authorising the election, called upon those present to nominate candidates.

Mr. WM. DAVIES nominated Sir Henry Parkes. He contended that, by this election, they had acquired a position second to none, not only in the eyes of the colony, but of the whole world, the circumstances attending it being of a novel and peculiar character for such a constituency as this. Then, especially at the present crisis, it was desirable that they should return a man able to grasp the position, and do justice to a man who had rendered good service to the country, and whose political fame was founded on a large number of beneficial statutes he had caused to be passed into law. Such a man, he believed, was Sir Henry Parkes. He read the following telegram:—"To William Teece, M.P., or Mr. William Davies. To the Electors of Argyle. After the liberal use of my name made against the election of Sir Henry Parkes, I think I may be pardoned if I say that I sincerely hope that he will be elected. Our Parliament is not representative of New South Wales without him. Sir Henry Parkes is sound on the land question, while his opponent supports the destructive law of the present Government. The Soudan Contingent matter is now legalised, and can, therefore, not be in the way of the choice of the best man.—JOHN ROBERTSON." He reminded them, in conclusion, that the contest would be a severe one, and that they would not float easily into the position they desired to attain, but it would be for them to exert themselves against a strong current to gain it.

The nomination was seconded by Mr. DAVID BROADHEAD.

Mr. WM. H. WHITING said he would nominate Mr. John Osborne. He explained that it was the question of sending troops to the Soudan that had brought Sir Henry Parkes forward. As a native of the country, he felt proud of the action of the Government, and he hoped they would return a man who did the same.

Mr. G. LOGAN RANKEN seconded the nomination.

Sir HENRY PARKES, who was received with cheers, said that in what he had to say he would be as brief and plain as possible and above all things he would take care that the issue, so far as he was concerned, was made perfectly clear. He had offered himself to Argyle as an opponent of the present Administration. (Cheers.) Let that be distinctly understood. Let no person vote for him under any mistake whatever. He was there as an opponent of the present Administration. (Cheers.) He believed this Administration had done more injury than succeeding Ministries for years would be able to rectify; and he would proceed clearly, he hoped, to show how this had been done. These gentlemen came into office by the exercise of more chicanery and meanness and vituperation than any former Government. They did not even rest content between themselves and the old Government upon the basis which such contests usually were, but they ran opposition into a party objection to a most excellent man who had held the office of Speaker of the Assembly, and for no reason but to get the salary for one of their own supporters. Sir Wigram Allen was not only one of the wealthiest, but one of the best men in the country; and while in England the election of Speaker had not been made the subject of a party contest since the Reform Act of 1832, in this country for the first time for years it had been made the subject of a bitter party contest. It was all very well to put the late Government out of office; but why should they undertake an indecent proceeding against the gentlemen who had occupied the chair so long, and with such rare efficiency? One of the very gentlemen who occupied the position of Minister at the present time had pledged himself to second the nomination of Sir Wigram Allen, and, false to his pledge, he had actually voted for that gentleman's opponent. And that was Mr. Farnell. What did they think of a country governed by men who would do such a scandalous thing as that? The whole circumstances that characterised the advent of these gentlemen into power were discreditable to the country at large. What had these gentlemen done? Their principal Acts were the Land Act and the Civil Service Act, and both of these were bad in principle. It was very hard in some parts of the country to obtain small homesteads to settle upon, because there was no land office day during which the people could select them, and the excuse for this scandalous and mischievous delay was that they (the Government) had not been able to bring the Land Act into operation. It must be a pretty piece of legislative handiwork that can't be put into operation after it had been proclaimed the law of the country. What would this Act do if allowed to operate? It would certainly limit the chances of all men who desired to get settled on the lands of the country for the purpose of cultivating them; it would hand over to them only half of the country, and of necessity in most cases the worst half, because they knew that persons interested in having their runs divided had much more influence than poor men who were seeking to select land, and they knew well enough that they would manage so that the best portion of their runs would be reserved for themselves. And no one could blame them. Every one had a right to take advantage of the law in his own interest, but it was an iniquity which allowed any law to be taken advantage of by any man against the best interests of the country. The provision, also, which compelled the small settler to fence his small holding, was a great hardship, and altogether quite unnecessary. A poor man, who had by his industry and thrift, saved up money enough to take up land for himself, and in view of the future for his growing sons also, wanted what spare money he had to improve and stock his land, and it was an iniquitous law which compelled him to spend it in unnecessary fencing it. He believed that this Land Act would be found to be unworkable, and he was sure it was unsound in principle, and he was also sure that the next Parliament would be called upon to amend or to altogether repeal it. Now, as to the Civil Service Act, that was not only full of incongruities, like the Land Act, but it was iniquitous in its very design. Why should the persons employed by the Government be better off than they who had to find the money to pay their salaries with? The person who went into the Government employ must very much desire that kind of employment, because there was no necessity to compel him to take it, and if he had a high spirit he would find many avenues where he could do better for himself. But if he did go into it, why should he be pensioned at their expense? (Cheers.) Was it not sufficient that they, by contributing to the taxation of the country, paid his salary? Why, after his duties came to an end, should he have a pension paid out of their hard earnings? Well, he maintained that both these measures were anything but creditable to the Legislature, and anything but beneficial to the country; and these were the chief things that had been done by this Government in the way of legislation. But let them see how these things were done. These gentlemen had kept Parliament in session 13 months—had made the year into 13 months, so to speak, which was a rather curious thing—to pass this Land Act, this Act which, if he were correct in the subject, would prove to be an entire failure. Now, the Imperial Parliament—and he presumed every man there would admit that this was the only model for their proceedings, as it was the only great deliberative body which stood high above all the other legislative institutions in the world—the Imperial Parliament, he would say, however urgent the business might be, if the country were involved in war, or some organic change were taking place which would revolutionise the institutions of the country, never sat beyond the allotted time—never sat for 13 months. He would say this fearlessly, that judging of Parliament as he would judge of any other body of men, it was impossible to keep a number of gentlemen together day by day for a year and expect them to conduct their business in an orderly manner. If it were attempted to keep the House of Commons together 13 months, it would not be the dignified, orderly, and well-conducted body it was, and a model to the whole world. Human nature was so weak and so infirm, and it was so necessary it should have rest, that no body of men could be kept together night after night for twelve months and demean themselves as gentlemen and sober minded men, and they had seen the result in this long Parliament. But what had the present Government done in addition? They had made Parliament a mere plaything, and they had actually convened three short sessions for three particular objects, a thing altogether unprecedented. They had had Sir Stuart Donaldson, Sir Watson Parker, Sir Charles Cowper, and Sir James Martin at the head of affairs, but none of them ever so trifled with Parliament as to convene short sessions for doing one simple thing. They had a short session to legalise the tramways; then another for passing the Estimates; and now a short session for legalising this treason to the country—this Soudan business. (Cheers and hisses.) He only claimed there his right to speak, and if any man in the wide limits of the country had a right to speak, he had that right. He was known not only here, but to the members of the Imperial Government, as a person who had rendered greater services probably than any other man in the country, and he claimed the right to speak plainly on this subject, and he came to this subject at once. He had in his hand, sent to him that morning, a speech of a very eminent lawyer, who was a member of the Legislative Council. This gentleman, so far as he knew, had always been an opponent of his, and had certainly been strongly opposed to the Public Instruction Act, but he was a gentleman and one of the soundest lawyers in the country—he meant Mr. Alexander Gordon—a gentleman who had been appointed to the Council by the Stuart Ministry. That gentleman stated in his place in the House that, although he was a supporter of the Government, his objection to the Soudan business was equally as great as his (Sir Henry's) own. Mr. Gordon was not a partisan of his, neither was he a fellow-worker, and he was not a man who would lightly express his opinions. He was, in fact, singularly qualified to express an opinion on this question, and he had in this instance expressed his deep regret that he was compelled to vote against the Government, because they had been guilty of a breach of constituted duty, for which there was no justification. Mr. Gordon pointed out that there was no analogy between the circumstance of bringing troops from India and the circumstance of sending troops from New South Wales, because, in the former case, Lord Beaconsfield had the law enabling him to bring troops from India, while there existed no law here by which troops could be sent to fight in a foreign land. He would point out that among the men who would vote to validate the thing after it was done, there were many who would never have voted for it before it was done. That was his case—(applause)—and if he had been in the House the other night he should have voted for the Indemnity Bill, because there was one thing that claimed their support above everything else, and that was the honour of the country. (Hear.) They must pay for the action of having committed the country to an improper thing, to which it ought never to have been committed; but depend upon it the money would have to come out of the taxpayers' pockets. He knew that so far from standing alone, some of the best men in the country took the same view of this matter as he did. (Applause.) The late Government had administered the government for four years, and he believed they had done a great amount of good. They had passed the Public Education Act, among other measures—(hear)—and half the members of the late Government took exactly the same view of this matter as he did. He believed that the great military men who had been charged with the construction of the defences of the colony took very much the same view. He referred to Sir William Jervois and General Scratchley. (Hear, hear.) Coming to the Government of the country, the Prime Minister was absent, and the Colonial Treasurer was away, and no trouble taken to procure his attendance. The offer was that the colony was to give efficient men, so the impression given to the Home Government was that the Ministry were prepared to despatch efficient men with consent of Parliament. If a telegram had been sent home that the Government were prepared to raise a Contingent, that they had no parliamentary sanction, but would endeavour to obtain it, he could answer for it the offer would never have been accepted. He knew the members of the English Government almost as well as he knew their Government. He knew Lord Hartington and Mr. William Gladstone, and could answer for it that if they had known that the Contingent was to be sent without parliamentary sanction, they would never have accepted it. He therefore charged the Government from that platform with deceiving the Home Government—(hear)—though he should do all in his power to maintain the good faith of the colony, and to see that while their honour was pledged to this wild thing, the honour of the colony was not stained. (Hear.) He believed that the men who had gone would distinguish themselves—(hear)—still, if he had any power to bring to condign punishment the Ministers who had rushed precipitately into this thing, he should do it. (Applause.) England did not want this help at this crisis, and the Government had no right to make the offer. The electors might suffer themselves to be carried away by a skin-deep enthusiasm, but he told them, and he hoped that in years to come they would not forget his words, though he might be in his grave, that they should see that their parliament should never sanction the raising of a military force without the consent of the people. (Cheers.) It was interwoven with the Constitution of England that no military force should be raised by the Crown without the consent of Parliament. The people must hold that their representatives should control all taxation, and the raising of all military forces; and if they had not learnt the A B C of political life, he would tell them that their highest duty as citizens was never to trust the Executive with the raising of armed men. (Hear.) He had not time to point out the bad consequences of this action. They would come in the shape of taxation and opposition to immigration: in the shape of military pension lists for maimed soldiers, and for the support of the widows of the men who may fall in the war. They would have put most powerful arguments into the mouths of those persons opposed to immigration, and what answer could they make to the argument, Why should we send money away to introduce people here and then pay to send them away? And when the tax came to be imposed they would find the people who were now most noisy in support of this scheme loudest against it. (Hear, hear, and laughter.) As for the hollowness of this military ardour, why there was an eminent soldier in Goulburn, Captain Blackshaw, who wanted to go to the Soudan, and he was offered the position of sergeant, but he would not go unless he could go as captain. (Laughter.) There was an instance of the soundness of this patriotism. But there was no question of patriotism—it was a question of the highest constitutional right. There was no question of loyalty, for what man ever dared to question the loyalty of the people of New South Wales? (Cheers.) The men who were loudest in boasting of their loyalty or their money were shams. There was no question of loyalty; but the British subject best showed his loyalty by, under all circumstances, performing the duties of a British subject—(cheers)—not in a fever of this kind, but in sober moments by supporting the laws and maintaining the principles of the Constitution, inculcating habits of thrift, and preserving the national faith of the country. (Applause.) Those were the men who were ready when the time came to give up everything for their loyalty. He ventured to think that within his limited power he had done as much to serve his Queen as any man—(hear, hear)—but he hoped he had not done so in any sham such as this one. (Hear, hear.) He hoped they would understand him. ("We do.") If England were in peril, they ought to give their fortunes to the last shilling and their lives, their very last drop of blood. (Cheers.) But there was no present occasion for them to do anything of the kind, and what had been done would have the result of making the colony ridiculous with some of the best men in England. ("No," and confusion.) He knew many who would regard this as childish from the first to the last, and when it came to be known that the thing was done without the sanction of Parliament, and in the absence of the Chief Minister of the Crown, and that there was a large element of dissent embracing the first men in the country, he was sure the action would not redound to the glory of the colony, but that they would rather wish the thing had never been done at all. (Hear, hear.) No public man had been more distinguished than he had been in promoting the formation of volunteer bodies. The Act of Parliament under which they were enrolled was his act, and two days before the Contingent sailed he received a letter from Colonel Richardson, thanking him for his courtesy during the time of his retention of office, showing that the best feelings existed between him and those bodies. He was, and had been, and should be always, opposed to raising anything like a permanent military force in the country. He did not believe in it in a country like this, where every man ought to be occupied as a colonizer. The worst purpose to which they could put a man was that of a soldier, lying idle in barracks. (Applause.) He was in favour of the country being defended by citizen soldiers, who if called upon to defend these shores would be defending their homes and the honour of their mothers, sisters, and wives. (Hear, hear.) They could see that he was opposed to anything like a regular infantry. He would depend upon volunteers, and would promote the raising of volunteer bodies in every place accessible to the seaboard. (Hear.) He had been the friend of the volunteers from their first formation, and was the author of the act under which they were enrolled. (Hear.) He had come to Argyle without any wish to obtain a single vote by means of a disguise—(cheers)—and he had made no disguise—(hear, hear)—throughout his long life. He was elected to the seat vacated by Mr. Wentworth in 1854, more than 30 years ago, and he had always scorned to obtain support on the merits of another man—(hear, hear)—and if he could not obtain their support upon his own merits, because of his long services, of his courage in facing enemies, of his self-respect in never seeking to curry favour, he should consider it a greater honour to be defeated in the contest. (Applause.) He asked them to exercise their judgment, and to scrutinise his acts—(hear, hear)—but to spurn from them the vituperation which had been spoken to their insult, and the degradation of the authors. (Hear, hear.) Let them not vote for him under any mistake, and he did not think there was any mistake about his candidature there that day. (Cheers.) He thanked them for their courteous hearing, and said that he would be quite content with whatever result followed that contest. (Continued applause.)

Mr. OSBORNE, who was also received with cheers, said he felt extreme pleasure in being before the electors in connection with this great and important contest. Sir Henry Parkes was known to the majority of them by repute, if not personally. He himself stood before them as a comparatively unknown man, but still he was trying to work this contest on lines of purely personal decency. He regretted that Sir Henry Parkes had gone out of his way at Crookwell to abuse him, and to abuse him very grossly. That gentleman had stated there that "As regarded Mr. Osborne, he believed him to be a decayed parson—(laughter)—an educated man who had studied for his Church and then ran away and left his Master to abuse his neighbours." It was perfectly true that on one occasion he was what Sir Henry Parkes called a parson, and it was perfectly true that he was not a parson at the present time. He was a journalist now, and it was untrue and a most scandalous libel to say that he was dismissed from his Church by its members. (Cheers.) He had not held the same views as they did on ecclesiastical polity and doctrine, and he had taken a stand on a certain matter, either rightly or wrongly, and he felt that any man who did this honestly had a right to be respected. (Cheers.) When he found that he and the ministers of his Church could not agree with each other, he retired from the ministry and went into the profession of a journalist; but it was well known to the Wesleyan minister at Goulburn and to Mr. Francis Tate that if he had chosen he could have remained in the Church without any sacrifice of his principles. He simply left the Church because he wished to follow his own convictions and the dictates of his own conscience. His congregation—and it was a very large one—expressed their extreme regret that he left the Church at all. He had raised the York-street Church to a condition of great prosperity, and they gave him the largest salary of any Wesleyan minister engaged in active work in the colony—namely, £700 per annum. When he left he could assure them he did not know what he was going to do; but an offer was made to him to go on the staff of a Sydney newspaper, and he accepted it, and for the sake of his conscience forsook the £700 a-year to accept £300 a-year. It was altogether untrue that he descended—or, rather, ascended—to the province of journalism to abuse any one. He had certainly watched the career of Sir Henry Parkes in England and Scotland, and had read with interest the addresses delivered by that gentleman in the large industrial centres there; and in connection with these he had written leading articles stating that the addresses bestowed great benefit not only upon New South Wales, but upon the whole of Australia. He had eulogised Sir Henry Parkes, and had dealt with him most fairly. If he had criticised that gentleman keenly or severely, he did it because he and the editors of his journal believed that the circumstances justified him in doing so. As regarded the present election, from which, he was sorry to say, Mr. Ranken had fled, showing the white feather, he contended that the true issue before the electors was not a matter of the past career of Sir Henry Parkes, and what he did, and that he knew British statesmen, and had hobnobbed with with them. No; it was felt that the great question at issue here was whether the Government were right in sending troops to the Soudan to the help of glorious old England. In this important electorate they saw that no one from the local ranks was going to oppose Sir Henry Parkes. Representations were made to him on the subject, and at first he refused to have anything to do with the contest, because the way did not seem open to him to enter into what he knew would be a very severe contest. His friends explained to him that the people there were filled with enthusiasm over the matter. Sir Henry Parkes had called this a spurious enthusiasm, and his doing so was a gross insult to them, which he himself would throw back into the face of any man guilty of it. He went there himself on the representations of the merchants and politicians of Sydney to contest this election on what they must regard as the only issue, and he felt that in these circumstances a political broomstick could contest the issue. It was no use of Sir Henry Parkes bringing the Land Act or the Civil Service Act before them; those were only to throw dust in their eyes. (Cheers.) Let them keep to the subject of the Soudan. (A voice: "That is all settled.") He would let them know by-and-bye whether it was settled or not. When they had him to deal with they had not a fool to deal with. What was this important question? It was alleged that England had no right to be in Egypt, and that she was engaged against a people who were fighting for their independence. They knew that England did not want to be there, and the reason why General Gordon went to Khartoum was simply because England wished to bring away the Egyptian garrison, which, if left there by England, would have been massacred to a man. England had always been true to this idea, that she would preserve the liberty of men, whether they were black or white, bond or free, and would stand by the interests of all that were oppressed. (Loud cheers.) If her troops had not been sent to the Soudan her name would have been sent down to posterity covered with infamy and everlasting contempt. When Khartoum fell there existed, as they knew, tender feelings between England and France and Germany, and at that time Mr. W. B. Dalley, the pride as he was the glory of Australia—Mr. W. B. Dalley, the foremost orator, compared with whom there was no such man in the Upper or Lower House as a politician or statesman—sent with the co-operation of his colleagues these troops to the Soudan, to show France and Germany that if difficulties ever arose between England and them, England might rely on New South Wales, and, indeed, upon Australia as a whole, for help. Sir Henry Parkes made this the point on which the election would turn, and had asked their suffrages on the ground that the action of the Government was wrong. Sir Henry Parkes had referred to Mr. Alexander Gordon as a supporter of his views, and as a supporter also of the present Government, yet strongly enough he had almost in the same breath denounced the Stuart Government as one of the most corrupt that had ever existed. What could Mr. Gordon's voice do? Could they compare Mr. Gordon with Mr. Darley, who was also one of the most eminent lawyers in the colony, and could they compare him with Sir Alfred Stephen? (Cries of "No, No.") If they put 500 more Gordons on one side and six Sir Alfred Stephens on the other, the Gordons would kick the beam. (Laughter.) Sir John Robertson had taken the position that the action of the Government was perfectly right, and no man who had witnessed the enthusiasm that had gone down to the very core of the country—no man could have witnessed the embarkation of the troops—without feeling that the enthusiasm was true, that the Government had interpreted rightly the feeling of the community, and that a great majority of the whole country was in favour of the Government. ("Hear," and "No.") There was the opinion of their representatives in Parliament, and the other night, when this great question was decided, the very best men in the House—over 64 of them—voted with the Government. (Hear.) If Sir Henry Parkes were sent back to Parliament—("He will go")—on this issue, that would go forth to the colonies and to the whole of the world—to Britain, and especially where Sir Henry Parkes was known, that this electorate of Argyle had condemned the effort of the colony, and in that way the colony would express regret for having helped old England. ("No" and "Yes.") The people would feel and know that Argyle regretted the action which had been taken. Did they regret it? ("No.") The man who said they did, did not know the community. (Applause.) That action had raised the State from tutelage into a glorious nation—(cheers)—and it was impossible to get away from that position. That was the issue we wanted to put before the electors. The action was one that had laid hold of Australia, and they had the testimony from home. Sir Henry Parkes said that the great leading men there were opposed to the movement. Lord Tennyson, the first poet of the age, was in favour of the movement, and all the leading papers there had eulogised the conduct of the colony, and not a man whose utterances were cared for but had not admired the action. (Applause.) It was all very well to ask who were going to pay for these troops, but he would remind them that England had given to them the lands of the colony they now possessed, and had protected their commerce by keeping 11 ships of war on the Australian station, at a yearly cost of £10,000. There were people who said that because England did all this for the colony, they were not to pledge themselves for £3,000,000, or even £1,000,000, for the purpose of expressing their sympathy with the mother country. In the last Parliament Sir Henry Parkes advocated a railway line from Tenterfield to Grafton, and the difference between the cost of that and the line sanctioned from Glen Innes to Grafton would be probably £1,000,000. (Sir Henry Parkes: "It is not.") He asserted it was the case, and would shortly show that the statement was true. (Sir Henry Parkes: "It is not.") He would bring proof forward at the proper time. (Cheers.) They would not return Sir Henry Parkes on this issue at all. Sir Henry Parkes had declared that the present Government was guilty of treason in having despatched the contingent as it did; but if he maintained that the Imperial Government would be guilty of treason in declaring war without the consent of Parliament also. If Russia were to advance her troops into Afghanistan, the Imperial Government would declare war without asking the consent of Parliament at all—(hear)—and Sir Henry Parkes would have them believe that that was something the Government could not do. He maintained that if the Imperial Government could declare war in that way, this colony could raise troops without first calling Parliament together. There was a feeling in the Argyle electorate that the Government had done right, and that to ignore the action would be a dishonour and an everlasting disgrace to this colony. (Applause.) He did not wish to put forward any side issue. It was true that Sir Henry Parkes was a great man, and that some of them would worship him as a god. (Laughter.) He recognised Sir Henry Parkes' abilities and services; but compared with the great men of England, Sir Henry Parkes was very small fry indeed. Let them not vote for Sir Henry Parkes because he had done a great deal for the colony, and had exalted himself as very few men had done (Hear, hear.) If Sir Henry Parkes went into the House at a time when Parliament was expiring, what could he do? (Hear, hear.) Parliament was going into recess, and would be in recess for a few months. It would sit again, and, as they all knew, would pass a Local Government Bill, and also pass the Estimates, and then go to the country. They must not send Sir Henry Parkes into Parliament on this Soudan business—("Nothing else," "Hear, hear")—and as sure as they lived, if they sent Sir Henry Parkes in now they would be disgracing and dishonouring their country in the eyes of the world. Were the young natives going to allow their country to be dishonoured? ("No.") The country would be dishonoured by the action of the Argyle constituency if it returned Sir Henry Parkes in the present juncture. (Applause.) Amongst educated men in Sydney and those who understood the question, there was a unanimous feeling that this had been the grandest thing which had ever happened in this colony, and to repudiate it would be to bring the colony into disgrace. (Applause.) He felt sure that next Tuesday they would send Sir Henry Parkes back to the retirement from which he ought not to have come on this occasion. (Applause and dissent.) In November last Sir Henry Parkes said that he never would seek or accept a seat in any future Parliament. ("Parkes has said nothing of the kind.") He would read for their edification:—"Some 15 months ago, when I had occasion to visit England, I tendered to you the resignation of my seat. In your generous confidence you declined to release me from your service, and a grateful sense of your consideration of indulgence makes me now most reluctant to sever our connection. But I feel that I cannot continue to bear the sacrifice of time, and of the capabilities of life itself, which a seat in the Legislative Assembly now imposes, and after much painful hesitation I have forwarded my resignation to the Speaker. I have taken this step deliberately, and I have no intention of seeking or accepting a seat in another Parliament. (Applause.) (Sir Henry Parkes: "Where is the word never?") The men who knew anything of the English language knew that it meant never. (Hear, hear.) Sir Henry Parkes raised a contemptible quibble, according to which the expression meant that Sir Henry Parkes could change his intention every 24 hours. (Sir Henry Parkes: "It means that I may change my intention, certainly.") Very well; gentlemen would now know what Sir Henry Parkes was, and that in the 50 subsequent times he might retire, it meant he might come out again at the end of a week or a month or a year. (Laughter, and cheers.) (A voice: "Give us what he said about Parliament.") He did not think there was any necessity for him to do that; but he was extremely sorry that Sir Henry Parkes should have offered the insult to Parliament, for in calling it a most corrupt Parliament he had insulted the whole of the constituencies. ("No!" and "Yes!") It was just as impossible for them to conceive of Mr. Gladstone's retiring as Sir Henry Parkes had done as it was of the devil becoming an archangel. They might put Sir Henry Parkes in next year; but they could not put him in now, without being disloyal—(hear)—without bringing the country down to the very dust and ashes of degradation, and without prostituting honour and everything that was noble and true. (Hear, hear.) With regard to his political opinions, Sir John Robertson had never heard him express his views on the Land Bill, and did not know what his opinions were. (Voice: "Nor nobody else.") Several people did know what his opinions were. The fact was, Sir John Robertson did not know anything about it. The paper he was on had made the statement that the Land Bill was entitled to a fair trial. (Applause.) In the gallery of the Legislative Assembly he had listened to the debates on the Land Bill, and was impressed with the idea that the politicians of the House understood the business of land legislation on which they were employed better than they understood anything else. They certainly brought patience, care, and knowledge to bear on the discussion of the subject, and although the bill was a complicated one, he was sure Sir Henry Parkes was not going to amend it if he lived to the age of Methuselah, for he had never had the initiation or carrying out of any Land Bill the country ever had, and therefore they could not expect it from him. His own feeling was that it could be amended, but he was sure that it was entitled to a fair trial, particularly from the selectors, for two or three years, and then they might make out a case for Parliament to amend it. (Cheers.)

A show of hands was taken and declared in favour of Sir Henry Parkes, whereupon Mr. Osborne demanded a poll, and this, it was announced, would take place on Tuesday next. The proceedings, which were of an orderly character throughout, were concluded with a vote of thanks to the Returning Officer and cheers for the Queen.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

GOULBURN, FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mr. John Osborne addressed a meeting to-night, the hall being crowded. On the platform were several influential citizens and electors. The chair was occupied by Mr. S. Meyer. The candidate was received with a burst of cheers, and almost the only interruptions were caused by cheering. The candidate referred to Sir Henry Parkes' statement that he had left the Church because he found that he could earn more at journalism, which he stated was not a fact. His reason for leaving the Church was because his views had undergone a change, and he could no longer make them harmonise with those held in the Church, and he wished to act in an honest manner in the matter. As regarded remuneration, when he commenced as a journalist the salary he received was less than half what he had been receiving as a minister of the Church, and what he received now was very little more than half. The candidate afterwards dwelt on the principal public matters before the country, including the Land Bill, Railway Policy, and the Soudan question. He was well received throughout, and continually cheered.

DEPUTATIONS.

SUNNY CORNER.

Yesterday morning a deputation introduced by Mr. S. Smith, M.L.A., and consisting of Messrs. R. H. D. White, M.L.A., M. Bensusan, and other gentlemen interested in silver-mining at Sunny Corner, waited on the hon. Minister for Public Works to ask that the road from Sunny Corner to Meadow Flat might be put in a proper state of repair. They pointed out that a large population had settled in the district in question, and that the development of the silver mines would be largely affected by the road referred to being put into a proper state of repair.

Mr. WRIGHT said he was fully alive to the necessity for the work the deputation had brought under his notice. He had already had inquiries made into the matter, and some of the work was even now in course of construction. He would give directions that the work should be undertaken with as little delay as possible.

WEST MAITLAND MARKETS.

A deputation from the Borough Council of West Maitland waited upon the hon. Minister for Works yesterday. They were to have been introduced by their member, Mr. H. E. Cohen; but that gentleman was unavoidably absent, having had to attend a meeting of the Executive Council at Government House. The deputation asked that a piece of land near the railway-station, and which was the property of the Government, might be handed over to the Borough Council, for the purpose of erecting public markets thereon, which would be a great convenience to the inhabitants of that large and populous borough.

Mr. WRIGHT informed the deputation that, so far as he was aware, the Government had no intention of parting with the piece of land referred to, as it was impossible to tell what the railway requirements might be. He would, however, have inquiries made, and if the land could be disposed of he would endeavour to come to some arrangement with the Borough Council about it.

LIVERPOOL MATTERS.

Aldermen Smith, Aspinall, and Scrivener waited as a deputation upon the hon. Minister for Works yesterday, with reference to a circular recently issued to municipalities in connection with the expenditure of public moneys on public works within municipal limits; and also in connection with the necessity of making some arrangements for the Liverpool water supply.

Mr. WRIGHT said there seemed to be some misunderstanding as to the object of the circular. The position was that, in future, instead of the expenditure being under the control of the officers of the Roads department, it would be handed in a lump sum to the local authorities, by whom, he was certain, the money would be expended in a far better way. With regard to the water supply he was aware that the matter was one that required attention, as in addition to the local residents there were large public institutions within the town that were supplied from the Government dam. He would cause inquiries to be made into the matter, and he thought it might be found desirable that a new dam should be constructed inside the old one.

PETERSHAM MATTERS.

A deputation from the Borough Council and residents of Petersham, introduced by Messrs. S. Stephen, M.L.A., and H. Moses, M.L.A., waited on the hon. Minister for Works yesterday, in reference to various local matters. Mr. Hammond, the other representative of the electorate, was unavoidably absent. The principal matters urged by the deputation were the necessity for sub-way crossings at the Petersham and Stanmore stations, and for more commodious station buildings at those places.

Mr. WRIGHT informed the deputation that the plans for the station buildings were already on hand, and that tenders would be shortly called for.

TRUCKS FOR LITHGOW.

A deputation of gentlemen interested in the various industries at Lithgow, introduced by Messrs. S. Smith, M.L.A., and W. S. Targett, M.L.A., waited on the hon. Minister for Works yesterday, to complain of the great loss and inconvenience to them caused by the irregular supply of trucks at Lithgow, and they further stated that the proportion of trucks given to each company was not in accordance with the actual rate of production of each.

Mr. WRIGHT said that the matter was hedged round by a number of difficulties. The traffic was very fluctuating; at one time the wool traffic would take up nearly all the available trucks and engine-power; and at another time there would be a large quantity of agricultural produce to be conveyed. He would have inquiries made on the subject, and endeavour to make arrangements so that a more liberal and regular supply of trucks for Lithgow might be secured, and also that a fair distribution of them, in accordance with production, might be made.

THE PROPOSED VOLUNTEER CORPS FOR BALMAIN.

The deputation appointed at the meeting held in the Balmain Town Hall on Wednesday evening last, in connection with the raising of a volunteer artillery corps, waited on the Colonial Treasurer (Mr. G. R. Dibbs), at noon yesterday, accompanied by Messrs. Garrard and Hutchinson, Ms.L.A. Mr. Garrard, in introducing the deputation, urged the establishment of the corps on the basis desired by the meeting, and assured Mr. Dibbs that the people of Balmain were willing and ready to join and work hard in the matter of making themselves efficient, if means were placed at their disposal to enable them to do so. Several members of the deputation intimated that they agreed with the remarks made by Mr. Garrard.

Mr. DIBBS, in reply, said that he would do all in his power to forward the movement; and further, that he could most certainly promise the deputation all they asked for. He was greatly in favour of local drill, and felt sure that the Government would send some thoroughly experienced officers to help at the outset to bring the corps to a rapid state of efficiency. The deputation expressed themselves satisfied with the result of their interview, and after thanking Mr. Dibbs for his promises of assistance withdrew.

WATER SUPPLY FOR SILVERTON.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SILVERTON (VIA WILCANNIA), FRIDAY.

A large and influential meeting was held in Silverton last night. Several resolutions were passed, all of which are to be forwarded to the Minister for Mines by telegraph. The resolutions point out very strongly one of the wants of the field, viz., a water supply, and there can be little doubt that this is very urgently wanted. There are 1700 people in Silverton, and the only fresh water to drink is obtained out of the Umberumberka Creek soakage. This supply is not only within a week or two of being dry, but analysis of the water made in Adelaide last week, proved it to be quite unfit for human consumption. Typhoid fever, which has been prevalent for some time, and from which people are continually dying, is due, in a great measure, to the bad water. There are many suitable sites for either tanks or reservoirs near the town, and it is generally hoped that the Government will take immediate steps to conserve a supply for the town—at least, after the rain comes. Some thousands of pounds have already been paid to the Government by people here, both by duty and all kinds of mineral lease and license fees, so there is no doubt but they are justified in asking for this. The meeting was very orderly, and all the resolutions were carried unanimously.

BANQUET TO THE MAYOR OF MELBOURNE.

An event of a very unusual, indeed of a unique, character in the history of the colony occurred on Thursday at the Town Hall, where a banquet was given by his Worship the Mayor of Sydney to his Worship the Mayor of Melbourne (Mr. J. Carter), who is spending a short holiday in this city. The Mayor of Melbourne was first shown over the Town Hall, and afterwards occupied the seat of honour to the right of his brother Mayor, Mr. Pope sitting next. To the left of the chairman were Sir Alfred Stephen, Sir John Robertson, Sir Patrick Jennings, Hon. G. R. Dibbs (Colonial Treasurer), and Mr. John Tait. There were also present the Inspector-General of Police (Mr. Fosbery), Messrs. O'Connor, Burdekin and Withers, Ms.L.A., and a large number of aldermen, including ex-Mayor Harris. An apology was received from Mr. Dalley, who was unable to attend. After the toast of "The Queen" had been duly honoured,

The CHAIRMAN proposed the toast of "Our Guest." He was glad to welcome amongst them the chief magistrate of the sister colony of Victoria. He looked upon the present social gathering as all the more important, since it tended to foster the good feeling which ought to exist between the two colonies, and he felt convinced that the promotion of a good feeling between these two leading colonies would do more to bring about federation than anything else. There had long been a competition between the two capitals, and he thought that they owed to this very competition in a great measure the success which each had achieved. He reminded them that Sydney and Melbourne were not the only cities between which a rivalry and a jealousy existed, since a similar spirit existed necessarily between any two neighbouring towns in England. If this jealousy prompted people to put their shoulder to the wheel, and to strive to make the utmost possible use of the advantages they possessed, then it could not be a very bad thing to be jealous. But when the occasion for unity arose, when war broke out and the mother country was threatened with danger, then all jealousy was put aside, and they moved together as one body. The present occasion was memorable from the fact that it was the first entertainment given in the Town Hall to a Mayor of Melbourne. This was the fault of the gentlemen themselves who came and left without making themselves known. He had made a tour in the Blue Mountains with Mr. Carter, and had found him a very pleasant companion, and he took this opportunity of offering him the hospitality of the Town Hall, both in his private and official capacity. (Applause.)

The MAYOR of Melbourne said he could scarcely find words to express his sense of the great honour they had done him as a representative of the corporation of the city of Melbourne. He not only had to thank the chairman for the complimentary way in which he had proposed the toast, and the gentlemen present for the way in which they had accepted it, but also to thank the chairman in an especial manner for the kind words he had said of him personally. He quite agreed with him that one of the best ways to promote federation was to make the colonies know each other, and he could not imagine a better way of bringing about this desirable state of things than for representatives of the different colonies to meet at a sumptuous banquet, to which Mr. Fairplay—(loud laughter)—or rather Mr. Playfair had invited him. He, too, with the modesty characteristic of a citizen of Melbourne—(laughter)—would, like the Mayors who had preceded him, have passed through Sydney without making his presence known had it been only possible, but in whichever direction he went he met either a fresh friend or a fresh host. If they treated all Victorians as they had treated him, they would soon annex the Victorians altogether. (Laughter.) It was 12 years since he had visited Sydney, and his first visit had been made 21 years before that, but if their generosity was to be repeated he thought he would soon come again. He could assure them a welcome no less warm than they had given him when they visited Melbourne. He had been much struck when passing through Sydney by the manner in which matters, which he thought ought to be in the hands of the corporation, were managed by the Government. If there ever came a time when it was a question whether we should lose municipal or Parliamentary government, he could hardly say which he would be most inclined to spare. He thought, however, they suffered here from being a little too much bossed by the Government of the day. (Loud laughter and cheers.) He admitted that the bossing was of an entirely paternal sort, much as a father used to his grown-up son, who knew a good many things for which the old man didn't give him credit, but it was bossing nevertheless. In Melbourne the corporation had succeeded in getting control of many things which he observed were here managed by the Government. In Melbourne, for example, the corporation would have control of the tramways. (Hear, hear.) In this city it seemed to be a monstrous thing that the streets, which the citizens had paid for, and which the rest of the colony had not paid for, should be managed by the Government. (Hear, hear.) Surely the tramways belonged to the citizens who made the streets. Why should not the water supply, too, be under the control of the corporation which represented the people who paid the rates? The same remark applied to the gasworks. They had done the right thing at Ashfield where the corporation supplied the town with gas. In his opinion the management of gas and water works and tramways should belong to the localities which paid for them. If there was any profit let the local taxpayers enjoy the benefit of it. (A Voice: "And if there is any loss let it fall on the Government." Loud laughter.) There would be no loss. Gas companies and tramways paid heavy dividends, and he thought it was only fair that the Corporation and not the Government should benefit by this. He considered that if municipal government were properly carried out, it was almost more important than political government, and he trusted that the citizens of Melbourne and Sydney would be able to set an example to the rest of the colonies, and show them how municipalities ought to be governed. Sydney had set a grand example by the cleanliness of her streets, an example which he would endeavour to copy. (Hear, hear, and laughter.) He had been informed that the Mayor had started a brigade for cleaning the streets of horse-droppings. He had proposed the same thing in Melbourne 10 years ago, but they had not then reached this desirable stage. He intended, however, to make another attempt in that direction before long. They could not over-estimate the value of the help each colony could afford the other, either by way of precept or example; while, now that the two capitals were united by railway, Melbourne could send 100,000 men to protect Sydney in case the latter were attacked, and Sydney could send 100,000 cornstalks to Melbourne if the Victorian capital happened to be in danger. He was afraid, however, that owing to the unfortunate protectionist policy of Victoria the prospect of colonial federation was a long way off; but Imperial federation was sticking out on every side. There might have been a difference of opinion among some of them as to the constitutional legality of despatching their gallant troops to the Soudan, without first obtaining Parliamentary sanction, but there could be no doubt as to the immense influence for good the measure had produced. The blast of the war-trumpet, sounded in Sydney, had been re-echoed throughout the length and breadth of the Empire, and from frozen Canada as from burning India the same loyal response had come. They were all ready to furnish help of men and arms to the mother country. The sound echoed yet, it had traversed the whole of the mighty Empire governed by the Queen, and it would be a long time before it would die away. In conclusion, he begged to thank them once more for the cordial manner in which they had received the toast of his health. (Cheers.)

Mr. Alderman JOHN YOUNG proposed the toast of "The Ministry," whom he praised for their pertinacity.

Mr. DIBBS, who was received with loud cheers, said he had been under the impression that his share of talking had ceased for a time, as at 12 o'clock the last finishing stroke had been performed by the Government which released members of Parliament, and especially the Ministry, from opening their mouths for at least three months. The present banquet had been entirely unexpected by him. The proposer of the toast had characterised the Ministry as pertinacious. He remembered many years ago having been called by the late Mr. John Fairfax, the proprietor of the Sydney Morning Herald, the "most pertinacious man in Sydney," and perhaps he deserved the title. He had a discussion with the deceased gentleman on the occasion, and he managed to get the best of it owing to his (the speaker's) "superior piety and Biblical knowledge." (Loud laughter.) He agreed with the Mayor of Melbourne that municipal institutions might be more important than political ones, so far as the residents in Sydney were concerned, but they must remember that the capital did not embrace the whole colony. He was, however, prepared to say on behalf of the Government, that they were willing to make the Corporation a present of the tramways and the waterworks, provided only the Corporation would undertake the responsibility and guarantee the Government 4 per cent. interest on the cost. (Cries of "We agree.") He denied, however, that municipal institutions were superior to Parliament, and urged as a reason that the former had not a thoroughly correct knowledge of the laws of meum and tuum. (Laughter.) He renewed his offer of handing over the control and management of the waterworks, trams, and sewers—the last being a matter which the Mayor had apparently purposely omitted to mention—subject to the conditions named, and he promised, moreover, to ratify it at the next meeting of Parliament. The Mayor of Melbourne had alluded in very nice terms to the action of the Government in sending troops to the Soudan. Within the last two hours the Government had received a telegram announcing the arrival of our forces at Aden. (Cheers.) It was still more gratifying to know that all on board were well, and more gratifying still to learn that the promptitude with which the troops had been despatched was seconded by the speed of the voyage, and that before to-morrow night our troops would be landed at Suakim. (Loud cheers.) He endorsed everything that the Mayor of Melbourne had said with regard to the good that would be done. It was purely a national, an Australian affair, and would, he felt sure, redound to the credit of the colonies as a whole. (Applause.)

Alderman HARDIE proposed "The Parliament," and said he, for one, was prepared to take over the trams, the water, and in fact everything connected with the city. He supposed the Treasurer was prepared to give them the licenses.

Mr. DIBBS: Everything.

Alderman HARDIE hoped the Treasurer would not repent of his offer, but that he would prepare a bill without delay.

Sir ALFRED STEPHEN responded for the Legislative Council, and observed that if the body to which he belonged did not directly, it did indirectly represent the great body of the people, and he was sure that every member of it had the prosperity of the colony and the integrity of the Empire at heart, and desired to do all that lay in their power to promote the interests and welfare of both. (Applause.)

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON responded on behalf of the Legislative Assembly, and said it was always gratifying to him to meet a citizen of Victoria, as there was probably no one who had received more hospitality from Victorians than he had. Referring to the suggestion of the Mayor of Melbourne that the two capitals might reciprocate troops in case of danger, the hon. gentleman observed, amid laughter, that this would be an easy matter so far as we were concerned, as Victorians would be admitted duty free, but he supposed if we sent a hundred thousand men over they would be taxed. He remembered that at the time of the Exhibition he was invited over to Melbourne, and nearly had to pay £45 on his carriage for the privilege of driving in. He was bound to say, however, that the duty was ultimately remitted. He had been dealing with Victorians for 25 years, and must acknowledge they were very smart men, so smart that their friends over here should keep a careful lookout or the Victorians would get to windward of them. He was glad to be able to compliment the Parliament on the magnificent way in which they had behaved in the Soudan business. It was said by some that the act of despatching the troops had been a breach of the constitution, but this showed that the people who said it knew nothing about the constitution. They had far more rights than could be summed up in a written constitution; they had the rights of a free people. Had they waited for an Act of Parliament the troops would not have reached their destination for another month, and it would have been too late. As it was, they were already on the spot, and would be of use. The first thing the Parliament had to see to was that the best thing should be done for the people; and had the Government in the present case waited for the sanction of the Parliament before taking action, they would have paved the way for discord. Had they not taken the action they did, the people would have said, "What is the use of your Parliament? you never do anything at the right moment." Do the work at the right time, and let the Parliament endorse it. That was the constitution. It was quite a mistake, however, to suppose that this was the first time we had sent troops away to assist the mother country. Twenty-seven years ago, when New South Wales was a very poor colony, they arranged with the mother country to send men and horses to put down the Indian mutiny. The Government had on that occasion been charged with unconstitutional conduct, and a vote of censure was passed, but he never felt his way firmer than when he stood with the minority on that vote. He had been a member of Parliament from that day to this, and he maintained that they could not have Parliamentary government unless they had some power to act at once on emergency and then seek for support from Parliament. There had been a considerable opposition expressed to the despatch of the troops without Parliamentary sanction owing to a misconception of the constitution, but there had been no opposition to the despatch of the troops themselves. He thought the Parliament had behaved exceptionally well in this matter, and had shown they thoroughly understood their duty. The action taken by the colony in this matter was important, not so much from the mere number of the men who had been sent away as from the influence it would have in showing the enemies of England, wherever they were, that the colonies, so far from seizing the occasion of trouble to the mother country as an opportunity for severing their connection with her, forgot, in the moment of distress, all they might have suffered at the hands of the Imperial Government, and rallied round the British flag. The colonies were therefore a source of strength, instead of weakness, to the parent from which they had sprung. They were numerous, they were able, they were vigorous, they were wealthy, they were growing, and they might be heard saying to the enemies of England, "Hands off; don't touch the old country. We will grumble at her if we choose, but we will also protect." (Loud cheers.)

Sir PATRICK JENNINGS also responded to the toast, and spoke in very complimentary terms of their distinguished visitor, who had represented one of the most important constituencies in Victoria, and was always regarded as one of the most intelligent members in the Victorian House.

Alderman Lees proposed the toast of "Our Visitors," to which the Inspector-General of Police (Mr. Fosbery) responded.

The Mayor of Melbourne proposed "The health of the Mayor of Sydney," to which that gentleman responded.

The toast of "The Press" having been proposed in eloquent terms by Mr. O'Connor, and duly honoured and responded to, the proceedings terminated.

AMUSEMENTS.

CHIARINI'S ROYAL ITALIAN CIRCUS.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus and Menagerie, which have on several occasions delighted large audiences in this city, having returned from an extended tour in the other colonies, re-opened in Belmore Park last evening. The troupe is a very talented one, and the stud in splendid condition and exceedingly well trained and groomed. The programme presented for the most part resembled those with which circus patrons are familiar, but some of the performances were carried off with more dash. The costumes, too, were characterised by more style and brilliance than those of the majority of circus companies. The entertainment commenced with Roman equestrian sports, in which five ladies and the same number of gentlemen execute a number of pretty manœuvres, which serve in an admirable degree to display their skill as riders. Amongst the "trick" performances of the quadrupeds were those of two most symmetrical Java ponies, who waltz and polka and in other ways give evidence of the power of their trainer. One of the most noteworthy features of the entertainment was what is termed the "Crystal Pyramids," which enable Mr. Horace Rolland to give some wonderful displays of his courage and attainments in the art of balancing. The decanters are partly filled with coloured liquid, and Mr. Rolland is the bearer of two "educated" white pigeons, who cling to him as if under some magical spell. By means of 12 decanters, an ornamental tripod, and a crystal globe, a variety of pyramids are constructed, and these the performer (bearing on his back or his shoulders the almost parasitic pair of pigeons) mounts and gives evidence of his skill as equilibrist. The upper portion of one of these pyramids is formed of three decanters, one upon the other, and the whole surmounted by Rolland, who stands upon the uppermost bottle. The swaying of this elevated "design" is shown by the coloured liquids in motion, and impresses spectators with the hazardous nature of the feat. The equilibrist occasionally tossed off the pigeons, but without evincing the slightest desire to take advantage of their liberty or to alight elsewhere, they returned to him as if attracted by some magnetic power. The little Miss Rolland gave a display of equestrianismship which was of a most impressive kind. She handled a splendid team of four Timor ponies in a most effective manner, and was awarded rounds of applause. Two magnificent Cingalese elephants were introduced into the ring and their performances, supplemented by the antics of one who has the peculiar distinction of being called "August, the Imbecile," created no little amusement. The programme concluded with a most interesting spectacle, produced by a steeplechase, in which ponies jockeyed by monkeys took part. Attached to the circus is an extensive menagerie, which cannot be regarded from an educational point of view as otherwise than of very great value. In this tent is a den of remarkably fine African lions, and another of Royal Bengal tigers, which are equally as interesting. There are also some excellent specimens of the panther and leopard tribes. It is customary for the circus to give a matinee on Wednesdays and Saturdays, but it has been decided by the management that in consequence of the race for the championship no performance shall take place this afternoon. The circus will, however, be open to-night.

Last evening, at the Protestant Hall, Mr. Henry W. Chapman gave a series of Shakesperian, dramatic, and humorous recitals. The building was almost crowded. The Mayor of Sydney had undertaken to preside, but through an unforeseen circumstance was prevented at the eleventh hour from being present. Mr. Richard M'Coy acted as his substitute, and introduced the speaker. The intended pianiste also could not attend, but her place was well filled. Seventeen items were on the programme, irrespective of an original prologue by Mr. C. J. Marshall, and musical overtures. The first-named were rendered by Mr. Chapman with his customary care, applause at times being loud and earnestly delivered. "The Wreck of the Hesperus," "Shamus O'Brien," "The Raven," "Parrhasius," "The Bells," and other morceaux were among the best rendered and most appreciated.

"THE PASSION," BISHOP BARRY, AND THE MUSICAL UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—My attention has been directed to a letter under the above heading in your yesterday's issue. Lest your correspondent, "Sacred Harmonic," should deem that by ignoring his suggestion the committee of the Sydney Musical Union are guilty of discourtesy, permit me to state on their behalf that they have already very carefully considered the date fixed for the production of "The Passion;" that, with every desire to study the religious opinions of such few of their members as share your correspondent's views, they have found it impossible to alter the date. I need scarcely say that the gentlemen who direct the society's affairs would deeply enjoy listening to the accomplished Primate's Worcester sermon, and they entertain the hope that their inability to alter the date need not deprive them and others of this enjoyment. Amongst the many reasons which have always made Good Friday night a specially suitable evening for the production of such works, I need only mention that it is about the only evening in the year that an efficient orchestra is procurable Without a competent orchestra, "The Passion" had better be left unattempted. I am, &c.,

JAS. ANDERSON,
Assistant Secretary Sydney Musical Union.

SCALD HEAD.—A SOLID SCAB AND DRY SCALES.—F. J. Truesdell, druggist, Conneaut, O., reports a case as follows:—"The patient's head was almost a solid scab, and the dry scales constantly falling off his head, making his shoulders white in a few hours. He suffered all the torments imaginable with his head—burning and itching and a terrible headache all the time. Took three bottles of Resolvent, used two boxes Cuticura, and some Cuticura Soap, and was cured. Head is entirely free of scabs as it was the day he was born. No more itching and burning, and no more headache. It seems almost incredulous that anything could cure so bad a case so quickly. The patient says you do not claim half enough for Cuticura."—[ADVT.]

Messrs. Dangar, Gedye, and Co. are in receipt of a cablegram advising them of the arrival of the barque Gladstone, from Newcastle, at London.

The steamer Leura cleared Port Phillip Heads at 4.45 p.m. on the 25th instant, and entered Sydney Heads at 7 p.m. on the 27th, having experienced light southerly winds to Gabo Island, and strong northerly winds with head sea thence to arrival.

The barque Port Adelaide, from London, with a general cargo, came up to an anchorage in Neutral Bay yesterday morning, but was later in the day berthed on the western side of the Circular Quay. She left the docks on December 5, but, owing to heavy westerly weather, did not clear the Downs until the 9th. Dirty weather was experienced in the Channel, and on the 19th December the vessel encountered a strong gale from the westward, accompanied by violent squalls and heavy sea, in which she laboured heavily, and filled her decks fore and aft with great bodies of water. On the 20th the gale continued, and the vessel rolled so heavily that the ring-bolts, which were securing some deck cargo consisting of acids, were torn up, causing it to get adrift. Some of the tins then began to leak badly, and the whole of the acids had in consequence to be thrown overboard to prevent further damage. Very unsettled weather and confused sea, with heavy rain, continued till the vessel arrived at St. Vincent, whither she proceeded in consequence of Captain Lawson having broken his left leg between the knee and the ankle through slipping on the ladder when descending from the poop. The limb was set by the officers, but they deemed it advisable to call at St. Vincent to obtain the opinion of a medical man with regard to the matter. The vessel resumed her voyage on January 7, and had light trades to the Equator, which was crossed in 24 W. on January 15. After that the voyage was uneventful till approaching Tasmania, when a heavy gale set in and continued until after that island was rounded on the 20th instant. Thence to port the winds were principally contrary. The Port Adelaide comes into port in first-class order. Captain Lawson has progressed very satisfactorily since the accident, and is now well on towards complete recovery.

The following vessels were spoken by the Port Adelaide:—February 25, American barque showing J.K.F.C., from New York to Shanghai, 83 days out, in 21° S. and 37° 20' E.; Halcyon, ship, from London to Wellington, 67 days out from Portland, in 45° 12' E. and 43° 41' S.

The barque Guldax, which left here yesterday morning in tow for Newcastle, returned to port at 8.40.

From Mr. R. B. Wallace's last monthly circular, issued at Newcastle, the following items are taken:—"Since my last circular, published on the 28th ultimo, no improvement has taken place in the dull state of the freight market. Very few settlements have been made, and show no advance on last month's rates. Several disengaged ships in colonial ports have been holding for better prices, but will have to close, as there is no prospect of an advance at present. Tonnage could be placed for Hongkong, Java, Mauritius, Manila, Honolulu, and the West Coast at quotations. In coasting and intercolonial business there is nothing doing. For Hongkong there are two departures, with 2042 tons coal. There are five vessels here to follow, of a capacity of about 8000 tons. Tonnage could be placed at 12s. 6d. For San Francisco the vessels sailed during the month are of 12,796 tons capacity. The Mitredale and Remijio load on ship's account; City of Benares, under home charter, and Passat, at 13s freight. There is no inquiry for tonnage. For Manila three vessels have gone forward with 3026 tons coal, under charter at 13s 6d and 13s 9d. The Carin is loaded with 87· tons coal, at 13s 6d freight. Further tonnage could be placed at latter rate. For Valparaiso, the export for the four weeks is 4286 tons. The Silverhow is loaded with 1766 tons, under home engagement, and the Edmund Phinney follows under charter, at 15s 6d; 15s to 16s 6d would be given for orders. Freights: Hongkong, 12s 6d; Manila, 13s 6d; Bankok, 15s; Java, 11s to 12s; Singapore, 10s; Mauritius, 17s; Honolulu, 13s 6d; Valparaiso, for orders, 15s to 16s 6d; Macassar, Saigon, Yokohama, Amoy, Padang, and San Francisco, nominal."

The Union Company's steamship Wakatipu returned to harbour last evening from Newcastle. She sails again at 5.30 this evening for Wellington, Lyttelton, and Port Chalmers.

The harbour steamer Swansea has just received a thorough overhaul at Mort's Dock, and is now in better order than she has been for years. New tubes were supplied for her boiler, the freshwater tanks were repaired, and the engines were taken on shore, put in thorough working order, and then fitted up again. A new rudder was also fitted. The whole of the work was carried out under the superintendence of Mr. Henry Skinner, the engineer of the vessel. At a trial of the engines the speed attained was in every way satisfactory. The Swansea has again taken up her position in the harbour trade.

The Rosedale (s.), Captain M. Prendergast, crossed the Manning Bar at 7 a.m. on the 27th instant, and entered the Heads at 9.30 p.m. the same day. Experienced N.E. wind throughout the passage. Cargo—3 horses, 800 bags maize, 100 hides, 60 pigs, 12 coops poultry, 30 cases eggs, 100 pieces cedar, 12 bags oysters, and 30 packages sundries.

The schooner Just in Time was yesterday moved from the stream to a berth at Cowper's Wharf, where she will discharge her cargo of timber; and the barque Einar Thamberskelver was towed from Waterview Bay to an anchorage in the stream.

THE PACIFIC SLOPE IN A HURRICANE.

It is a long time since a vessel arrived in this port with such a dilapidated appearance aloft as the barque Pacific Slope, which anchored in Neutral Bay yesterday afternoon. During her voyage from British Columbia she fell in with fearful weather, and had the foremast from the cross-trees upwards, jibboom, main topmast, yards, &c., all carried away, besides receiving other damage, including the rigging of the two masts, which is completely destroyed. The following graphic report is furnished by Captain C. W. Barnes, who states that during the whole of his 25 years' experience of "salt-watering" he never witnessed anything to equal the hurricane referred to:—"The barque Pacific Slope, 799 tons register, owned by Mr. Albert A. Smith, sailed from Esquimalt, B.C., with a cargo of lumber on Friday, January 9th, and met with light winds until the morning of Friday, the 13th of March. The ship was then in lat. 28·47 South, long. 165.53 E., running before a strong breeze under lower topsail and foresail. At 9.40 the foresail and fore-lower-topsail were taken in, and the ship hove-to on the port tack. The barometer was then falling, and wind increasing to a heavy gale. The stanchions on the lee side soon began to give way, the deck load shifted considerably, and the timber commenced to float adrift. At 1.30 p.m., the main lower-topsail blew away, and the fore-topmast staysail was hauled down and stowed, and tarpaulin got up in the main and mizen rigging. The ship at this time was making water fast, and all hands were kept at the pumps. During the afternoon, the gale increased to a hurricane with a terrific sea and heavy rain, causing the ship to heel over until all the lee side of the deck load was under water; the yardarms (the yards at the time being braced up) were also frequently under. At 5 a.m. the temporary bulwarks on the leeside broke up and washed away, taking with them the fore and fore-topsail brace. At 6 a.m. the barometer was at 28·70, and soon after began to rise. The pumps were sounded and it was found that there were 6 feet of water in the hold. They were still kept going. The wind, which was at N.E. in the morning, gradually veered to S.E. during the day. At 8 p.m. the fore-topmast was struck by lightning, and went over the side, taking with it all the yards forward and jibboom. The wreck was cut adrift and pumping resumed at 10.30 p.m. The next thing to go was the maintopmast, which was carried away and hung by the rigging, and swung about with the roll of the ship, as it could not then be cut adrift. The crew were obliged to leave the pump, as the wreckage hung just over their heads. There was then 14 feet of water in the hold. The wind began to moderate during the night, and on Saturday pumping was resumed at 4 a.m. The ship was full of water, and everyone had to stay on deck, the captain's wife and two children living under some canvas on the poop. Provisions and water were then got on deck to save them from getting spoiled by salt water. There was a heavy swell all day, in which the ship laboured heavily, and staysails were bent and set on all the stays to steady her. On Saturday the wreck from the mainmast was cut adrift, but the topsailyards were saved. A squaresail was then bent and set on the foremast, the deck load was secured, and the mainsail bent and set, but the ship lay like a log in the water, and did not move ahead at all. In the morning the carpenter, John Oman, a native of Sweden, told the captain he had formed a plan to pump the ship out. Accordingly on Monday he set to work and made a connection from the pumps to the donkey-engine, after almost insuperable difficulties. His plan was thought to be useless, and as there seemed but little prospect of saving the ship, the crew were ordered to get the boats in readiness for any emergency. At 7 p.m. the carpenter had completed his plans, and steam having been got up, the pumps were set to work vigorously. Very little time elapsed before the leak (as it was thought to be) began to take up and the water in the hold was steadily reduced. During the whole of the night the crew were kept busy cutting wood and drawing water for the donkey-engine, which was kept going unceasingly; and by noon of the 15th all on board had the satisfaction and relief of knowing that the ship was free from water, the pumps having been kept going for 17 hours. Sail was then got on the ship, the upper maintopsail yards being sent down, and rigged as a foreyard. A new jibboom was also rigged out, and under all sail the ship sailed from 4 to 6 knots an hour, with light S.E. to N.E. winds, which continued to port. The hull of the vessel has evidently sustained no injury, as she has made no water since being pumped dry. The carpenter deserves the greatest credit for his ingenuity, skill, and perseverance in connecting the pumps with the donkey engine. He had great difficulties to contend with, and very limited materials at his command. The ship could not possibly have been cleared of water by hand power, even had there been 50 men on board. His work is well worth a visit of inspection by all lovers of mechanics." During the worst of the storm a large dog on board evidently went mad at the awful aspect of affairs. He began rushing about the deck and howling very much. Once he ran right forward, and got on to one of the catheads, where, in the terrible sea that was raging around, it would have been impossible for a man over to have held on; yet he stood there some time, looking ahead and howling. Afterwards he again began to rush about the decks, and the sailors had to take refuge in the rigging, fearing he would bite them. At last it was resolved to shoot the poor beast, but it was not until he had received six bullets that he gave in; he then crawled inside of a pig-pen, and died shortly afterwards.

In the Import markets very little business of importance transpired to-day: the trade of the week having been for the most part of an unimportant character. Improvement is looked for next month. There have been seasonable rains throughout most parts of the country, and the autumn and winter prospects are fairly favourable. Still the effects of the drought are perceptible in the country traders' accounts, there having been meetings of creditors in two or three small country houses which were unable to weather the storm. Bakers continue to purchase flour but sparingly at the following rates: Adelaide, £8 15s. to £9; South Australian country, £8 5s. to £8 10s.; Victorian, £8 to £8 10s.; New South Wales, £8 10s. to £9; roller-made selling at £9 10s. to £9 15s. The quantity of New South Wales and Adelaide wheat in the market has tended to depress prices, and 3s. 6d. to 3s. 7d. is an outside price for prime samples. Business in tea has been rather quiet. Inquiry has resulted in the quittance of a few trade parcels. With comparatively light stocks of most descriptions, and no further supplies looked for until the new season's shipments in July or August, holders show no uneasiness as to the future of the market, and are unwilling to make concessions to the trade. The quantity in bond has now been reduced to about 1,900,000lb. Coffee is in somewhat better demand, and slightly dearer, say from 8¼d. to 8¾d., the former for ship assortment, the latter for No. 1 Plantation: chicory, 2¼d. Cocoa is selling at 1s. 5½d. to 1s. 5¾d. for Epps' and 1s. 3d. for Fry's homœopathic. There is a fair demand for good white sugar, and prices have slightly hardened; to £26 10s. may be quoted. Good yellow worth £22 to £24; ration sorts in more plentiful supply, and selling from £16, there being no alteration in the value of this description. Dried fruit in limited request: currants, 4½d. to 4¾d., according to quality; elemes, 5¾d. to 6½d.: sultanas offering very cheap. Dairymaid milk is weak at 7s. Business done in Johnson's jams at current rates. Rice dull of sale at £17 10s. to £18 10s., for best descriptions; at £13 10s. to £15 for medium sorts; inferior, from £12. Sago and tapioca are rather dearer, and quoted at 1¾d. to 1½d., according to sample. Pepper, black, 10½d. to 10¾d.; white, 1s. 2½d. There is very little doing in salt; 70s. to 75s. may be quoted for coarse; 85s. to 92s. 6d. for fine; rock, 85s. on the spot, but offering freely to arrive at from 72s. 6d. Fish is dull of sale, and in all lines unchanged in value. D.R.J. candles quoted at 8½d. The market is fairly supplied with outside lines of tobacco, but favourite brands are scarce. The sale is mentioned of 300 packages, including 116 cases 35 tierces Raven 20's, 90 cases Two Seas nailrod, 50 cases Two Seas pocket-pieces, and 9 cases Starlight pocket-pieces. Current rates for Raven Twist are 1s. 4d. to 1s. 5d; and for Two Seas tobaccos, 1s. 4½d. to 1s. 5½d. The demand for brewers' goods has fallen off considerably, and as stocks of both hops and malt are enlarged, late prices are not maintained. Although 1s. 3d. is the nominal quotation for new season's Tasmanian, buyers are unwilling to operate largely at that figure. English malt, 7s. 3d. to 7s. 6d.; colonial, 5s. 6d. to 5s. 9d. In liquors, a moderate trade is being done in best brands of bottled ale at 10s. 6d. and 7s. 6d., quarts and pints respectively; in bulk very little doing. The trade in spirits is generally reported to be very quiet. Hennessey's single-star brandy done at 34s. 6d., and three-star at 46s. 6d. Very little doing in second-class brandy. Lowndes' rum is nominally quoted at 3s. 8d., but nothing beyond trade parcels can be moved at that figure. Red Heart rum, 22s. Geneva quiet at 12s. 6d. Burnett's old tom dull of sale at 11s. 9d. Several of the most favoured of the numerous brands of whisky in the market have had more attention than for some time past, at varying prices. A parcel of Vergniaud clarets placed for export at agent's quotations. In metals, galvanised iron has been selling at remarkably low rates; some lots of outside brands as low as £19; and Gospel Oak at £21 10s. to £22. Sheet lead may be quoted at £14 15s. Fencing wire, No. 8, is rather scarce, and worth from £11 10s. to £12, according to brand; No. 10, £12 15s. In tin plates there has been less trade this week than last, but values are unchanged; the spot price of I.C. Coke may be quoted at 18s. 6d.; to arrive, from 17s. 9d. to 18s.; other descriptions at proportionate figures. For jute goods there is not much demand; 2s. is nominally quoted for woolpacks; 6s. to 6s. 3d. is the value of cornsacks. Drugs are unaltered in value in any line; soda crystals, £6 7s. 6d.; colonial quitted at £6; In oils we notice a firmer feeling with respect to China, holders requiring 3s. 5d. to 3s. 6d. China still cheap, and obtainable at 3s. Raw and boiled done at 2s. 10d. to 3s. 2d., according to brand. The Orient's shipment of quicksilver again places a supply in first hands; 2s. 3d. is required. The bulk of the shipment was landed in Melbourne. Cement in good demand, with sales from 14s. 6d. to 15s. 6d.

Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co., F. L. Barker, John Bridge, Brunker and Wolfe, Mort and Co., Limited, and Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, held their weekly sales of tallow and hides to-day. The quantity of tallow offered was smaller than usual, but the demand was again slack, and late prices were barely maintained. Prime beef, £26 to £26 15s. There was no mutton tallow in the market. For hides there was brisk competition, and prices were on a par with those ruling last week, say to 5½d. for extra heavies, and from 3½d. for light descriptions.

Messrs. R. Goldsbrough and Co., Limited, offered to-day a small catalogue of wool. There was a good attendance of buyers, and competition was brisk, the prices realised comparing favourably with rates now current in London. Greasy brought from 5d. to 9d., the latter price for 12 bales marked WK over D, from the Tumut district. Scoured sold up to 17½d. for medium quality. No washed lots were offered. Sheepskins sold up to 6½d. per lb.

The barque Pacific Slope arrived yesterday from British Columbia, with a full cargo of lumber.

The Customs duties received to-day were as follows:—

Spirits, £1619 0s. 2d.; wine (still), £63 15s.; wine (sparkling), £197 10s.; ale, porter, and beer (in wood), £95; ale, porter, and beer (in bottles), £152 11s. 9d.; tobacco and snuff, £67 13s.; tobacco (unmanufactured), £2 5s.; tobacco (unmanufactured for manufacturing purposes only), £201 19s.; cigars, £79 16s.; tea, £214 8s.; coffee, £9 15s. 8d.; sugar (refined), £17 6s. 8d.; sugar (unrefined), £710 5s. 2d.; dried fruits, £310 6s. 2d.; nuts, £4 14s.; malt, £123 11s.; sarsaparilla, £1 8s. 9d.; specific duty, £1794 3s. 2d.; harbour and light rates, £36 15s. 4d.; pilotage, Sydney, £66 19s. 8d; colonial distilled spirits, £84 1s. 2d; excise on tobacco, £13 8s.; fisheries royalty, £10 17s.; total, £5876 19s. 6d.

There is not much doing in flour. Such parcels as were offered brought up to £7 10s. Wheat is in good request, but few actual sales have come under notice. About 2000 bags were sold at 3s. 8½d. to 3s. 9d., ex station. It is understood that the latter figure has been offered for some good lines without leading to business. 500 bags of maize sold at a full price. There is a good demand for sugars, and a large quantity sold at auction, though at a decline of 10s. to 15s. per ton on recent rates. The entire cargo of the Ebenezer, consisting of 6000 bags of Mauritius, sold from £20 10s. to £21 10s. for greys, to £22 10s. and £23 for crystals. The fact of this sugar being in bags militated against full prices being obtained. In the afternoon the cargo of the Lovebjerte, consisting of 26,270 pockets, was all sold from £20 5s. for greys, to £24 for finest whites. Sales of teas are making steadily at full prices.

SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1885.

Two noteworthy speeches were delivered early in February last in Edinburgh—the one by Lord REAY, before the Associated Societies of the University of Edinburgh; the other by Mr. GOSCHEN, under the auspices of the Rosebery Club. Lord REAY, it will be remembered, was named some time ago as the probable successor of Lord NORMANBY in the Governorship of Victoria, and although he did not accept the office, it is clear, from this statesmanlike speech, that no want of interest in colonial affairs, and no under-estimate of their importance, was the reason why he did not. Mr. GOSCHEN, it is needless to say, is one of the ablest members of the Liberal party, and one of the few whose claims to leadership on Mr. GLADSTONE'S retirement would receive a wide support. Both speakers had clearly in view the new conditions of political life introduced by the last measures of electoral reform; and both insisted that under the new conditions even more than under the old—for the changes in domestic policy come in times of change throughout the world—the great needs of the country were a right understanding of foreign and colonial affairs, and the adoption of a clearly intelligible and sound policy in relation to them.

Nothing could be more directly opposed to the disintegration theories current a few years back than the declarations of Lord REAY. In his view it is the duty of the mother country to strengthen its relations with the colonies, in consideration of both the material and the moral benefits which the connection brings:—

"To our trade, to our finances, to our wage earners, it is obvious that the colonies have been a source of profit; but who will be able to say what we owe to the colonies in moulding our national character, in expanding it, in preventing it from running into the narrow groove in which, more or less, all continental nations move? A distinguished American writer was telling me lately that nothing was more striking than the growth of a feeling of affinity between individual Americans and individual Englishmen, who realised how much they had in common, and how absurd it was to dwell on the points of difference. That applies to the colonies in a higher degree. The more we decentralise in all administrative matters, the more powerful our central power will be. With reference to the colonies we have an entirely different problem to solve. Here the question is to strengthen the relations of each colony towards the Home Government. What is meant by federation is principally that in all those matters in which the interests of the various colonies and of the United Kingdom are identical, there should be joint action. There are questions which are of vital importance to the colonies which may not seem so to us at the first glance; there are other questions which are of primary importance to us. In both cases joint action will naturally be of the greatest benefit. Colonial interests were not distinct from, but essentially identical with, our own. The prosperity of the colonies was so closely interwoven with prosperity at home that it was difficult to determine how they reacted on one another. Very great economic disasters would have befallen us if the colonies had not opened up a splendid field of activity to the most energetic of our countrymen."

In a similar strain spoke Mr. GOSCHEN, who, deprecating any possible repugnance that audiences might feel to having their attention diverted from home questions to colonial and foreign questions, said:—

"I do not know how that may be, but I am here to contend that it is difficult to draw a line, and I am not sure that I could tell you if I wished it where a home question ends and where a colonial question begins. Is the question of our trade not a home question? Is the question of the outlet of our surplus population not a home question? Is the question of markets for our manufacturers not a home question, and a very vital home question, too? And if through our union with the colonies our home prosperity is affected for better or for worse, I am here to contend that you cannot say that any one who speaks upon a colonial question is departing from the circle of subjects which vitally interest all classes of the community. . . . . The question of the united Empire, the question of our colonies, is to a great extent a working man's question. They are deeply interested in the union of our colonies. It is they who supply the chief number of the emigrants who go forth to seek their fortunes beyond the seas; it is they who work at the manufactures that are sold to our Australian fellow-subjects; it is they who would feel the effects if, in the course of the destinies of this country, any calamity should separate us from the colonial empire. And so I say this is a question that cannot be ignored, and that the working classes are ready to take up; and they must hold their statesmen and their public men responsible for attention being paid to our colonial empire. . . . But I should be doing an injustice to this subject of our connection with the colonies if I were to speak only of the material advantages which our working classes will, I believe, gain and retain by the maintenance of our colonial empire. We have duties to the colonies as well as duties to expect from them. We have duties to the subject races in many parts of the world where our flag has been planted, and we cannot, or we will not, say in an hour of danger that we must surrender our position towards those races, or towards those colonists, because we see troubles rising on the horizon. I hope that you have gone with me to this point—that our colonies are to us a matter of Imperial urgency and of Imperial duty, and that we cannot shrink from or shirk those duties."

The keynote of both speeches, however, was the doctrine that, as colonial and home politics are now inseparably connected, so under the new order of things colonial politics and foreign politics merge into each other, and it is essential to the well-being of the Empire that its statesmen should have a right appreciation and a clear understanding of both. It is no longer possible that England should seek security in isolation, or look upon the policy and movements of other countries with indifference. Now that the passion for colonisation has seized them, they are becoming neighbours of Great Britain in all parts of the world. "I do not mean," says Lord REAY, "that we could prevent other Powers from settling in unoccupied parts of the world; but what I mean is that such settlements will raise our foreign and our colonial policy in the future to greater importance than they ever had in the past." A non-aggressive policy, as he pointed out, needs the same watchfulness as an aggressive one; and "in each case the statesman might take a hint from the camel, which gave its rider one chance of mounting, and if the rider missed the chance the beast would not lie down again."

Mr. GOSCHEN also dwelt upon the altered conditions of the times, not only as resulting from the influence of the colonising spirit, but also from the establishment of the German Empire, its relations with Austria and France, and the concentration of influence in Prince BISMARCK'S hands. In days gone by, when in distant parts of the earth England could do what it liked when it liked, things could be suffered to take their course, and there was no urgent need for prompt decision and prompt action. Those days had passed. Mr. GOSCHEN does not attribute to Prince BISMARCK sinister designs against England or its Government, but he says:—

"He is simply—and he is a strong man—decided to have his own way if he possibly can have it. He wishes to remove all obstructions that come in his way, and to remove them very unceremoniously if he finds that the obstructions do not object particularly to be removed. He is a very business-like man; he is a cynical man, and he knows his own mind thoroughly. What I hope is that this country may make up its mind, and know what it wants; and when Prince BISMARCK finds himself face to face with the country which knows what it wants, I do not believe he will be found anything but a business-like, practical, and sharp statesman to deal with. Supposing that you are playing a rubber of whist with a very clever player, and you fumble with your cards before you play, the clever player knows what you have in your hand, and knows what you fumble perfectly well. He is able to know the suit you have got. It is exactly the same with Prince BISMARCK. If he finds any fumbling on the part of his adversary he takes advantage of it. He likes winning points very much; and, besides that, there is a certain satisfaction to a diplomatist and statesman in knowing that he has played a very successful game. I hope this country will not, if I may say so, fumble with its cards too much, but that it will know what card to play at the proper moment."

It is not easy to imagine a more apt illustration of the relations between Prince BISMARCK and Lord GRANVILLE than that contained in this picture of the cool whist-player and his hesitating opponent. There has been gross fumbling on the coast of Africa, and equally gross fumbling in the Pacific, and Germany has won the points, because the English Government has been unable to make up its mind and has shown its hand. And similar results will follow elsewhere unless the direction of England's foreign policy fall into the hands of other men, or a different style of play be adopted. Mr. GOSCHEN casts blame upon no men and upon no party. What he regrets is the traditional tendency of the nation to make large claims, and the disposition, in presence of difficulty, to recede. His advice is that there should be a concentration of effort, an abstinence from attempting more than the country is prepared to carry out, and an absolutely clear view of what is essential to national interest and national duty. "What I am contending for," he says, "is this, that we should have fewer vague and general aspirations and claims, and that we should have more distinct performance in those duties which we have said to be ours, and in vindicating those interests which we have said must be ours. . . . The great danger of putting off our obligations is that they are returned upon us in greater force afterwards. There is a liability which we think we may escape from, and we find a little later that it would have been better had we undertaken that liability at once. There is such a thing as compound interest in politics as well as in trade." Mr. GOSCHEN'S advice to the country is that it should concentrate its claims, that it should be thoroughly clear as to what it does claim, and that it should be prepared with the material force to give its pledges effect. The English Government has been forced by a sense of responsibility to compress its claims within narrower limits than would have been set by irresponsible dependencies; but its position has been weakened by the indefiniteness and instability of its own ideas, and by an unacknowledged consciousness that as to material force it was ill-prepared for serious contingencies.

Yesterday the Iberia, conveying the greater part of the New South Wales Contingent, arrived at Aden, and it is pleasant to hear that so far all has gone well. There have been trivial accidents, small unpleasantnesses, discomfort and annoyance, through defective arrangements; but when it is remembered that the words listened to throughout the preparations were "Haste! haste! all haste!" and that with haste there was a lack of experience, the surprise is, not that a few small slips have occurred, but that great losses have been avoided. The interest of the special message, however, lies in its concluding words,—"We proceed to Suakim." We go to the work for which we volunteered, that is, and we are arrived very close to it. Three days more steaming and the coral harbour of Suakim will be reached, and then—more quickly, perhaps, than had ever been supposed—sharp, stern, and trying work, face to face with the enemy. Day by day we receive news which indicates clearly enough the need of men. General GRAHAM'S army, divided into two parts, is busy quelling the insurrection along the coast, in two directions. General M'NEILL was fighting northward at Hasheen, General GRAHAM at Tamai, and both were opposed to overwhelming odds. Our troops must within a very few days be brigaded with one or other of these divisions, and labouring at the construction of earthworks or zarebas, or repelling charging hordes of Arabs from the positions they are detailed to hold. The thrill of excitement which this first fragment of news must create will subside within the next three days, to be reawakened by louder and louder shocks. From the moment Suakim is reached and our men have marched out to the inspection, and doubtless the approval, of the English commanders, each day's news will have an interest for readers in Australia such as has never been known before. It will not only be the fate of WOLSELEY or of the Soudan which is pending, but of our own honour, our own flesh and blood; and though we may not anticipate heavy loss, and certainly do not for a moment dread disgrace, hope and fear and constant apprehension will produce and maintain a condition of tension and excitability to which each spark of news will come with all the effect of fire to dry fuel. We may expect many blazes of enthusiasm within the next month, and must earnestly hope that the embers be not slaked by too many mourners' tears.

The practice of travelling on the railway line in the guard's van, referred to elsewhere, is one that may be attended with serious results. There are only two or three passenger' trains running daily on the mountain lines. Considerable numbers of visitors stay at Mount Victoria, Blackheath, Katoomba, Wentworth, and other places, and, desiring to pass from one station to another to view the various features of mountain scenery, take advantage of the luggage trains running at convenient hours. It appears that by these they have to travel in the guard's van. It is mentioned that in one instance as many as twenty-five persons, including some school children, were so conveyed. The jolting motion of the train is described as very great, the passengers being frequently in danger of falling and injuring themselves. Government may say that it does not countenance travelling in the guard's van, and that those who travel in it must be responsible for the consequences. Possibly no claim for compensation for loss of life or serious injury would be entertained in a court of law; but for all that, the Government would not be completely exonerated from blame if an accident occurred. It has the power to refuse—as it may indeed be said to be its duty to refuse—to allow passengers to travel on its lines at the risk of injury, more or less serious. The remedy for the condition of things described is to attach a suitable carriage to the luggage trains. Twenty-five passengers would not be a small number to accommodate. Or if the guard's van is to be used, it should be fitted up more conveniently for passengers. It should require no great ingenuity to devise a car that would meet the requirements of a case of this kind—that would serve the public without risk of injury and without loss to the Department.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Orient steamship Iberia, with the infantry portion of the New South Wales Contingent for service in the Soudan, arrived at Aden on Thursday, and in another column will be found a message from our special correspondent on board the steamer. The Government yesterday morning also received a cablegram announcing the arrival of the troops at Aden on Thursday, and stating that they would proceed the same day to Suakim.

THE following telegram has been received from the Agent-General by the Acting Colonial Secretary:—"London, March 25.—Lord Derby has requested Lord Lyons again to urge upon the French Government to omit New Caledonia from the Recidivistes Bill, in accordance with the request of the Agents-General."

THE following is a list of the members of the Legislative Assembly who were in their places on Thursday night when the count-out took place, which virtually closed the session:—Messrs. Abbott, H. H. Brown, Burns, Cameron, Chapman, Cohen, Day, Dibbs, Garrard, Griffiths, Heydon, M'Court, Melville, Sir John Robertson, Slattery, R. B. Smith, Sydney Smith, Hugh Taylor, and Wisdom.

WE learn by telegram that water is very scarce in the Wilcannia district, and it is thought the Government should at once make tanks.

THE boring of the strata through which the tunnelling for the city railway will have to be driven having been completed, the Railway Department are now engaged in the preparation of detail plans for the extension of the railway to Circular Quay.

THE following notification from the Colonial Treasurer was issued yesterday as a supplement to the Government Gazette:—"It is hereby notified, for general information, that the boat-race regulations made by the Marine Board of New South Wales, and approved by his Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, and published in the Government Gazette of 27th February ultimo, shall be in force and shall be applicable to the boat race for the championship of the world between William Beach and Edward Hanlan, advertised to be rowed on the Parramatta River, between Charity Point and 'The Brothers,' between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m. of Saturday next, the 28th instant."

THE Acting-Superintendent of Telegraphs (Mr. P. B. Walker) informs us that similar telegraphic arrangements to those made on the occasion of the last boat race have been completed for to-day's sculling contest for the championship of the world, so that the public, not only of the metropolis, but the whole colony, will be in possession of the result of the great event almost immediately after the finish. Spectators are requested not to crowd round the telegraph instrument, as the crush will greatly impede the operators.

IN a supplement to the Government Gazette, published yesterday, the arrangements are stated for the issue of excursion tickets and the running of special trains during the Easter holidays. On the Western and Southern railways tickets at excursion rates will be issued at all stations to all stations for distances over 15 miles, commencing with the mail trains on Monday, 30th March, and terminating on Monday, 6th April, available for return for distances not exceeding 40 miles until Wednesday, 8th April, and for distances over 40 miles until Monday, the 13th April. For distances not exceeding 15 miles similar tickets will be issued from 3rd April till 6th April, 1885, inclusive, available for return on the day of issue only. Excursion tickets, available for return for two months, will also be issued from the 30th March to the 6th April, inclusive, between Sydney and Melbourne, at the undermentioned rates:—First-class, £5 6s. 6d.; second-class, £4 1s. These tickets will not be available by express trains, and passengers wishing to travel on either journey by express trains must pay the full difference between the ordinary and reduced rates.

IN the Jury Court yesterday, the action Kellett v. Saber and another, to recover £396 15s. 1d., balance of account for services rendered in the erection of six houses near Waterloo, the jury returned a verdict for the amount claimed. In Hart versus Hill, which was an action to recover compensation for injuries sustained on the Newtown-road, owing to the alleged negligent driving of defendant, the jury found in favour of plaintiff, with £100 damages. In the Banco Court the only case heard was that of Stuart and others v. Watson and another, and the evidence was not concluded when the Court adjourned. The action is one brought by Messrs. Towns and Co. against Frazer and Co., to recover the value of 6000 slates alleged to have been short-delivered by the defendants. His Honor the Primary Judge sat in Equity, and disposed of a number of general motions. One important matter, Walker and others v. Gipps, which involves a question as to the legality of a mining company, stands part heard for Monday.

THE annual general meeting of the Sydney University Union was held at the University last night. There was a good attendance of graduates and undergraduates, and the chair was occupied by Professor Scott. Mr. W. P. Cullen, LL.B., acted as secretary in the absence of Mr. C. J. King (hon. secretary). The annual report was read, and showed that the Union was in a very satisfactory state. The report was adopted. The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place as follows:—President, Professor Scott; vice-presidents, Messrs. W. P. Cullen, LL.B.; W. Edmunds, LL.B.; A. B. Piddington, B.A.; G. E. Rich, B.A.; H. E. Barff, M.A.; and J. F. Mullins, M.A. Executive committee: Messrs. H. E. Crooker, B.A.; Copland King, B.A.; C. J. Jenkins, and L. F. Neill. Hon. secretary, Mr. H. A. Russell; hon. treasurer, Mr. E. J. Loxton. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers, on the motion of Mr. W. N. Montagu, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

AT the Town Hall, this afternoon, the Art Society of New South Wales will hold the private view which initiates their sixth annual exhibition, and the customary art union will be drawn. The pictures accepted and hung are of unusual merit, and the exhibition should be well patronised during the next fortnight.

BY the steamship Gulf of Mexico, which arrived in Port Jackson on Thursday, 582 persons joined our population. They consisted of 35 married couples, 102 single men, 182 single women, and 168 children under 12 years of age; and immediately on arrival 19 women and 54 children were discharged. Miss Chicken, the matron in charge of the female immigrants, did such excellent service during the voyage—about the fiftieth she has made to Australia—that Dr. Huxtable, the surgeon superintendent, wrote to her a special letter of thanks. At 11 a.m. to-day about 50 of the single women will be available for hire at the Hyde Park depot, and on Monday the married couples and the single men will, at Fort Macquarie, offer themselves for engagement.

AN eclipse of the moon, visible in New South Wales, will occur on the night of the 30th-31st instant. Although set down as a partial one, it will be nearly total, a small portion only of the moon's northern edge being unobscured. The following are the Sydney mean times of the different phases:—First contact with the penumbra, 30d. 11h. 54.6m. p.m.; first contact with the shadow, 31d. 1h. 3.5m. a.m.; middle of the eclipse, 31d. 2h. 39.0m. a.m.; last contact with the shadow, 31d. 4h. 14.5m. a.m.; last contact with the penumbra, 31d. 5h. 23.4 a.m. The first contact with the shadow will occur on the south-east, and the last contact on the south-west quadrant of the moon's circumference. According to the Chaldean Saros this is (Mr. John Tebbutt informs us) a return of the eclipse which occurred on March 20, 1867. On that occasion, however, the early part of the phenomenon was not seen at Sydney, and the moon did not penetrate quite so deeply into the earth's shadow.

A MEETING of the City of Sydney Improvement Board was held at the rooms in Castlereagh-street yesterday afternoon. Present: Messrs. Benjamin Backhouse (in the chair), F. Senior, W. Bailey, Dr. Craig Dixon, Mr. T. H. Sapsford (city building surveyor), and Mr. F. C. Rooke (secretary). The only business dealt with was the consideration of a report upon the unsafe condition of an awning in connection with premises situated at 310, George-street. It was resolved that the city building surveyor should be instructed to thoroughly examine the awning in question as to its structural efficiency and soundness, and if found to be defective, order it to be forthwith pulled down.

A GENERAL meeting of the Shipmasters' and Officers' Association was held last night at the rooms, in Bridge-street, Captain J. H. Amore in the chair. Minutes and correspondence were read and adopted. The following resolution was adopted:—"That in the opinion of this meeting the lightship or other obstruction should not be placed off Bradley's Head, as the waters of that part of the harbour are sufficiently contracted for the purpose of navigation and that such opinion be forwarded to the Marine Board for their consideration." It was decided that a committee be appointed, to sit on Monday at 1 p.m., to take into consideration the appointment of trustees for the widows' and orphans' fund and other matters of importance. Considerable discussion of a desultory nature then ensued with regard to wages and the affairs of the society. The subject of the dismissal of an officer from a steamboat without cause was referred to the committee to be dealt with. Messrs. William Thomas Funge and A. Easton were nominated for election. Accounts were passed for payment, and the meeting then adjourned until the 13th of April.

AT St. Andrew's Cathedral there will be, throughout Passion Week, in addition to the usual morning service at 11 a.m., evening service (choral) at 7.30 p.m.; and on Good Friday, besides the morning and evening services, there will be a special service, at 3.15 p.m., of "Meditations on the Seven Words from the Cross," conducted by the Primate. A special course of Passiontide and Easter sermons will be delivered by the Primate at the afternoon services on Palm Sunday and Easter Day, and at the evening services through the week. The subjects will be: "The Manifold Power of the Cross, as seen in its message to the sinner, to the inquirer, to the penitent, to the Soldier of Christ, and to the dying saint; the rest in the world unseen; and the Gospel of the Resurrection."

THE friends of Canon Kemmis will be pleased to hear that a telegram has been received from him stating that he has arrived at Port Said, en route for England, having had a good passage so far, and that he is in good health.

ON Tuesday last the Rev. H. T. Robjohns, B.A., visited St. Leonards in the interests of the British and Foreign Bible Society. There was a drawing-room meeting in the afternoon, and in the evening the annual meeting was held in the Wesleyan school-room. This branch raises nearly £70 for the society. Dr. Ward presided at the meeting, and the speakers were the Rev. S. H. Childe, B.A., Rev. Mr. Bryant, and Rev. Mr. Robjohns. On Thursday the annual meeting of the Bible Society was held at Ryde. Mr. R. R. Terry presided, and the following took part in the meeting:—Rev. W. Lumsdaine, Rev. W. Witcombe, Rev. W. Davis, Rev. Mr. O'Connor, and Rev. Mr. Robjohns. The friends of the society at Ryde raise nearly £20, and the collection on Thursday evening amounted to £2 10s. 3d.

MR. JOHN WOODS, who has just returned from a tour in the old country, was yesterday very cordially entertained at the City Club. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. T. F. Thompson. After proposing the toast of "Her Majesty the Queen," which was received with great enthusiasm, the president, in a happily-conceived and well-delivered speech, proposed "The health of Mr. John Woods," remarking upon his sterling qualities as a colonist, and the satisfaction with which his safe return was welcomed. The toast was drunk with continued cheering, and in responding to it Mr. Woods made some pertinent remarks in reference to his tour, and contrasted the advantages enjoyed under the British flag with the condition of things under foreign rule. Some other toasts were proposed, including "The Visitors" and "Captain Johnson and the officers of the Salazie" (in which ship Mr. Woods had a pleasant trip). They were well received, and responded to in appropriate terms.

MR. O. C. BEALE, of the firm of Messrs. Beale and Co., of Pitt-street, being about to proceed to Europe, the employees of his establishment waited upon him a few days ago and presented him with a massive album, in which was enclosed an illuminated address, expressing the high esteem and goodwill of his employees, and wishing him a pleasant and successful journey to Europe.

A SPLENDID specimen of a death-adder was brought to this office by Mr. A. N. Howe, of Botany, yesterday afternoon. It measured 2 feet 1½ inch from head to tail, and it had as many as 27 beautifully-marked stripes, of a delicate brown shade, on its back. It is said to be the largest ever caught in the district, where they appear to abound, as three others have been caught there this week. Mr. Howe intends to present the adder to the Museum, where it ought to prove a great attraction.

AT the request of the ratepayers of Leichhardt, a meeting was convened by the Mayor on Tuesday evening last to consider the question of tram fares, with a view to their reduction. The meeting was commenced in the council-chamber, but the attendance was so great that it was deemed advisable to adjourn to the open air; and accordingly the meeting took place in front of the council-chambers, the speakers addressing the people from the balcony. The Mayor, Alderman John Young, presided; and among the gentlemen present who spoke were Messrs. F. Abigail and Hutchinson, M.L.A., F. Walsh, J. S. Hawthorn, W. B. Wragge, W. C. Weal, R. Moore, D. Williams, and Hyde. Resolutions were unanimously carried to the effect that the Government be urged to reduce the tram fares to the original charge, and if possible adopt the system of penny fares, so that the public would thereby only pay for the actual distance travelled. A deputation was appointed to bring the matter under the notice of the Minister for Works.

THE adjourned fortnightly meeting of the Parramatta Borough Council was held yesterday morning. Reports from the finance, water, and improvement committees were adopted. A letter was read from the Department of Public Works, stating that the council's application for an increased grant for expenditure in that portion of the main Western-road, which the Government proposed to hand over to the council, running through the municipality, could not be complied with. A letter was also read from the council's solicitor, advising the council not to purchase a certain block of land negotiated for, as the title was unsatisfactory. There were only two motions on the paper. One was ruled out of order, and the other lapsed in the absence of the alderman who was to move it. It was stated, in reply to a question by Alderman Byrnes, that the Minister for Works had not fixed a date on which to receive a deputation from the council in reference to a system of sewerage for Parramatta. The address of condolence to the widow of the late Alderman James Pye was read, and the Mayor and several of the aldermen affixed their signatures to it. This concluded the business.

PRIZE-TAKERS at the Parramatta Juvenile Exhibition will be glad to learn that the medals are to hand, ready for distribution. They are of bronze and silver respectively. The design is pretty and significant, and the motto on the obverse appropriate.

A CORRESPONDENT says that it is a very common practice for visitors at Mount Victoria, Blackheath, Katoomba, and other mountain stations, to travel by the luggage trains from one station to another to view the different features of interest on the line; and they have to put up with such accommodation as the guard's van affords. In one instance, he says nearly 20 people got into the van at Wentworth. Half-a-dozen more, including four school children, were added to the number at Katoomba, making 25 in all. The jolting of the train was very great at the different starting-places and at the numerous curves on the line, and it was extremely difficult for most of the passengers who had to stand to keep on their feet, one or two, in fact, being thrown down. With the doors open, there was some danger of persons being pitched out, and the guard and passengers had frequently to caution the children. The guard was obliging, and occasionally, when a jolt was imminent, warned passengers to "Hold on"—a rather difficult job, as there was very little for some to hold on by. Everyone accepted the situation cheerfully, including four English visitors, who were "doing the mountains." The writer says that the conveyance of passengers in this way is certainly not a safe proceeding.

THE sittings of the Central Criminal Court were continued at the Darlinghurst Courthouse yesterday. A number of prisoners who had been remanded were sentenced. The prisoner Thomas Meredith Sheridan was sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude in connection with the Glebe abortion case, and 10 years' penal servitude in connection with the Petersham abortion case, five years of the latter sentence to be concurrent, thus making the term of imprisonment 15 years in all. The prisoner Bell was sentenced to eight years' penal servitude; and the prisoner Bae, concerned with Sheridan in the Petersham abortion case, received a sentence of five years' penal servitude. John Jones, James Kelly, and Michael Healey, who were found guilty on the previous day of having maliciously wounded Constable Stove at Bondi on Boxing Day, were each sentenced to eight years' penal servitude. Thomas Charles Edwards, for forgery and uttering, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in Goulburn gaol. The Sussex-street tragedy, in which James Alfred Chapman and his wife, Sarah Ann Chapman, were charged with having murdered an old man named John Thomas, was then dealt with. The prisoners were defended by Mr. O'Ryan. The male prisoner was acquitted. The female prisoner was convicted of manslaughter, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

ON Wednesday evening the Naval Brigade mustered in considerable force on board the Wolverene for gun drill, under Commander Lindeman, R.N., assisted by Mr. Rickwood, gunnery instructor. The whole of the guns were manned and cast loose, and drill was carried on for over an hour. Surprise was expressed by onlookers at the great proficiency shown by the men, considering that it was the first time they had had the opportunity of working together on board this ship; but it must be remembered that more than half the crews are comprised of trained men from different men-of-war on this station who have purchased their discharges from time to time to settle down here. It is understood that there are plenty of men in the brigade to man and work the Wolverene efficiently without any assistance whatever, and it is confidently expected that at Easter they will give a good account of themselves under the supervision of their able head, Captain Hixson, R.N.

HEAVY LOSSES OF THE REBELS.

THE GENERAL ADVANCE FROM SUAKIM.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, MARCH 26.

Intelligence from Suakim states that a Mr. Marchant, a resident of Adelaide, who is serving in the Royal Marines, has been wounded in the leg in one of the recent engagements with the Arabs.

MARCH 27.

The Arabs are making incessant attacks on the British convoys. In each encounter the rebels have lost heavily, and even women have fallen in the fight.

The wound sustained by Marchant, of the Marines, is not of a serious character.

The troopship Iberia, with the New South Wales contingent on board, reached Aden at 1 p.m. on Thursday, and sailed again for Suakim at 8 p.m. the same day. The British troops at Suakim hope that the New South Wales Contingent will be able to join in the general advance on Tamai.

(FROM REUTER'S SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

SUAKIM, MARCH 25.

Another attack was made to-day by a large body of Arabs on a convoy which was on its way to the zareba on the Tamai-road, where desperate fighting took place on Sunday last. The onslaughts of the enemy in all cases were successfully repulsed, their loss amounting to fully 100; but the British loss did not exceed three wounded in all.

Every preparation is being made here for the general advance of the British forces under Sir Gerald Graham. It is expected the march will be commenced in about three days from the present time.

ARRIVAL OF THE N. S. W. CONTINGENT AT ADEN.

THE TROOPS IN GOOD HEALTH.

THE DEPARTURE FOR SUAKIM.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT WITH THE CONTINGENT.)

THE IBERIA, ADEN, THURSDAY, MARCH 26.

We have accomplished the greater portion of our voyage, having arrived at Aden to-day about noon. The passage has been a most enjoyable one, and we are all in good health and spirits. During the voyage the troops have been daily exercised, and strict discipline has been observed, the consequence being that the men have become far more soldierly in habit and appearance. It has not, however, been all hard work, as the means of recreation provided on board have been amply availed of, and the voyage has thus been relieved of any approach to monotony and dulness. The military spirit among the men appears to increase daily, and our arrival at Aden was looked forward to with much anxiety, as there we hoped to receive news of the progress of events at the seat of war. The weather has been very warm, but not as bad as we had been led to anticipate it would be. Some trouble was caused through the apparent carelessness or inexperience shown in the packing of the cargo, the various packages getting into a state of confusion. The commissariat department has given thorough satisfaction, the men expressing themselves much pleased with the good quality of the fare they received. The present of fruit we received from the South Australian people proved most acceptable. It was both plentiful and good, and lasted us well into the voyage. The sleeping accommodation was not perhaps as perfect as one might have desired, but it was fairly good, and no grave complaint can be urged against it. It was some time before the horses got accustomed to their novel stalls; but they have by this time thoroughly settled down, and take the motion of the vessel quite as a matter of course. They look in excellent condition, and this fact is one upon which we congratulate ourselves the more, since the stabling arrangements certainly cannot be characterised as good.

Whilst, as I have stated, the discipline on board has, upon the whole, been very good, there have been some petty cases of misconduct dealt with, one court-martial having been held since we left Sydney.

A couple of accidents have occurred on board. Sergeant F. Dransfield, of A Company, has broken one of his ankles, and Private Paring one day, whilst the vessel was wearing, by an accident received an injury to his spine. Both men have been invalided.

During the voyage, Surgeon-Major Williams and Surgeon Proudfoot have been busily engaged instructing the Ambulance Corps in its duties, and a number of very instructive lectures have been delivered with regard to medical and surgical matters. The officers in command of the signalling corps have also been busily engaged instructing the men in their duties, and classes have been formed for that purpose. Revolver and sword drill have formed part of the daily round of duty, and the infantry have been drilled on deck each day the weather permitted, though of course such drill in a limited space is necessarily very incomplete. The valises and kits have been the cause of much trouble.

Taken on the whole, the result of the drills has been fairly satisfactory, though there is yet much room for improvement. We go on to Suakim to-day.

BLAYNEY, FRIDAY.

Last night a meeting was held here to consider the advisability of forming a branch of the Patriotic Fund. Mr. John Glasson, Mayor of Blayney, presided. Alderman C. Cooper moved the following resolution:—"That this meeting cordially approves of the recent action of the Government in despatching troops to the Soudan." This was seconded by the Rev. Canon Blacket in a vigorous and eloquent speech. An amendment was moved by Mr. S. Marsden, and seconded by Mr. H. Jenkins, declaring that the action of the Government was unconstitutional and uncalled for. The resolution was carried by an overwhelming majority, amidst cheers. Mr. Callen then moved,—"That a branch of the Patriotic Fund be established in Blayney, and that Mr. R. G. Smith be joint secretary and treasurer." Alderman J. Russell seconded the motion. Alderman Palmer moved an amendment,—"That the meeting deems the establishment of a branch Patriotic Fund to be premature and unnecessary." This was seconded by Mr. John Rinson. The resolution was again carried by a vast majority. Three cheers were given for the Queen, and three for Mr. Dalley.

TWO CHINESE CORVETTES SUNK BY TORPEDOES.

Advices received to-day state that the French force under General Negrier operating in the vicinity of Langson, encountered a large body of Chinese, and met with a repulse. General Negrier was consequently obliged to return to Dongsong, where he had previously captured the Chinese entrenched camp on February 5. General Negrier lost altogether 200 men.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

The steamer Taiwan, which arrived at Cooktown yesterday, from Hongkong March 4, brings the following particulars of a torpedo engagement between the Chinese and French warships:—The North China Daily News states that the tugboat Fuhlee arrived at Shanghai from Shepoo on the 18th February, and reports that on the 15th, on arrival at Montague Island, she came upon a French fleet cruising. She was immediately boarded by a steam launch from the admiral's ship, Bayard, and the officers in charge of the launch refused to give any intelligence as to what had been done, or the whereabouts of the Chinese fleet. The Fuhlee was allowed to proceed next morning, and she entered Shepoo roads, where there were seen two vessels of the Chinese fleet wrecked, one of which was the 23-gun frigate Yu Yuen. At that time she was standing upright, with her sails bent and her pennant flying. At a little distance lay the other vessel, the Cheng Ching, heeled over to starboard, also with her pennant flying, while a steam launch, half filled, lay upon the beach. The inhabitants of the village had already begun to plunder the unfortunate vessels. The mizzen-topsail of the Yu Yuen had been cut away, and the spanker was partly gone. On shore, some of the villagers were busily engaged in hauling up one of the hatches from off the vessel. The crew were found wretchedly housed in the village, and from their appearance and statement it was evident that they had been received with disgraceful inhospitality. The villagers had tried their utmost to prevent the shipwrecked men from landing, and it was only by their superior numbers and a display of firearms that the men-of-warsmen were able to induce their fellow-countrymen to receive them and offer them shelter. Among the crew on shore was Mr. Richardson, chief-engineer of Vice-Admiral Ting's ship, the only foreigner on board of the ill-fated vessel. The Fuhlee took on board Mr. Richardson and about a dozen of the crew from the vessels, but during the night, while the tugboat lay in Shepoo roads, the electric light from one of the French vessels was plainly seen, and about half of the Chinese men-of-warsmen, who had gone on board, left for the shore, fearing lest the Fuhlee, on her way back to Shanghai, should fall into the hands of the French. The Fuhlee left on Tuesday morning, the French fleet being then invisible. She arrived here about 22 hours later, when we were enabled to gather the following particulars of the engagement which ended so disastrously for the Yu Yuen and Cheng Ching:—The Chinese fleet, or relief squadron, comprising the Nanshan and Ninshui, German built, rams, the Kaichi, Yu Yuen, and Cheng Ching, left Shanghai on the 23rd of January for the ostensible purpose of raising the blockade of Formosa. Instead of pursuing that object, they made slow progress down the coast till they got to Shepoo roads, keeping west instead of going east, and the morning of the 13th found the fleet anchored inside of Montague Island. They got up steam at 5 o'clock in the morning, and got under way at 6 o'clock, bound for Chusan. Immediately after entering and rounding the southern end of the island, the French fleet were reported in sight, and they prepared for action. The Chinese Admiral from the Kaichi signalled "south," and the fleet started at full speed in that direction; the Ninshui, Nanshan, and Kaichi leading, the Cheng Ching following and steering to go outside, the Yu Yuen, a much slower vessel than the others, bringing up the rear. The French, seeing this, crowded in between, and tried to cut off the Yu Yuen from the rest of the fleet. As she rounded the southern end of the island, the weather being hazy, the Yu Yuen lost sight of her comrades, while the French fleet followed her closely in line, the largest of their vessels, the Triomphant, being in the van. The Chen Ching, Vice-Admiral Ting's ship, found herself unable to keep up with the Ninshui, Nanshan, and Kaichi, and accordingly gave up the attempt, and steered the same course as the Yu Yuen, passing ahead of her, and taking the lead in entering the narrow strait to the westward of the island. The Yu Yuen is really only a nine-knot vessel, but by the use of extreme expedients she was forced to a speed of 12 knots. The tide being fortunately then right, both this ship and the Cheng Ching were enabled to pass into the narrow strait where the Frenchman could not follow. Had they remained outside, however, there is little doubt that their fate would have been the same, with the exception that the crews would have been lost instead of getting ashore, to become dependent upon the tender mercies of their inhospitable countrymen. By this time the French fleet had given up the chase after the Ninshui, Nanshan, and Kaichi, and turned all their attention upon the other two vessels. At 10 o'clock on the same morning the Yu Yuen and Cheng Ching anchored off Sheipoo village, and remained there during the whole of that day. At 10 o'clock at night three torpedo boats from the French fleet entered by the middle pass and tried to reach them, but after an hour's firing they were driven off, the Chinese using both large and machine guns. About 4 o'clock on the morning of the 15th a number of fishing boats coming home for the new year dropped up with the tide, and came alongside of the Yu Yuen, two or three of them coming suspiciously near. When hailed from the man-of-war the occupants replied in Chinese, and all at once when the fishing boats were within half a ship's length of the Yu Yuen two torpedo boats darted from between them, and before anything could be done to prevent them they shot underneath, so close that no gun could be depressed sufficiently to reach them. The three torpedo boats reached the frigate at the same time, but the torpedoes from one of them failed to explode. She immediately steered for the Cheng Ching, leaving the frigate to her comrade, when the latter came so close under the stern of the Yu Yuen that the chief gunner, being unable to use his gun, and having no rifle handy, reached out of the port and knocked down one Frenchman with a gun-sponge. The French, however, succeeded in exploding a torpedo under the frigate's bottom. The shock was most terrific, and seemed to lift the ship bodily out of the water. During the whole of the brief time that the boats were within firing distance the Chinese kept up a perfect hail of shots from rifles and pistols, the French returning the fire with revolvers. A bullet from one of these entered the breast of a sailor on one of the yards of the Yu Yuen. This is said to have been the only casualty on the part of the Chinese, though the Chinese speak positively as to there having been some loss of life on the part of the French, apart from the torpedo boat, which is supposed to have been sunk. The Cheng Ching was exploded by a torpedo at the same time, and both vessels gradually filled, the Cheng Ching gradually settling and heeling over as the tide fell, while the Yu Yuen remained afloat until half-past 8 in the morning, when she steadily sank. All the men got safely ashore, with the exception of the second engineer of the Yu Yuen, who was drowned by the accidental capsizing of one of the boats. Order was given to land as soon as the ships began to sink. Ah Yung being the last man to leave the frigate. The men were most inhospitably received, but by dint of force effected a landing and obtained shelter until half-past 8 that evening. The passage was lighted by the electric light from the French vessels, and the launch appeared provided with a light, her apparent purpose being to see the effect of the morning's work and to satisfy herself that the work had been successfully accomplished and the vessels destroyed. While there are no two opinions with regard to the conduct of the Chinese admiral in giving orders to run away and allowing the three faster vessels to desert their two slow and obsolete comrades, it does not appear that any blame can be attached to the commanders of the Cheng Ching and Yu Yuen, left as they were to protect themselves, and being unable to escape by speed. There is little doubt that if any other course had been taken than that adopted, the vessels would still have been destroyed and very considerable loss of life incurred. According to accounts received, nothing could have been done better than the defence offered by the Chinese to the torpedo boats, considering the great disadvantage they were placed at by inky darkness of night and the absence of search-lights.

COOKTOWN, FRIDAY.

The steamship Iolani, which arrived here to-day from Hongkong, brings files to 3rd instant.

Langson was reached by the French, who completely routed the Chinese, on the 13th ultimo, after severe fighting. Vast stores fell into the hands of the French. On the 13th Admiral Courbet with six vessels sighted a Chinese squadron of five vessels off Sheipoo and gave chase. Three Chinese cruisers, doing 15 and 16 knots, gave him the slip, and are now ensconsed in Ningpo harbour; but a wooden corvette and a cruiser were compelled to turn into Sheepoo harbour, where they were completely hemmed in and attacked by torpedo boats sent from the French flagship, and their destruction accomplished.

An eye-witness of the fighting at Keelung on the 3rd February reports that 1800 French troops were engaged. An attempt was made on the first day to turn the flank of the Chinese, who held a strong entrenched position. The troops were obliged to withdraw at sunset, but on the following day the attack was renewed, and the position eventually taken by assault, the French troops advancing through a swamp, sinking to the knees in mud, and, after scaling the entrenchment, attacked with the bayonet. During the following two days they advanced, and occupied two other strong positions. The French loss altogether was two officers killed, two officers wounded, and 50 men killed and wounded. The Chinese loss is uncertain; they say 200 killed and wounded. The Chinese fought remarkably well.

On the 23rd instant the French Minister, M. Patenotre, at Shanghai, declared rice contraband of war and liable to seizure. Great consternation was aroused, but relief was felt owing to Great Britain declaring that she cannot assent. Three British-owned steamers cautiously unloaded rice they had taken in.

The French fleet bombarded the Chinese forts at Chinhai, at the mouth of the Ningpo, on the 3rd instant. The forts are heavily armed and well protected.

Langsoi is occupied by the French.

4000 French reinforcements passed through Singapore on their way to Tonquin and Formosa.

French men-of-war have seized the island of Paotoo, Chutan group, with a view of converting it into a base for vessels operating in the north.

A very imperfect blockade of Formosa is being maintained by the French ships. 2500 Chinese soldiers have been taken from the mainland to the island. A large foreign steamer ran the blockade with much ease. A large torpedo boat has been launched for the Chinese at Shanghai to steam 19 knots.

Five vessels are engaged in the attack on Chinhai. The Chinese report that a French vessel was disabled. A telegram from General Briere Del'Isle, at Langson, states that the national flag was hoisted on 13th upon Langson citadel. The river was crossed and Kilna occupied. The Chinese army has been in full retreat since last night after a fierce combat eight kilometres in advance of this place. Torpedoes are laid down in the river to prevent the French coming overland, and down that river a strict scrutiny is kept.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

A meeting of the Metropolitan Shires Group was held at the Exchange to-day, when resolutions were passed in favour of inducing the Government to place a sum of money on the Estimates for the purpose of resuming the immigration of a suitable class of farm labourers and domestic female servants, and affirming that it is necessary to encourage the erection of other than log or brush fences, which harbour rabbits. It was also desirable that the duty on wire netting should be removed.

Mr. Bosisto, M.L.A., chemist, as requested by the Minister of Agriculture, has reported upon the proposed mercurial remedy of Mr. J. A. Bauer for phylloxera. Mr. Bosisto says that the remedy would, in his opinion, prove most expensive, and would eventually turn out worthless. The Minister of Agriculture has, in accordance with a promise given to a deputation of vignerons from Geelong, appointed a board to inquire into the whole question as to the advisability of replanting vines in the Geelong district. The board will consist of Messrs. Harris and Bosisto, M's.L.A., Dr. L. L. Smith, and two gentlemen nominated respectively by the Melbourne and Geelong Vinegrowers' Associations. The Geelong district will be visited and carefully inspected, and the fullest inquiries will be made with the view of ascertaining whether the replanting of vines may be permitted without running any serious risk of promoting another outbreak of phylloxera. The colonies of New South Wales and South Australia, which have contributed towards the expense of eradicating the phylloxera in the Geelong district, are deeply interested in the question, and it is recognised by our Government that their wishes must be consulted in the matter before any important step is taken.

The adjourned inquest was held to-day on the body of Gheasche, the militiaman who was shot at the rifle butts last Saturday. According to the evidence given, the deceased must have been shot either by someone in the squad in which he himself was firing at the 300 yards range, or by another squad at the 600 yards range, but there was nothing more definite. A verdict was recorded that the deceased was shot, but there was no evidence to show who fired the shot.

A soiree and ball were given on board of the M.M.S. Oceanien to-night, by Captain Didier, to about 250 ladies and gentlemen. The proceedings were very enjoyable.

Mr. George Augustus Sala delivered a lecture to-night in the Town Hall on "Shows and Pageants" which he had seen. He gave a graphic description of the Queen's Coronation; the funeral procession in Paris of the ashes of the First Napoleon; the opening of the Exhibition of 1851; the funerals of the Duke of Wellington, Prince Albert, Ex-Emperor of the French, Alexander II. of Russia; the marriages of the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and Prince Leopold; the coronation of Alexander III. at Moscow, and various other grand ceremonials. The lecturer was listened to with close attention, and was rewarded with much applause.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

The Supreme Court Judgeship vacant by the death of Mr. Justice Pring has been offered to Mr. J. F. Garrick, Agent-General. The Government telegraphed to him to-day to that effect. It is not intended to temporarily fill the office, pending the permanent appointment. Should Mr. Garrick accept this position his elevation to the Bench would meet with general approval.

Bishop and Mrs. Hall left for Sydney per Ly-ee-moon (s.), en route for England to-day. A large crowd of friends assembled to see them off.

A man named Frederick Henry Warner was committed for trial to-day for attempted suicide. It appears that Warner, who had been drinking rather heavily, went home yesterday afternoon, and, after some words with his wife, took out a penknife and stabbed himself in the left breast, on the right side of the abdomen, and three times in the right leg. The wounds are not considered dangerous.

During the winter months last year, the mortality among the Pacific Islanders employed on the sugar plantations in North Queensland was so great as to attract the attention of the Immigration Department. In May and June the deaths numbered from 250 to 300, but since that time there has been a marked decrease, and the attention of the department has not since been called to the subject. A greater number of deaths in the past have occurred in the Mackay district; but some of the plantations in the neighbourhood of Townsville have lately been gaining unenviable notoriety in this respect. At Kalamia and Ayrmillan, on the Lower Burdekin, there has been a death almost every second day since the new year. The causes of death are principally phthisis, inflammation of the lungs, and dysentery.

The new gunboat, Gayundah, arrived here to-day.

Mr. Mowbray, mining commissioner at Herberton, telegraphs to the Under-Secretary for Mines that about 40 Chinese are reported to be working on alluvial gold near the Cairns track, 25 miles from Herberton, and a European rush is expected to-morrow. The discovery of alluvial tin also is reported between Irvine Bank and Watsonville, which is rumoured to be very rich.

Captain Dickson, of the labour schooner May Queen, which was recently ordered back by the Government agent for a breach of the regulations, has been debarred from any further employment in the labour trade.

The third annual meeting of the shareholders of Perkins' Brewery Company, Limited, was held to-day. The directors' report, recommending a 15 per cent. dividend for the past half-year, was adopted. Mr. B. D. Morehead was re-elected a director, on the motion of Mr. John Blyth, of Melbourne.

The weather is fine.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

A large deputation, appointed by the Tariff Revision Association, representing various trades, interviewed the Treasurer to-day to support the revised tariff, chiefly comprising the 20 per cent. duties. The speakers urged the increase of duties, so as to give occupation and promote the national good. They denied that protection increased the price of articles, and referred to Victoria in support of their statement. The Treasurer replied that he regretted the depression and the perilous times through which the colony was passing, and if he thought that protection would prove a remedy for the evils, he would not hesitate to advocate it. He had considered the revision of the tariff with the view of encouraging local industries. He had prepared a tariff, which he would shortly submit to his colleagues, and he believed it would foster local industries to a certain extent. He believed that this could be done as well by a wise discrimination in the admission of articles free from duty as by putting on a highly protective rate. With the large power of production which the colony possessed, and its great resources, he had no doubt of the ultimate prosperity of the colony, and that it would become the home of a large population.

Mr. Stow, third son of the late Judge Stow, died to-day, aged 21. His death was the result of a collision with another cricketer on the Oval ten days ago from which he never recovered consciousness.

At a meeting of the Agricultural Society to-day it was decided to request the Government to withhold their consent to the Geelong vineyards being replanted, as the suckers from the uprooted vines showed signs of the phylloxera pest. The society also submitted a report to recommend the passing of an Act proclaiming sparrow districts, and giving the authorities of such districts power to levy rates, to be employed in the destruction of the birds, and also that pending such Act the Government be asked to continue payment for spurious heads and eggs. The decision on the report was deferred.

There is every prospect of a good muster of volunteers at the Easter encampment. The Rifle Volunteer Force at Balaclava, and several of the members of the Volunteer Military Force will also attend. So far 250 men have been secured. The scene of the operations is an excellent one for the display of military tactics.

Arrived: Fern, from Kaipara; Amazon, from Gefle; Amir, from Lyttelton.

PORT DARWIN, FRIDAY.

The following telegram was received to-day from the Katherine from Mr. W. J. O'Donnell, the leader of the Kimberley exploration party:—"I am sorry that I cannot give you the particulars of the trip which I must first report in Melbourne. During the trip I discovered splendid pastoral country near the north-west coast, crossed with numerous creeks and rivers. Daily rains set in during the month of December, heavy floods which stopped us. The blacks are not numerous, but they showed hostility near the coast, and compelled us to fire in self-defence. I did not see Mr. Stockdale's tracks west of Cambridge Gulf, and neither saw nor heard anything of the two men who remained behind from Mr. Stockdale's party. There are little hopes of their being found alive, for if they made back to Cambridge Gulf the blacks there are very treacherous. While on the Ord River cattle station I heard a report from the natives that three men had been killed by blacks to the south of there, but that was before the two men could have been left. I cannot understand how Mr. Stockdale could have crossed the Ord River without knowing it, as that river is very wide and well defined for over 300 miles. The country on the Victoria River and from there to the north-west coast is looking splendid, and the cattle and horses on the Victoria and Ord Rivers are in grand condition. The climate is very healthy, and not a member of our party suffered a day's illness during the trip, but owing to our being much longer than had been expected, we suffered more or less from hunger, though we killed only one horse for food. We found that game was very scarce when we wanted it most. I will take a few days' spell here, and I will proceed to Port Darwin, where I will camp until I dispose of the horses and plant, and will then proceed to Palmerston."

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

A very influential and representative meeting of the citizens of Newcastle and the mining townships took place this afternoon, at the invitation of Mr. James Fletcher, M.L.A., at the office of the Newcastle Morning Herald, to consider the advisableness of forming that newspaper into a limited liability company. Much interest was manifested in the proceedings, and a sub-committee and secretary were appointed to investigate the details, and to bring up a report to the next meeting, to be held on Tuesday next.

The coal which is now being supplied under contract to the Government railways by the Burwood Coal Company was specifically tested yesterday by Mr. Richardson, of the Railway Department, and Mr. Boag, Locomotive Superintendent, both of whom travelled on the locomotive from Newcastle to Murrurundi. This testing was unknown to the coal company, and was eminently satisfactory, proving that the coal was equal to any in the district.

A public meeting was held at Jesmond, near Lambton, last night, at which was affirmed the desirability of having a Public school for Jesmond and Bluegum Flat, and of asking the Minister for Education to establish one.

At a meeting of miners' delegates, held to-day, the following resolutions were passed:—1. "That the Burwood miners adhere to the prices offered to the manager of the colliery." 2. "That the manager's offer of arbitration be refused, as they (the delegates) consider the prices offered by the Burwood miners, and approved of by the district, are in harmony with the prices ruling in the district." 3. "That in the opinion of this meeting the Burwood miners are locked out, and that they be supported according to rule; the treasurer to make payments when due." 4. "That the district officers of the Miners' Association are prepared to meet representatives at the Burwood Company to discuss the question of prices." 5. "That the secretary advertise the lock-out in the newspapers."

The weather was intensely hot to-day.

GRAFTON, FRIDAY.

In response to an application made to the authorities in reference to the formation of a volunteer corps in Grafton, a reply has been received stating that the only way that the service of such corps can be accepted is as a voluntary service, the Government providing arms and accoutrements. If this includes payment for a drill sergeant, it will probably secure the establishment of a company at Grafton, and probably another at South Grafton or Ulmarra.

A little boy, the son of Mr. M'Kay, farmer at Woodford Island, was drowned in the river last Tuesday.

The committee of the Grafton branch of the Patriotic Fund have decided to intimate that all subscriptions must be handed in by April 10, when the lists will be closed.

Exhibits are arriving daily for the show. The building was lighted up experimentally last night with gas, which is manufactured by an Alpha machine fitted near the building.

CASINO, FRIDAY.

Numerous complaints have been made in this and the Tweed districts about the delay in proclaiming a land office day.

It has been decided to have the foundation-stone of the Casino Hospital laid during the Ministerial visit, and a demonstration is being arranged at the Tweed.

Owners of both lines of steamers trading to this river have consented to convey exhibits for the next show at Casino at merely nominal rates. It is to be hoped that Sydney manufacturers will avail themselves of this privilege.

The weather is fine, but close.

BREWARRINA, FRIDAY.

The coach from Byerock, due at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, only arrived at 10 a.m. on the following day, owing to the rain, which has been heavier in that direction than here. On Culgoa over two inches fell, and on many stations most requiring it near the border about an equal quantity is reported.

A meeting of the newly formed Railway League will be held to-night, to decide upon a course of action. It is probable that meetings will be arranged at Byerock on Monday and Dubbo on Tuesday next. The delegates visiting these towns are proceeding to Sydney to form part of the deputation to the Minister. All those members of the Assembly and other influential gentlemen who have shown an inclination to assist Brewarrina will be invited to join the deputation, which is expected to be one of the most influential that has interviewed the Minister for Works on railway matters. Great interest is being exhibited in the present agitation, and people here are prepared to work in a manner worthy of the object in view.

MUDGEE, FRIDAY.

A largely-attended meeting was held in the Town Hall yesterday evening, at which the Mayor presided. Resolutions in favour of the formation of a Railway Extension League, and a progress committee, were carried unanimously. Mr. Donald M'Lean was appointed secretary. Another meeting was held to protest against the inconveniences of altering the time of the mails and trains, and a resolution to that effect was carried unanimously, and directed to be transmitted by the chairman to the Minister for Works and the local members.

The weather is very hot, but to day a fine breeze is blowing.

MOUNT VICTORIA, FRIDAY.

A public banquet was tendered to Dr. Richard Tually last night, at the Manor House Hotel, on the occasion of his leaving the district to take up his abode in Sydney, after a residence of upwards of six years. The chair was taken by Mr. W. S. Targett, M.L.A., and the vice-chair by Mr. R. Fryer, J.P. Residents from various parts of the Hartley district were present, numbering about 40.

CAMDEN, FRIDAY.

An inquest was held this morning, before Mr. Robert E. Beattie, M.D., Coroner, on the body of a girl named Sophia Terrybrown, aged nine years, who was killed yesterday by having her head crushed under the wheel of a waggon, from which she had incautiously jumped. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and added that there was no blame attached to the driver.

The weather is intensely hot.

BLAYNEY, FRIDAY.

The railway works are going on apace. Over 900 men are engaged on the line between Blayney and Carcoar.

YOUNG, FRIDAY.

A case of insubordination occurred at the gaol yesterday. For some days a spirit of revolt has shown itself, and yesterday some of the prisoners objected to the bread. It was examined by the medical officer, who pronounced it to be of excellent quality. The prisoners persisting, seven of them were placed in confinement, five in irons. They will be dealt with by the visiting justice.

ADELONG, FRIDAY.

Yesterday morning a shed containing 12 tons of hay, a chaffcutter, and a lot of farming implements, on the farm of William Ross, jun., was wilfully set fire to, and everything burnt to a cinder. A man was arrested on the ground on the charge of setting fire to the shed. It seems that Mrs. Ross, mother of William Ross, was returning from the neighbourhood, and when nearing her house she discovered it to be on fire, and with the assistance of some friends got the fire put out. The man who was arrested was seen close to the back premises at the time, and was going in the direction of the hayshed, and shortly after Mrs. Ross was horrified to see the shed in a blaze. The damage is estimated at £100.

GUNDAGAI, FRIDAY.

H. MacKinney, engineer of the N.S.W. Commission for the Conservation of Water, is now on a visit to Gundagai in connection with his mission of obtaining certain data with regard to the principal rivers of the colony; and he is taking measures to ascertain the volume of the Murrumbidgee at Gundagai and other points. The information thus gathered is understood to be needed for the purpose of determining the practicability of certain schemes which have been suggested for tapping the river at different points by canals with a view to the irrigation of the interior of the country.

A telegram has been received from Mr. James Watson, M.L.A. for Gundagai, in which he expresses regret that circumstances over which he has no control will prevent his carrying out his proposed visit to Gundagai to-morrow.

The new electoral roll for the Gundagai portion of the Gundagai electorate has been received, and is now exhibited for inspection. There are 1516 names on this division. A revision court will be held on the 8th May.

The weather to-day changed. About 3 this afternoon a heavy dust storm swept over the town, and was succeeded by a nice steady fall of rain, which has every appearance of continuing.

He was taken to the hospital, where his arm was removed just below the elbow by Dr. Gentle, assisted by Drs. Ray and M'Kellop.

The weather here is very sultry and unsettled.

HAY, FRIDAY.

Nineteen thousand six hundred and seven acres of land have been applied for since the 24th instant, as conditional leases.

The police have arrested another Chinese for keeping a disorderly house, and the case will be heard on Saturday. The police have determined to prevent, if possible, the scenes of debauchery that occur in the camp.

The case of Whittingham v. Brewer, which is to be heard here, is exciting great interest. It arises out of a question of the right of usage of passage through the Wildary run, and upon the decision a great deal depends. The leaders of the Sydney Bar will be present to prosecute and defend.

ALBURY, FRIDAY.

After several days' intense heat, a change occurred last night. Light rain set in before daylight, the total fall till 9 o'clock being 10 points. Since then heavy showers fell, amounting to 61 points up to 3 o'clock, making a total of 71 points. The weather is still broken, and a heavy downpour is likely.

BATHURST, FRIDAY.

A refreshing shower of rain fell to-night, and there are indications of more.

The head master of the Superior Public School, Mr. J. Dethnan, has received a communication from the Department of Public Instruction, informing him that the Minister, as a temporary arrangement, has authorised him to take full control of the High schools for boys and girls in Bathurst. Mr. Walter Holmes, B.A., will be master of the boys' school, and Miss Everett will be head mistress of the girls' school; but Mr. Dethnan will be at liberty to distribute the teaching power as he deems best. This arrangement will effect a saving of £400 a-year in the expenditure in connection with the High school, and at the same time secure a thorough organisation and efficiency.

WAGGA WAGGA, FRIDAY.

From 1 to 7 p.m. to-day the weather was showery, and 23 points of rain were registered. The weather is now clear, but more rain is imminent.

HAWKESBURY RACE CLUB AUTUMN MEETING.

SECOND DAY, FRIDAY, MARCH 27.

Chairman, Mr. Benjamin Richards. Judge: Mr. Andrew Town. Starter: Mr. Robert Richards. Handicapper: Mr. J. A. Scarr. Clerk of the Course: Mr. J. Holden. Secretary: Mr. C. S. Guest.

The meeting was continued to-day, when the attendance was a trifle better, and the heat even greater than on the first day. As usual, the proceedings were enlivened by the Burwood Band, which discoursed some tastefully chosen and excellently-played pieces. There was a considerable falling off in the catering, which was not to be compared with that of the previous day, and the almost total absence of waiters was a noticeable feature at the luncheon. The course was hard, and very dusty in places; and the starting was very far from satisfactory. Mr. Guest and the other officials worked with a will, and thanks to Mr. Read, the traffic manager, the railway arrangements were perfect in every particular. A large field went to the post for the Shorts Handicap, for which Rocket was in most request, but, although he ran a really good horse, and made a lot of running, His Worship, very well and patiently ridden by Harris, outpaced him in the run home, and won cleverly at the end. Only five were saddled for the Maiden Plate, and by some extraordinary reasoning on the part of the public Percy was elected first favourite, but Algernon, the big, over-grown son of Goldsbrough and Algeria, cut him down at the entrance to the straight, and won easily at the end. A very good field left the paddock to battle for the Hawkesbury Autumn Handicap, and Normanby, who had been well supported at Tattersall's during the previous evening, held his own in the market so firmly that at the last 4 to 1 was the best offer against him. His appearance gave evidence of the careful training he had undergone by Yeomans at Bathurst, but it may be that he was just the least bit above himself. Venetia never looked better in her life, nevertheless she was in sad trouble at the end of a mile. Prince Imperial and Soldier Boy were in the best possible condition, but, while the former failed to seal his private form, the latter ran a really great horse, and at the distance looked more like a winner than anything in the race. Merlin was thoroughly wound up, and ran as honestly and truly as usual, while Moonshee, who, very patiently ridden by Hales, landed the rich stakes, appeared to be improved by his gallop the day before, but still seemed to be a little too stout. The way in which he disposed of his field when called upon shows that he is every inch a racehorse. Favo did not seem to be quite himself, and Anchorite was not at home on a right-handed course. Lochinvar was in the first flight for a long time, but broke down badly after entering the straight, and could hardly limp back to the paddock. Storm won the Selling Plate cleverly; and Soldier Boy, coming out at the home turn, just got home in time from Tom Brown for the Sportsman's Handicap. The race was very pretty for the last hundred yards, and M'Grade, who took every inch out of Tom Brown, never won a better or more resolute race in his life, but the winner of Tattersall's Cup, though he answered right gallantly, just failed to get up, and was beaten by a neck, while Wing, who was the favourite, was third. The following are the details:—

SHORTS HANDICAP of 100 sovs.; weights after first day's racing; three-quarters of a mile.

After considerable delay the word was given to a pretty good start, the colours of Rocket, Emilius, Freedom, and Orator showing at the head of affairs; they ran in that order till half-a-mile from home, when the others began to close up. When rounding the bend Rocket just showed in advance of Orator and Freedom, while King Arthur and His Worship were at the head of the others, and Filibuster and Rebus were almost on terms with them. The leaders entered the straight in a great heap; and at the distance Rebus, His Worship, Filibuster, and Freedom were almost on terms with Rocket, who was tiring fast. A fine race ensued all the way home, and His Worship finishing with a wet sail, outpaced Rocket, and beat him by three parts of a length. Rebus was a very good third, and was closely followed by Freedom and Filibuster, and then came Orator, with Umbra last. Time, 1 minute 16 seconds.

Betting: 7 to 4 v. Percy, 5 to 2 v. Toro, 5 to 1 bar two.

Momento was first away, and, pulling hard, led past the mile-post by three lengths, attended by Algerian and Percy, who were racing on terms a couple of lengths in front of the other two. Momento held his lead till about half-a-mile from home, when he suddenly compounded, and Percy was left at the front; but Algerian caught him at the distance, and won rather easily at the end by three lengths, while Crystal, finishing well, got up in the last stride, and made a dead heat of it, with Percy for second place. Toro was a bad fourth, and after him came Momento. Time, 2 minutes 15½ seconds.

HAWKESBURY AUTUMN HANDICAP, a handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs. each, half forfeit if not scratched by 4 p.m. on the day preceding the race, with 300 sovs. added. The winner to receive 75 per cent., second horse 15 per cent., and the third horse 10 per cent. of the gross amount.

Betting: 4 to 1 v. Normanby, 6 to 1 each v. Venetia and Prince Imperial, 7 to 1 v. Moonshee, 8 to 1 v. Soldier Boy, 10 to 1 each v. Favo, Lochinvar, Merlin, Anchorite, and Anglesey; 15 to 25 to 1 v. any other.

Merlin was the smartest on his legs from a good start, with Soldier Boy, Lochinvar, and Favo in close attendance, Lochinvar, Venetia, Favo, and Soldier Boy flashed past the stand on terms, closely followed by Prince Imperial, Buckingham, Merlin, and Anchorite. Forcing the pace, Lochinvar led round the turn, past the mile-post, and on to the back of the course, where he had an advantage of a clear length of Buckingham; and two lengths from the latter came Favo, Prince Imperial, and Venetia, with half-a-length between them, the others clustered, and Anchorite last, but going well. As they approached the far corner Buckingham got to the front and led Lochinvar half-a-length till half way round the turn when the pace began to tell on both, and Merlin, Favo, Moonshee, Soldier Boy, Anglesey, and Normanby closed on them. They swept into the straight in a cluster with the gallant old Merlin at their head, attended by Anglesey, Soldier Boy, and Moonshee, who was creeping up against the rails. Most of the whips were brought into play before the distance was reached, where Moonshee challenged Merlin, and after a very brief struggle cut him down and beat him by a clear length. Normanby, who came with a great run from the home turn, was third, three lengths away, and then on good terms came Soldier Boy, Anglesey, Prince Imperial, Anchorite, Buckingham, Favo, and Venetia. Time: 2 minutes 39 seconds.

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Ellington, 4 to 1 v. Rebus, 5 to 1 each v. Filibuster and Storm.

A lot of time was cut to waste at the post before the flag fell to a moderately good start, Ellington and Bulgoa getting first away, while King Arthur was the last to leave the post. When fairly at the back of the course Merry Duchess tripped and turned completely over, and Cuneen received a very severe fall. Ellington and King Arthur made the running to the last turn, when Storm came through, and won a good race by a length from Filibuster, who finished very gamely, and beat Rebus by a length for second place. Ellington was two lengths off, and then came Uproarious, King Arthur, and Bulgoa. Time, 1 minute 15½ seconds.

THE SPORTSMAN'S HANDICAP, a handicap of 100 sovs.; second horse 10 sovs. from the prize. One mile and three furlongs.

Betting: 3 to 1 v. Wing; 5 to 1 each v. Tom Brown and Soldier Boy; 8 to 1 v. Binalong; 10 to 12 to 1 v. any other.

His Worship and Tom Brown were the first to begin, and the former attended by Oscar forced the pace to the home turn, where Soldier Boy and Tom Brown were their immediate followers. At the distance, Soldier Boy made a brilliant run and shot to the front, and, despite the most determined efforts on the part of M'Grade, held his own to the finish, and defeated Tom Brown, who was coming very fast, by a neck. Wing was a pretty good third, and after him came His Worship, Oscar, Espiegle, and Binalong, with Cunnamulla last. Time, 2 minutes 24½ seconds.

MURRURUNDI RACES.

MURRURUNDI, FRIDAY.

The second day's racing was highly successful, though the attendance was less than yesterday. The finish for the Forced Handicap was the best ever witnessed here, reflecting great credit on Mr. Peter Haydon, the handicapper. The racing was first-class for an up-country meeting. The stewards were indefatigable in carrying out their duties. The following are the results:—

MUDGEE TATTERSALL'S RACES.

MUDGEE, FRIDAY.

Great preparations are being made by the committee to make the Mudgee Tattersall's Races a success. The course has undergone a thorough repair, and is in splendid order. A good many local horses are in training. The entries for the four principal handicaps close on Wednesday, 1st April, when a large entry is anticipated, owing to the large amount of added money.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN COURSING CLUB.

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

For the coming meeting of the South Australia Coursing Club at Hindmarsh Island the two dogs that are left in the Puppy Stakes are Mr. Wheaton's Fury and Mr. Irish's Miss Mina. There is little to choose between them. For the Price Challenge Cup there are three dogs in. Springtime has a bye, and therefore must either be the winner or the runner-up of the other two. Pink Rose should beat Puxom II.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP SCULLING MATCH.

What promises to be one of the most exciting races ever chronicled in the history of aquatics is to be rowed this afternoon over the championship course on the Parramatta River, between William Beach and Edward Hanlan for £1000 and the championship of the world. The men have spared no pains for getting themselves into first-class trim, and the race is attracting great attention on all sides. Visitors have come from South Australia, Queensland, and even from the inland towns of Victoria to witness it, and the result will probably be cabled home at once to England and America. A rumour having been circulated to the effect that some unauthorised steamers intend to follow the race, we have been requested to state that the Inflexible is the only steamer which is licensed to do so; and "every master and owner of a steamer or other vessel or boat" who breaks this regulation is liable to have his certificate cancelled or suspended, and to be fined £100. All the steamers must anchor along the course, and will not be allowed to weigh anchor until the conclusion of the race. The Marine Board intend to proceed with the utmost rigour against all offenders. All the available water police and launches will be sent up the river to keep order, and the troopers and foot police will be told off to patrol the road. The Inflexible has been fitted up splendidly for the accommodation of her patrons by Mr. Halstead, and as she will only carry 350 passengers, or half the number she is licensed to carry, those who go on board will have an excellent view of the race. A number of tickets giving special facilities for seeing the race have been issued at £10 each, and have all been taken up. Steamboat proprietors are notified that they should pass through the southern opening under the Parramatta Bridge, or, if they have not a headway of 20 feet, they can pass under the arches. There is some fear that the smaller craft may encroach upon the course near the winning-post, and under the circumstances it is only right for the water police to take special precautions at this point. The Inflexible will leave Circular Quay at 2.30 p.m.

Beach went for his final spin yesterday morning, and covered three miles at a rattling pace. It is his intention to row in the new boat presented to him by Mr. J. Smith and built by Donnelly and Sullivan. It is provided with the ordinary kind of swivels, which Beach prefers to those of the Davis pattern. Hanlan went out yesterday afternoon, and did a long spurt, rowing up to 35 to the minute. He will probably use the boat built for him by Dodds, of Lavender Bay, as on examining the one which was forwarded to him by Ruddock, of Boston, in the steamer Gulf of Mexico, two rather serious cracks were discovered in the skin below the seat.

In the evening a large number of sporting men met at Hunt's hotel, when Messrs. Deeble and Alcock paid down their final deposits of £250 each, Mr. F. Smith acting as stakeholder. Mr. Smith announced that Mr. T. Strange would act as umpire, and the "articles" were then completed. Some lively betting ensued, the first offer being from Mr. B. Thompson to lay £100 to £90 on Hanlan, or take 6 to 4 and back Beach. Mr. Jennings then laid £500 to £425 on Hanlan, and offered to lay £1000 to £825 more. When the betting concluded the odds were £100 to £90 on Hanlan, or take £100 to £80 and back Beach. The stakes will be paid over to the winner, this evening, at Hunt's hotel.

ATHLETICS.

We have received the programme of the Eastern Suburbs Athletic Club for their annual meeting. In all there are 14 events, which include a one-mile and a five-mile bicycle race, walking matches, hurdle races, and foot races. One of the principal races will be that for the 1000 yards Challenge Cup and gold medal now held by Mr. D. D. Middleton, while almost of equal importance will be the 150 yards Championship Gold Medal and the 220 yards handicap, ladies to nominate the competitors, the first prize to be a gold bracelet, and the second prize a silver bracelet. Entries for the various events will be received at the Cambridge Club Hotel on April 18 for handicap events, April 25 for scratch events. Entries for the cycling events may be made with the secretaries of the bicycle clubs, or with the New South Wales Cyclists Union, in accordance with the above date.

The friends of Professor Miller intend giving him a complimentary benefit on next Monday night at the Masonic Hall. The Professor, we are informed, has been incapacitated for many months owing to an injury he received in a wrestling contest.

PROPOSED NEW BATTERY—NAVAL ARTILLERY VOLUNTEERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In answers to questions asked in the House last Friday evening, it was stated that the application of the gentlemen forming the above battery had been forwarded to the Commandant for his report, which if favourable would be accepted.

As our first application was handed in in November last, and again, in a more detailed form, in the early part of February, we are naturally anxious to receive a reply.

The proposed battery consists at present of 140 gentlemen, and applications are being received daily from gentlemen wishing to join on our terms, which are—our services gratis, providing our own uniforms, and paying the yearly subscription to the funds of the corps; only asking the concession which the Volunteer Act allows of electing our own officers by competitive examinations, the Government to provide arms, &c.

Taking into consideration the critical state of affairs in Europe, we are unable to conjecture why the acceptance of our services should have been delayed so long.

We are, &c., THREE OF THEM.

EASTER TIME.—Home for the Holidays.—We are showing in our Ready-made Department our first shipments of Boys' and Youths' Orient Clothing for autumn and winter wear. A SKILFUL SURGICAL OPERATION.

The American Ambassador at Vienna, Mr. Kasson, has lately forwarded to his Government an interesting account of a remarkable surgical operation lately performed by Professor Billroth, of Vienna, which, wonderful to tell, consisted in the removal of a portion of the human stomach, involving nearly one-third of the organ—and, strange to say, the patient recovered—the only successful operation of the kind ever performed. The disease for which this operation was performed was cancer of the stomach, attended with the following symptoms:—The appetite is quite poor. There is a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "all gone" sensation; a sticky slime collects about the teeth, especially in the morning, accompanied by an unpleasant taste. Food fails to satisfy this peculiar faint sensation, but, on the contrary, it appears to aggravate the feeling. The eyes are sunken, tinged with yellow; the hands and feet become cold and sticky—a cold perspiration. The sufferers feel tired all the time, and sleep does not seem to give rest. After a time the patient becomes nervous and irritable, gloomy, his mind filled with evil forebodings. When rising suddenly from a recumbent position there is a dizziness, a whistling sensation, and he is obliged to grasp something firm to keep from falling. The bowels costive, the skin dry and hot at times; the blood becoming thick and stagnant, and does not circulate properly. After a time the patient spits up food soon after eating, sometimes in a sour and fermented condition, sometimes sweetish to the taste. Oftentimes there is a palpitation of the heart, and the patient fears he may have heart disease. Towards the last the patient is unable to retain any food whatever, as the opening in the intestines becomes close, or nearly so. Although this disease is indeed alarming, sufferers with the abovenamed symptoms should not feel nervous, for nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of a thousand have no cancer, but simply dyspepsia, a disease easily removed if treated in a proper manner. The safest and best remedy for the disease is Seigel's Curative Syrup, a vegetable preparation sold by all chemists and medicine vendors, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, London, England, or the wholesale agents, Elliott Bros., Sydney. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

"Waterloo House, London Stile, Chiswick, February 17, 1883.

"Messrs. White and Co., London.

"Gentlemen,—It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the wonderful effects of 'Seigel's Syrup.' For years I have been suffering from bilious attacks, which began with giddiness; then a mist would come before my eyes, so that I should not be able to recognise anyone or anything at a distance of a yard or two from my face. This would be followed by excessive trembling of my knees, so that I could not stand without support, after which a severe headache would occur, lasting over two or three days. I have tried various remedies for these distressing symptoms, but until I tried 'Seigel's Syrup' I had no relief. Since then I have had excellent health in every respect, and if ever I feel a headache coming on I take one dose of the Syrup, which arrests it. Hoping that this testimonial may be the means of inducing others (who suffer as I used) to try the Syrup, as I feel sure they will receive speedy benefit and ultimately be cured, I beg to remain, yours faithfully,

"A. H. Horton."

"East-street Mills, Cambridge-heath, "London, E.C., July 24th, 1882.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent. I have suffered for some length of time from a severe form of indigestion, and the long train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed sufficient of their stuff to float a man-of-war, so to speak, but all to no avail. A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Seigel Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he felt confident it would benefit me. Being weary of trying so many drugs, I condemned it before trial, thinking that it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup. After doing so for a short time it worked such a change in me that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for five weeks, and feel in the best of health, and can partake of any kind of food with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy.—Yours truly,

"To Mr. A. J. White." "W. S. Forster.

"September 8th, 1883.

"Dear Sir,—I find the sale of Seigel's Syrup steadily increasing. All who have tried it speak very highly of its medicinal virtues. One customer describes it as a 'godsend to dyspeptic people.' I always recommend it with confidence.

"Faithfully yours,
"(Signed) Vincent A. Wills,

Seigel's Operating Pills are the best family physic that has ever been discovered. They cleanse the bowels from all irritating substances, and leave them in a healthy condition. They cure costiveness.

"St. Mary-street, Peterborough, November 29th, 1881.

"Sir.—It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the benefit I have received from Seigel's Syrup. I have been troubled for years with dyspepsia; but after a few doses of the Syrup I found relief, and after taking two bottles of it I feel quite cured.

"I am, Sir, yours truly,
"Mr. A. J. White." "William Brent.

"The Pharmacy, Regent-road,
"Great Yarmouth, Dec. 28th, 1883.

"Dear Sir.—Your medicine must be a great success. You can quite understand that I have not much opinion of what are called quack medicines, which are generally cure-all and worthless, and I should be glad to see them swept out of existence with the 'besom of destruction.' Your preparation, however, is an exception, and is undoubtedly useful. One of my brothers took it with considerable benefit; and, to be candid with you, I only laughed at him, and said 'his faith had healed him.' I was very ill myself this year with congested liver, indigestion, &c., and after much persuasion by my brother, to please him, I consented to try Mother Seigel's Syrup, and I am bound to say that, in spite of my prejudice and unbelief, it did me more good than anything else. I am better in health now, but not quite well, and probably never shall be again, as my heart has become weak, although I am considerably under 50 years of age. I mention my case to you, thinking it might be of some interest to you.

"I remain, faithfully yours,
"W. Sheppard Pole (Ph. C.)"

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS
FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.

Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—

1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.

Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

DERMATOLOGY.

JAMES H. ADGER, Dermatologist,
Office: 131, Elizabeth-st., Sydney, treats successfully all diseases of the skin and scalp, loss of hair, premature blanching, and general cultivation and growth of the hair; and, as a result of this experience, he may point to his flattering success during several years' practice in this city, without reference to the many special cures he has effected, as the best proof of the general efficiency of his system of treatment.

Mr. Adger may be consulted at his office, 131, Elizabeth-street, where letters and testimonials are open to inspection, which must satisfy the most sceptical, signed as they are by persons of the highest positions in society. It will be obvious that no person could have obtained such names as an endorsement of his professional ability without constant proof of merit.

Established 1792.

Gold Medal, Moscow, 1872; Prize Medal, Vienna, 1873.

UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS. UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS.

NEAR THE RAILWAY STATION.

THE EASTER HOLIDAYS, near at hand, and bringing with them plenty of time for outdoor amusements, excursions, visits, rambles, trips, outings, and other means of enjoyment, to say nothing of THE EASTER ENCAMPMENT, about which "rumour, with her thousand tongues," has not been idle, giving every promise of something altogether out of the common order of things.

THE LADIES WILL BE GLAD TO HEAR of a particularly nice lot of NEW GLOVES by the s.s. Pekin arriving just at the right time for EASTER REQUIREMENTS, something quite special, and as to price, CHEAP is not the word. We hardly know which is.

TAN GAUNTLET KID GLOVES, stitched backs, in drab and the new shades of AMPHIAS and CASSIA. 3s 3d per pair

THE ALBANY DOE GAUNTLET, in the best of good and useful colours, 3s per pair

LINED KID GLOVES, WITH FUR TOPS and Spring Fasteners. These are quite a speciality, and the prices are such as to tempt all.

DRIVING GLOVES, in these recent additions, have made our stock perfect in every way.

OUR NOTED PALACE GLOVE, the glove of gloves, the tiptop effort of the glove manufacturer, perfect in material, excellent in fit, of wondrous durability, eclipsing all others, bearing the palm against all others. EVERYBODY'S FAVOURITE FOR THE AUTUMN SEASON. OUR NOTED PALACE GLOVE in the newest shades, in the new BRONZES, in the new BRUNDORE, in the new GENDARME, in the new ALASKA, and in the new TASKA BROWN.
2 to 18 Buttons, from 2s 11d per pair.

VELVETEENS will be eminently fashionable this Autumn, and of all Velveteens the LOUIS is acknowledged to be the best in every way. Our arrangements with the manufacturers of this beautiful fabric will enable us to specially identify ourselves in the future with THE LOUIS VELVETEENS, and we intend offering them at considerable reductions from the prices at present ruling in Sydney.

THE LOUIS VELVETEEN, Genoa face, fast woven pile, bears the name of the manufacturer "Louis" on every yard.

THE LOUIS VELVETEEN is remarkable in a marvellous degree for many of the beautiful qualities which characterise the richest Silk Genoa Velvets.

"THE LOUIS VELVETEEN has," says a leading Society Journal, "completely won the suffrages of the most severe Parisian critics, and deservedly so too."

THE LOUIS VELVETEEN.—Says one of the most eminent of fashion votaries, speaking of a dress made of it: "It is a dress to dream of. Raindrops cannot disturb its serenity, nor that of its wearer; besides, it is made in such beautiful colours. I have been recommending the Louis Velveteen to all my acquaintances."

Our own recommendation can add little to the firmly-established reputation of THE LOUIS VELVETEEN.

We can all only ask ladies to call and see how splendidly it is represented at THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

We have these charming goods in EVERY COLOUR and EVERY TINT, not forgetting BLACK, in which THE LOUIS VELVETEEN is as beautiful as in colours.

All over THE PALACE EMPORIUM are to be seen new exquisite and lovely NOVELTIES for AUTUMN WEAR in EVERY DEPARTMENT.

ADDITIONAL ATTRACTIONS and ADDITIONAL NOVELTIES, and FOR THE EASTER HOLIDAYS a CHARMING ASSORTMENT of EVERYTHING likely to be required.

FOR HOUSEHOLD ITEMS of SPECIAL INTEREST, SEE GENERAL MERCHANDISE COLUMN of this paper.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

Important Sale of the best Land on the Williams River, comprising about
FIFTEEN HUNDRED ACRES, and well known as the
LANGLANDS ESTATE,
situate between Raymond Terrace and Clarence Town.

BY ORDER OF THE TRUSTEES, MESSRS. C. AND W. H. SOUL.

W. PRITCHARD has received instructions from the Trustees in the Estate of the late R. Lang (Messrs. C. and W. H. Soul) to submit to public competition, on an early date,
AS A SUBDIVISION,
The well-known Langlands Estate, containing about 1500 acres, and having frontages of about 1½ miles to the navigable waters of the Williams River, and of about 2½ miles to the main Government road to Clarence Town, which intersects it, about to be surveyed and subdivided into farms.
Permanent creeks of excellent water run through the estate and about two miles from the homestead (at the back of the Public School, near the main road), there is a mountain of road metal from which the road has been formed, and persons come from miles round to obtain this stone.

The buyer of the first or any lot will have the option of taking as many consecutive lots as he may think proper.
The auctioneer desires to remind intending purchasers that the whole of the land on both sides of the Williams River is specially noted for its extraordinary fertility and productiveness for all kinds of cereals and lucerne, and its suitability for fattening cattle or raising any kind of produce.
Small steamers trade regularly every day up and down the river from Newcastle, in addition to the company's large steamer from the metropolis for the convenience of settlers, thus giving them the daily command of the Newcastle as well as the Sydney market for their produce.
Further particulars will appear in a future advertisement.

They comprise—Comfortable dwelling-house, outhouses, garden, stables, horse-boxes, stock and sheep yards, sheds, small cultivation paddocks—in fact everything that is essential to form a complete residence, surrounded by facilities for working the estate efficiently.
The position of "Oaklands," cannot be surpassed. It is centrally situated in one of the very best districts in New South Wales, partially bounded by the Great Northern Railway, and it adjoins the Ravensworth Railway Station and Post-Office, is within a few hours' reach of the metropolis, only a short distance from Singleton, and approximate to Maitland and Musclebrook, the reputed stock markets of the north.
Its extensive area, combined with its adaptation for either cattle or sheep, and its renowned qualifications for wool-growing, cannot fail under efficient supervision to render its working highly remunerative. In addition to the supply of water from natural sources, which is bountiful, the run has been improved by the construction of dams at points which concentrate the stock and render the management easy and effectual. The fencing which is extensive, is very substantial, and the subdivision of the estate such as to ensure economy in time and labour.
The stock now depasturing on the estate may be taken at a valuation, or removed, at the option of the purchaser.
The furniture, plant, working implements, &c., will be sold with the estate, and the value determined in the usual way.

To Make Money BuyCheap Land on Easy Terms.

Remember, the Township to be offered on the 4th IS AT THE STATION, a few minutes' run from the city, and is the highest land on the Railway between Sydney and the Blue Mountains.

Up to the present time owners of land at or near the station could not be induced to sell an inch, which has caused great dissatisfaction, for hundreds have long waited for an opportunity to invest their savings at Blacktown, even in land not so favourably situated as the 867 lots now under notice; therefore the residents, and all who have seen Blacktown, are delighted that an opportunity will now offer to secure a portion of the TOWNSHIP BLOCK so much admired by all who have had the good fortune to visit that delightful spot.

Being 300 feet above the sea, the air at Blacktown is balmy, bracing, and exactly such as will restore to perfect health those who are suffering through a long residence in the city, or the already over-crowded suburbs.

The Public Buildings, Churches, most of the Business Premises, and many of the dwellings are built of brick.
The new STATION BUILDINGS, just completed, are handsome and commodious.

LARGE INDUSTRIES are about to be established in the neighbourhood. One firm alone has secured land, and is about laying out £100,000 in working plant.

The public are strongly recommended to invest some money in this township, as IMMENSE PROFITS are sure to be realised within a very short time after the day of sale.

TERMS—
The DEPOSIT is £1 PER LOT, and the balance, extending over a period of 3 years, by monthly payments; interest, 6 per cent. per annum; or, half cash (within 7 days from day of sale), and the balance at the end of 3years, WITHOUT INTEREST.

BLACKTOWN being the junction of two important lines of railway, must ere long become AN IMMENSE TOWNSHIP.
THE RAILWAY FARE, by season ticket, is equal to 8d per day.

C. T. BURFITT, 418, George-street, will offer the above, by auction, on the Ground, at the Station, on SATURDAY NEXT, April 4, at 3 o'clock.
